PRES. WILSON TAKES UP GERMAN NOTE ON ARABIC

Refuses to Pay Indemnity—Defends U-Boat Chief—Must Refer Case to The Hague

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—President Wilson and his advisers began consideration today of Germany's note explaining the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic.

While the text of the memorandum, as received from Berlin in press despatches, was published today, officials refused to make any comment pending a complete study of the official note forwarded by Ambassador Gerard. The newspaper text, which stated that Germany refused to admit obligation to pay indemnity for American lives lost, even if it should develop that the submarine commander was in error in thinking the Arabic meant to ram him, was widely commented upon. Previous despatches had stated that Germany would offer to submit the matter of reparation to The Hague. Intimations then followed from high officials here that such a proposal would be

LAWYERS SCORE DECOYS

Charge Witnesses in Masher Trial With Luring Men to Accost Them—Defendants Fined $20

That the young lady used by the police in the execution of the plot to catch so-called "mashers" on Kirk street last Saturday night stood on the corner and tempted men to at first flirt with her and subsequently make advancements toward her, was the defence offered when some of the six cases on the list were tried before Judge Enright in the local court this noon. The cases were lengthy and occupied considerable time. Attorneys Donahue and O'Connor severely grilling the government's witnesses in an effort to prove there was no violation of the statute by any of the six defendants. Supt. Welch and Deputy Downey prosecuted the cases.

The star witness for the government was Miss Margaret V. Schock, 25, business secretary of the Y. W. C. A. During her testimony Miss Schock admitted that she was on Kirk street Saturday night to "get" any men who might attempt to speak to her. At one time, she said, when a man did not go quite far enough in his flirtations, she asked him a question about going to a room in order to get some definite evidence. The other witnesses included Sergt. Petrie, and Miss Emily Skilton, probation officer for women, and Officer O'Sullivan, who were present to corroborate part of the testimony. All were charged with disorderly conduct in that they annoyed a woman in a public place.

Only two of the six defendants were tried this forenoon but the other cases were continued until 2 o'clock. Instead of being convinced that the young lady influenced the men Judge Enright commended her for coming into court and subjecting herself to the severe cross examination. All defendants tried were found guilty and ordered to pay fines of $20 each, the same as were imposed on the two men in court Tuesday. There was considerable interest in the case and the spectators' benches were well filled with eager onlookers who occasionally were called to order by Court Officer Dowd.

The case of James Baldas was first tried. When Miss Schock was first called to the witness stand she was asked to identify Baldas. Four men were placed on the bench in front of the dock and the witness was asked to pick out the defendant. She stated that the whole four approached her Saturday night, and as she did not know them by name she could not point to Baldas, Sergt. Petrie, who made the arrest, was called and picked out Baldas. He then testified that he saw Baldas approach Miss Schock under a light near the corner of Kirk and Lee streets and talke to her. The pair talked for a few minutes and all the sergeant heard was this question and answer:

"Have you a room?"

"Yes, on John street."

Under cross examination, Sergt. Petrie said that Miss Schock was on Kirk street to have men accost her. For one week, the officer said he had sat in a building on Kirk street and watched men "pick up" women, but never went out to try to make any arrest. The witness said Miss Schock did not seem to be annoyed by the questions asked her as she was there for the purpose of getting such remarks.

Miss Schock was recalled and said that as the result of a conference with Supt. Welch and others at the high school she walked out to the corner of Kirk and Lee streets and stood there. She identified Baldas as a man who approached her Saturday night and talked with her.

The first question she remembered of Baldas asking her was:

"Have you a room?"

She replied: "Yes."

"Where?" he queried.

"John street."

Miss Schock said she had lived at the Y. W. C. A. for about a year. She went out Saturday night at the request of Miss Skilton, not knowing what her mission was to be.

"What did you mean as a Christian woman to go out on the street and lead these men into temptation?" asked Mr. Donahue.

The court refused to admit this question, however.

After a conference with Lawyer O'Connor, Mr. Donahue asked:

"What was your purpose in going out on Kirk street?"

"To see if men who frequent Kirk street would speak to me."

She was questioned then if other women passed while she was standing there and replied that others might have walked along the street unmolested by the defendant. She said that she didn't move on when the men accosted her because that wasn't the purpose of having her out.

After answering several short questions, Miss Schock claims the defendant asked her if she could take a friend up to her room on John street and she replied: "Why, do you want to come?" She said she asked this question because she didn't think Baldas had gone far enough to lead to a conviction and she wanted him to go further. She claims she was not shocked by any of the questions as she was out to assist the police.

Baldas Testifies

Testifying in his own behalf, Baldas said that he lives in Cummiskey's alley. Saturday night he and four men were walking through Kirk street, on their way to Bridge street. He said when the men got near the corner some stopped to light cigarets and he separated from his companions. He said Miss Schock turned around and looked at him, smiling. He walked past her, he testified, and she smiled again. Thinking that he knew her, he walked up and said "Hello." She answered and then several questions about where she worked, lived and spent her time were asked when the signal for the officer was given and Sergt. Petrie appeared on the scene.

Attorney Donahue argued at length, claiming that the girl was on the street as a "tempter" and led the men into conversations by hanging around continually. The court was satisfied with the evidence and after making a finding of guilty, imposed a fine of $20.

The next case tried was that of Geo. Fachedas, charged with the same offence. The testimony was practically similar to that in the other case, the same method being used to trap the men. The girl told of being accosted. The defendant contended that she influenced him and caused him to speak to her.

Miss Schock said that Fachedas said to her: "I have a room on Bridge street. Will you come to it?" She answered: "I don't know."

"Why didn't you say 'go on about your business?'" asked Mr. Donahue.

"Because I didn't," returned Miss Schock.

A finding of guilty was also made in this case and a $20 fine imposed.

The trial of the case of Patrick Lindski, the third defendant, was opened but not completed before the noon adjournment. The testimony was about the same, Miss Schock, Miss Skilton and Officer O'Sullivan being the government witnesses. A recess until 2 o'clock was then taken.

Afternoon's Session

At this afternoon's session of the police court Lindski was adjudged guilty and a fine of $20 was imposed.

Other Cases

The rest of the police court list was brief. Christopher Cahill was found guilty of drunkenness and assault and battery upon an unknown person at the Kasino last night and fined $5. Patrolman McElroy made the arrest.

John F. Buckley, a member of Mr. Slattery's probationary staff, was adjudged guilty of the larceny of carpenter's tools belonging to Joseph Jalbert. Defendant worked on a job with Jalbert and, it is claimed took the tools. He was sentenced to three months in the house of correction.

Six drunks were in court today after a few had been released by the probation officer. Two were sent to jail while the others were given either suspended sentences or opportunities to pay small fines.

NEW CRISIS WITH GERMANY POSSIBLE

DR. DUMBA on STEPS of STATE DEPARTMENT BUILDING

Pres. Wilson's Request to Austria to Recall Ambassador Dumba Has Brought Situation Which May Extend to Other Diplomats of the Germanic Allies—Others May be Asked to Leave Country

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—President Wilson's request to Austria to recall her ambassador, Dr. Constantin Theodor Dumba, has brought about a situation which contains possibilities of extension to other diplomats of the Germanic allies.

Dr. Dumba used James F. J. Archibald, an American bearing an American passport as a messenger to carry a communication to the Vienna foreign office. Although it has not been called officially to the attention of this government, the state department understands officially that Archibald also carried a communication for Capt. von Papen, military attache of the German embassy.

GERMANS TAKE FRENCH TRENCHES BY STORM

Heavy Fighting in Vosges—Serbians Bombard Austrians — 407 British Officers Killed in Fortnight—Trade Unionists Reject Resolutions Providing Peace

Heavy fighting has been in progress in the Vosges region and the Germans announce that they have captured by storm French trenches at Schratzmannele and Hartmanns-Weilerkopf.

Paris admits the gain of ground by the Germans but declares that nearly all the territory lost at Schratzmannele was regained and that the Germans were driven out of the trenches they had won at Hartmanns-Weilerkopf.

The Teutonic armies engaged with the Russians on the eastern front are making slower progress. The forces of the Russian emperor are occasionally taking up a successful offensive on the southern end of the line. In the north there is little change and the Germans are reported to be digging themselves in near Vilna.

THE ARRANGEMENTS FOR OPENING OF SCHOOLS

Statement of Principal Irish Relative to High School—Moth Supt. Sends Out Warning

The high school will open its doors for the fall season next Monday and according to present arrangements special sessions will be held in the Kirk street primary school, on account of the large number of pupils who have expressed their desire to enter the school this year.

Principal Irish in conversation with a Sun reporter this morning said about 1900 pupils have registered so far. Of this number only 12 registered this week, the others having signified their intention of attending the school at closing time last June. Mr. Irish said he believes about 1800 of the 1900 who have registered will report Monday morning.

It is expected that the attendance at the school this year will increase over that of last year by about 150. The room formerly used for free-hand drawing in the main building will be converted into a class room, while two rooms in the Kirk street primary school will be utilized in the forenoon. The pupils of the primary school will attend class in the afternoon until other arrangements are made for the high school pupils. It is expected that the forenoon sessions will close at 12.30 or 1.15 o'clock. By using the two rooms at the primary school it will not be necessary to use the assembly hall in the main building for class rooms.

Vocational School

Registration at the Vocational school will close tomorrow noon and the boys and girls who are desirous of following a course at this school should give their names at once. Those who are tardy in giving their names may be admitted next week, but Mr. Fisher, the superintendent of the school, would like to have his list completed by tomorrow noon.

In the boys' department, 72, have registered this week, and it is expected about 40 of the former pupils will return this year. This department can accommodate about 120. Those who have registered are from Lowell, Littleton, Acton, Chelmsford, Westford, Woburn, Wilmington, Dracut, Billerica, Tewksbury and Dunstable.

The registration in the girls' department numbers 54 and 140 can be accommodated. It is expected that about 25 or 30 of last year's pupils will return this year. It was stated this morning that several girls who have graduated from the high school, or who have attended class at this school for one or two years, have registered and if the number of these pupils warrants it a special session will be held for them. The school will reopen next Monday and it is hoped the membership roll will be full by that time.

The vocational schools offers a great opportunity, especially for the girls, for when they graduate from this school there is practically nothing in the line of housework they cannot do. The course includes housekeeping, millinery and dressmaking and there is room for many other young women who are desirous of becoming proficent in domestic science.

Erecting Booths

The polling booths will all be erected by this evening, with the exception of two, one in Branch street and the other in Locke street. For the Branch street it is necessary for the commissioner of public buildings to get permission from the Moxie Nerve Food Co. to erect the said booth on its land.

Chauffeurs

Twenty-one candidates for chauffeur's licenses were examined by Examiners Bowman and Hubbell of the state highway commission this morning. The candidates were from different parts of the state.

Special Meeting

A special meeting of the school board is scheduled for 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Passing Cigars

Warren P. Riordan, sealer of weights and measures was passing cigars at city hall this morning on the occasion of the arrival of a handsome daughter at his home, 71 Woodward avenue.

Supt. Gordon of the moth exterminating department has sent out notices to property owners of this city, informing them to destroy the gypsy and brown tail moths on or before Dec. 1. On the other side of the notice is printed a copy of the act to provide for suppressing the gypsy and brown tail moths. Over 5000 copies of the notice have been sent out. The notice says:

If a property owner fails to destroy such eggs, caterpillars, pupae and nests, then the city or town is required to destroy the same, and the cost of the work, in whole or in part, according to the value of the land, is assessed upon and becomes a lien on the land.

The commissioner of public property asks owners and tenants to co-operate with the city in its work on highways and other public grounds by doing effective work on their premises. Citizens who have cleaned their premises of the moths, but find their trees endangered by the neglect of owners of adjoining estates should make complaint to the superintendent. The infestation of a residential neighborhood by the neglect of a few will not be tolerated.

The eggs of the gypsy moth should be destroyed at once with creosote. They should never be scraped off the object on which they are laid.

The nest of the brown tail moth should be cut from the trees, carefully collected and burned in a stove or furnace.

Work done by contractors should be inspected and approved by the local superintendent before payment for the same is made.

PROF. HAYWOOD MARRIED

A pretty wedding took place yesterday at the women's chapel of the Church of the Advent, in Boston, when Prof. Frederick H. Haywood, a former Lowell boy, but now prominent in New York musical circles, was united in marriage with Mrs. Jessie Wiley Ward, of Newburg, N. Y., widow of the late Rev. Warner E. L. Ward, a former pastor of the House of Prayer in this city, the ceremony being performed by Rev. J. H. Cabot. The bride was given in marriage by Mr. George H. Mansfield of this city, while the groom's attendant was Mr. Wilbur J. Haywood of the New York Herald, and a former Lowell boy, a brother of the groom. Mr. Wilbur Haywood was married at the Church of the Advent six years ago to a Boston girl and induced his brother to have his wedding at the same church.

Following the ceremony, a wedding luncheon was served at the Hotel Lenox. Prof. and Mrs. Haywood left on a honeymoon and on their return will reside at 331 West End avenue, New York.

The groom is well known in this city where he started on his musical career while only in his teens. In his early youth he was a boy soprano in St. Anne's choir and at the age of 17 years was organist of St. Anne's. His success as an organist was phenomenal and going to New York he soon attracted widespread attention as organist at St. Paul's church. Along with his work as organist he took up the teaching of voice culture at which he has attained a high place in his profession, especially among operatic singers and he has trained some of the famous professional singers at present before the public. Prof. Haywood has a summer studio at Elsmere in Dracut, where he has spent the past month, having with him as pupils several famous stage celebrities who are about to open their seasons in New York. Prof. Haywood intends to conduct his winter studio in New York and have a summer school at Elsmere.

LAFAYETTE CLUB OUTING

ENJOYABLE AFTERNOON SPENT AT THE MARTIN LUTHER GROUNDS—A FEW CANDIDATES PRESENT

The Martin Luther grounds in Tyngsboro were yesterday the scene of a highly enjoyable outing it being the second annual "fete champetre" of the Lafayette club. The outing was one of those family affairs, only the members and close friends being present, and the three principal officers of the club, Dr. Joseph E. Lamoureaux, president; Ernest J. Dupont, secretary and Frederick Lamoureux, treasurer, who had charge of the arrangements, were warmly congratulated for the success of the event.

The weather was ideal for such an occasion, providing one kept in the shade, and the outing grounds were well laid out for this purpose, the beautiful pine knoll in the rear of the building providing shelter from the hot rays of the sun. Despite the intense heat, however, all present spent a most enjoyable afternoon and the 1915 outing will be long remembered by all who were in attendance.

Shortly after 12.30 o'clock some 90 members of the club and several friends left the club quarters in Merrimack street in automobiles, over 30 machines being pressed into service, and the merry crowd journeyed to Tyngsboro. Upon reaching the grounds all partook of a dainty buffet luncheon and the first number on the amusement program was the traditional baseball game between the married and the unmarried men, the former aggregation being headed by School Committeeman W. P. Caisse and the latter by Arthur Lambert. The game was called at the sixth inning after the umpire got wise to the fact that the fielders were using parasols to protect themselves from the sun. The score was then 3 to 2 in favor of the benedicts, but the sons refused to admit their defeat and it is possible the game will be played over again before the snow flies. It was said that Dr. G. O. Lavallee and Omer Allard were responsible for the abrupt ending of the game as they constituted the batting battery that used parasols.

At the close of the contest all repaired to the pavilion where seats had been provided in the shade, while a pillow fight exhibition, which proved most interesting was given by many of the best fighters of the organization. The horse had been erected opposite the pavilion and when the first two men mounted it, the real fun started. The palm for pillow fighting went to John Rousseau, who held his position on the wooden horse for over half an hour, defeating all comers. Even Ovila Morin, who tips the scale at about 240 pounds, and Z. A. Normandin, the heavyweight champion of the club could not resist the forceful blows given by Expert Rousseau.

Adelard Berard and Rep. Henry Achin, both candidates for representative in the 17th district were present. Of course the result of the match was not to determine who would win out on election day, but be that as it may the first gentle tap given by Rep. Achin sent his opponent rolling to the mat below. A feature of the pillow fight was the match between Dr. L. E. Schiller and L. P. Turcotte. Each man felt he could down his opponent and the odds seemed to be on L. P. But as luck had it, the doctor after swinging his pillow over his head, landed a knockout blow upon his opponent and two seconds later, Mr. Turcotte found himself in a heap on the mat. Several other warm contests took place until the bell was sounded for dinner.

Tables had been laid under the pine trees and this was where the most pleasant half hour was spent. The menu consisted of fish chowder, sweet corn, baked fish, steamed clams and lobster, with fixings. At the close of the dinner sporting events consisting of 100-yard dash, 50-yard dash and other running and jumping races were carried out.

Assessor Albert J. Blazon wore the most unique costume of the day, and inasmuch as he was snapped in his regalia, and the picture will be on exhibition in a Merrimack street store within a few days, the description of the costume will not be given. The homeward trip was started shortly before 8 o'clock and all repaired to the club rooms where a social hour was enjoyed. Among the guests present were Commissioners Morse and Putnam, Rep. Henry Achin, Mr. Messer, candidate for sheriff and others.

NORMAL SCHOOL OPENED

CLARENCE M. WEED IS ACTING PRINCIPAL — PRACTICE DIVISION BEGINS SEPT. 20

The State Normal school in Broadway opened yesterday with 125 members in the entering class, the registration proving much better than in previous years, so much so that it was deemed necessary to make four classes instead of three. It is figured there are approximately 30 more students in the junior class this year than there were a year ago. There remains about 100 members of the senior class, which brings the total student membership to 225.

The students are chiefly from Lowell, Lawrence, Andover, Billerica, Chelmsford, Salem, Methuen, Haverhill, Cambridge, Tewksbury, Bedford, Lexington, Nashua, N. H., Claremont, N. H., Pelham, N. H., and Bristol, R. I. The cities and towns outside of the commonwealth pay $50 a year for tuition. Miss Carmen Reyes of Mexico is enrolled as a special student.

The practice division of the senior class, a week from next Monday will begin practice work at some of the best schools in the vicinity. The staff of teachers at the school remains practically unchanged from last year. Clarence M. Weed is acting principal.

RECALL OF DUMBA

manner in which Dr. Dumba used an abuse of American passport.

While officials refused to discuss the situation further it is known that the activities of Consul General von Nuber of Austria as well as those of Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, are again being reviewed by the state department.

Captain von Papen's letter, which was a private communication to his wife, is now on its way to the state department from London. Officials said the fact that it was a private and not an official communication did not alter the case any. It is understood that the writer made slighting reference to American officials.

To Bring About Strikes

Another document for which officials are waiting is an enclosure in Dr. Dumba's letter which referred to negotiations between Consul General von Nuber and the editor of a foreign language newspaper concerning bringing about strikes in the Bethlehem Steel works and other munitions factories.

It was made plain, however, that, while the state department for some time has been fully advised of the activities of Count von Bernstorff, he was not involved to the extent of being in the same position as Dr. Dumba, but that there was serious consideration of whether Capt. von Papen or Consul General von Nuber should be allowed to remain longer in this country.

Conspiracy Charged

Archibald also carried a communication for Count von Bernstorff, but it was a copy of a statement which had been forwarded to the German ambassador by Secretary Lansing. In the note to the Vienna foreign office asking Dr. Dumba's recall, Secretary Lansing referred to the purpose of the ambassador to conspire to cripple legitimate industries in the United States. Officials were engaged today in a study of whether Capt. von Papen and Consul General von Nuber were not concerned in what the American government has characterized as a conspiracy.

One official who has been studying the details of the situation said today that while the German ambassador, in sending a communication by a person carrying an American passport may have technically contributed to an abuse of that document, the nature of the communication he sent was so far removed from the others and of such legitimate character that his act probably would not be regarded as offensive.

Decidedly Offensive

Capt. von Papen's letter, however, is said to be decidedly offensive, as is the nature of Consul General von Nuber's connection with the affair as disclosed by the papers which the British secret service men took from Archibald at Falmouth.

It was believed in the best informed sources today that further steps would not be taken until the additional documentary evidence comes from London and until Vienna has been heard from on President Wilson's request for the recall of Dr. Dumba. It is expected that Austria will recall her ambassador without delay, but if she resents the action of the United States and stands behind the action of her envoy she may not send another. The withdrawal of a consul general can be brought about in two ways. Either his exequator can be cancelled and his government notified that such action has been taken, or his government can be notified that he is no longer persona grata. The latter method is considered less drastic.

RECALL DEMANDED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Ambassador Penfield at Vienna has been instructed by cable to inform the Austro-Hungarian government that Dr. Constantin Dumba no longer is acceptable as an envoy to the United States and to ask for his recall.

Secretary Lansing formally announced the action last night. It was the answer of the American government to Dr. Dumba's explanation of his intercepted letter to Vienna outlining plans for handicapping plants in this country making war supplies for the allies, thus interfering in the internal affairs of the United States.

To Continue Cordial Relations

Ambassador Penfield was instructed by cable to deliver the following note to the foreign office:

"Mr. Constantin Dumba, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador at Washington, has admitted that he proposed to his government plans to instigate strikes in American manufacturing plants engaged in the production of munitions of war.

"The information reached this government through a copy of a letter of the ambassador to his government. The bearer was an American citizen named Archibald, who was traveling under an American passport. The ambassador has admitted that he employed Archibald to bear official dispatches from him to his government.

"By reason of the admitted purpose and intent of Mr. Dumba to conspire to cripple legitimate industries of the people of the United States and to interrupt their legitimate trade, and by reason of the flagrant violation of diplomatic propriety in employing an American citizen protected by an American passport as a secret bearer of official despatches through the lines of the enemy of Austria-Hungary, the president directs me to inform your excellency that Mr. Dumba is no longer acceptable to the government of the United States as the ambassador of His Imperial Majesty at Washington.

"Believing that the imperial and royal government will realize that the government of the United States has no alternative but to request the recall of Mr. Dumba on account of his improper conduct, the government of the United States expresses its deep regret that this course has become necessary and assures the imperial and royal government that it sincerely desires to continue the cordial and friendly relations which exist between the United States and Austria-Hungary."

DUMBA VISITS VON BERNSTORFF

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Dr. Constantin T. Dumba, ambassador to the United States from Austro-Hungary, whose recall has been asked by Washington, spent a good part of last night in conference with the German ambassador, Count von Bernstorff at the latter's hotel. The two envoys were still there early this morning when Count von Hohenlohe, an attache of the Austrian embassy in answer to many requests for an expression regarding the action of the United States government, made the following statement:

"The action of Mr. Lansing and the state department had been anticipated and is no surprise to Dr. Dumba."

The two ambassadors went for a drive yesterday evening and dined together upon their return. Count von Bernstorff said that he intended to go to his summer place at Cedarhurst, L. I. Dr. Dumba had nothing to say regarding his future movements.

AWAIT ANSWER AT CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—News of Austria-Hungary's reception of the American note requesting the recall of Ambassador Dumba eagerly was awaited here today in government and diplomatic circles. Officials of the administration appeared optimistic in the belief that the summary action would not result in any international issue, while diplomats close to the Austro-Hungarian embassy were understood to believe that the Vienna government immediately would comply with the request.

The recall of the envoy was asked for in a communication from Secretary Lansing which Ambassador Penfield at Vienna was to deliver immediately to the Austrian foreign minister.

The note expressed regret for the necessity of requesting Mr. Dumba's recall and gave assurances of a desire for the continuation of cordial and friendly relations between the United States and Austro-Hungary.

Ambassador Penfield, it was believed here, could have effected delivery of the note by today. When a response would be received and the form it would take, was a matter of speculation.

Despite belief expresed in some circles that Vienna would not hesitate to comply with Secretary Lansing's request, it was admitted that if the Vienna foreign office should determine to uphold the ambassador severance of diplomatic relations probably would result. Such a development even if war did not follow, would seriously affect America's role of diplomatic representative for Austria-Hungary and other European belligerents.

Dr. Dumba probably will not be compelled to accept his passports, but will be permitted to remain in the United States at will and await word from Vienna. If he wants to return home the United States must secure assurances of safe conduct for him from Great Britain and her allies.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Dr. Constantin Dumba, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador, whose recall has been asked by the United States government, left for his summer home at Lenox, Mass., early today, according to information given out at the St. Regis, where the ambassador spent the night after a protracted talk with the German ambassador, Count von Bernstorff.

There were insistent reports, however, that Dr. Dumba had secluded himself at his suite at the hotel to avoid being pressed by newspaper men for an opinion on the diplomatic situation.

SINKING OF ARABIC

acceptable. However, there had been no suggestion at that time of any proposition to arbitrate the question of the submersible's right to torpedo a liner under circumstances described in the Arabic's case.

In their study of the new note President Wilson and Secretary Lansing will give consideration to assurances recently expressed that German submarine commanders had been ordered to destroy no more liners without warning.

TEXT OF GERMAN NOTE

BERLIN, via London, Sept. 10.—In its note to the United States on the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic the German government says that "It most deeply regrets that lives were lost through the action of the commander; it particularly expresses this regret of the government of the United States on account of the death of American citizens," and adds:

"The German government is unable, however, to acknowledge any obligation to grant indemnity in the matter, even if the commander should have been mistaken as to the aggressive intentions of the Arabic."

Full Text of the Notes

The note which was communicated to the American ambassador, James W. Gerard, for transmission to Washington, is in the form of a memorandum under the date of Sept. 7, the text of which follows:

"On Aug. 19 a German submarine stopped the English steamer Lunsley about 16 nautical miles south of Kinsale and was on the point of sinking the prize by gun fire after the crew had left the vessel. At this moment the commander saw a large steamer making directly towards him. This steamer, as developed later was the Arabic. She was recognized as an enemy vessel, as she did not fly the flag and bore no neutral markings.

"When she approached she altered her original course but then again pointed directly towards the submarine. From this the commander became convinced that the steamer had the intention of attacking and ramming him. In order to anticipate this attack he gave orders for the submarine he dived and fired a torpedo at the steamer. After firing he convinced himself that the people on board were being rescued in 15 boats.

Believed Arabic Meant to Attack

"According to his instructions the commander was not allowed to attack the Arabic without warning and without saving the lives unless the ship attempted to escape or offered resistance. He was forced, however, to conclude from the attendant circumstances that the Arabic planned a violent attack on the submarine.

"This conclusion is all the more obvious, as he had been fired upon at a great distance in the Irish sea on Aug. 14—that is, a few days before—by a large passenger steamer apparently belonging to the British Royal Mail Steam Packet company.

"The German government most deeply regrets that lives were lost through the action of the commander. It particularly expresses this regret to the government of the United States on account of the death of American citizens.

The German government is unable, however, to acknowledge an obligation to grant indemnity in the matter, even if the commander should have been mistaken as to the aggressive intentions of the Arabic.

Would Refer Case to Hague

If it should prove to be the case that it is impossible for the German and American governments to reach a harmonious opinion on this point, the German government would be prepared to submit the difference of opinion as being a question of international law to The Hague tribunal for arbitration, pursuant of international disputes.

"In so doing it assumes that, as a matter of course, the arbitral decision shall not be admitted to have the importance of a general decision on the permissibility or the converse under international law of German submarine warfare."

BULGARIA'S POSITION

"NOW GOOD AND OUTLOOK FOR FUTURE FAVORABLE," SAYS PREMIER

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Sept. 8, via Berlin and London, Sept. 10, 12.10 p. m.—"Bulgaria's position is now good and the outlook for the future is favorable," said Premier Vasell Radoslavoff in an interview today with The Associated Press correspondent. He added:

"It is improbable that Greece and Serbia will adopt a joint policy regarding Bulgaria."

The premier expressed the hope that all political parties in Bulgaria, especially the Agrarians, would support the government in its efforts to achieve the national ideals. He also declared the Bulgarian people were ready to meet the situation created by the international crisis and that economic conditions in the country were excellent.

"Our government is engaged in negotiations with the entente powers regarding concessions on the part of Serbia" he continued. "While these negotiations are in progress it is utterly absurd to talk of an attack by Bulgaria on Serbia as is predicted in some quarters. To do so might result in a catastrophe for Bulgaria.

"Our government is negotiating also with the central powers with the aim of obtaining the best results for the national cause. The fact that Bulgaria is treating with both groups of belligerents is quite in accordance with the desire of our government and of the opposition."

Concerning the future, M. Radoslavoff said that the government intended to adhere to its policy of neutrality so long as Bulgaria's interests are not endangered.

SERBIAN REPLY

SOFIA, Sept. 9, via London, Sept. 10.—It has become known here that Serbia's reply to the entente powers regarding Bulgaria's claims on Serbia is unsatisfactory to the entente powers.

Although it is alleged that Serbia granted the demands of Bulgaria, the Serbian note proposes a modus vivendi for carrying out a settlement which it is felt by the entente governments Bulgaria would not accept. The entente powers, therefore, it is reported, have referred back Serbia's reply.

Meanwhile the Bulgarian government is said not to have been informed officially of the situation.

COTTON FIBRE DISCUSSED

SUBJECT AT SESSION OF NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF COTTON MANUFACTURERS AT GROTON, CT.

GROTON, Conn., Sept. 10—The subject of cotton fibre was taken up for discussion today by members of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers which is holding its 95th semi-annual session at Hotel Griswold. Dr. N. A. Cobb, of the department of agriculture, at the morning session gave an illustrated talk upon the fibre which is the staple of the textile industry.

This evening comes the banquet at which, among other speakers, will be United States Senator John W. Weeks of Massachusetts.

To members who are attending the convention it has been pointed out that this immediate section of New England is peculiarly of interest to them. Sea Island cotton was first spun and woven here. The cotton was brought from Barbadoes by John Winthrop, Jr., first governor of Connecticut, who encouraged the settlers to turn to manufacturing. A mill built in 1651 in New London is owned by the city and still is used.

FRENCH AIRMEN KILLED

MACHINE STRUCK BARBED WIRE IN LANDING—BURIED BY GERMANS WITH MILITARY HONORS

GENEVA, Switzerland, Sept. 10, via London, 10.50 a. m.—Two French aviators were killed at Deying, Alsace, when their machine struck barbed wire entanglements as they were making a landing, causing the explosion of bombs aboard the aeroplane. They had been forced to descend because of motor trouble. The airmen were buried by the Germans with military honors.

EXPORTS OF MUNITION

MEMBER OF REICHSTAG SAYS REPORTS EXAGGERATED FOR PURPOSE OF PROVOKING WAR

BERLIN, Sept. 10, via London, 11.05 a. m.—Dr. Karl Bachem of Cologne, clerical member of the reichstag, has contributed an article to the Cologne Volks Zeitung suggesting the possibility that the nature and extent of American exports of munitions of war has been exaggerated in certain quarters for the specific purpose of provoking war between Germany and the United States.

Herr Bachem declares he recently was assured by a prominent American that American munitions exports never even had aproached the quantity reported by German newspapers. Hitherto the unnamed American is said to have asserted, moderate quantities of small arms ammunition had been delivered, but not a single shell. Herr Bachem asserts that it is hard to escape the belief, therefore, that there is a "system" behind reports concerning immense American war exports, "and that we are systematically to be incited through exaggerated reports of American war supplies in order to impel us to war against America. Caution and reserve in this matter in criticising the commercial methods of the American government at this moment are the duties of every enlightened citizen."

THE RUSSIAN RETREAT

UNDER GRAND DUKE WAS ONE OF GREATEST MILITARY SUCCESSES IN HISTORY

ROME, Sept. 9, 7.45 p. m., via Paris, Sept. 10, 10.45 a. m.—"Grand Duke Nicholas lacked sufficient energy to profit from his triumphs when the Russian armies were victorious," writes Gen. Corsi, in the Tribuna. "He also lacked the influence to impress upon the emperor the fact that the bureaucracy was responsible for the insufficiency of military preparations. During the retreat, however, Grand Duke Nicholas showed a clear mind, capable of formulating precise views and reaching prompt decisions.

"Thus it was the retreat which might have been turned into a rout, became through the leadership of Grand Duke Nicholas one of the greatest military successes of history from a strategical standpoint. It is without comparison except for the famous retreat narrated by Xenophon."

INSURANCE COMPANY LOSES

Maine Law Court Awards Alfred Leblanc of Lewiston $2533.11 With Interest

AUBURN, Me., Sept. 10.—A receipt received from the Maine law court yesterday on the suit of Alfred Leblanc of Lewiston against the Standard Insurance company, gives judgment against the company for $2533.11, with interest from Oct. 5, 1914.

Mr. Leblanc had a policy insuring him against any loss from the liability imposed by law on account of bodily injuries sustained by any person through the maintenance or use of an automobile owned by the plaintiff. Mr. Leblanc had to pay a verict for the amount recovered in this suit to the estate of Elmer Littlefield who was killed by his car.

The company refused payment on the ground that he had not notified the company in writing of the accident or sent to them summons in the suit against him as required by the policy. Instead he reported to the local agent who wrote the particulars, and by direction of the local agent turned over the summons to the local attorneys of the company.

The court holds that the report to the agent, and the acting by the plaintiff in accordance with the agent's directions was notice to the company and that the actions of the agent bound the company.

WOMAN HAS TWO HUSBANDS

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—Mrs. Rose A. O'Reilly of 21 Tielenar street, South Boston, and Oscar Long were in the South Boston court yesterday morning to answer to a statutory charge, it being alleged that she has two husbands living, Michael J. O'Reilley and Oscar Long.

The story is that she married O'Reilley in Scotland 14 years ago, but he left her about nine years ago. She came to this country eight years ago and met Long. They desired to marry and upon consulting an attorney learned that, as her husband had not supported her or been heard from, it was reasonable to presume that he was dead, so they were married on Feb. 15 last. O'Reilly, who was in the Northwest, heard of his wife's second marriage, came to Boston and applied for warrants against his wife and her second husband. They were both bound over yesterday for the grand jury in $500.

BURGLARS BORROW TOOLS

CASE PLACED ON FILE

RUSSELL, BANK DIRECTOR, PLEADED GUILTY OF ATTEMPT TO BURN ICE HOUSE

FITCHBURG, Sept. 10.—Pardon Russell of New Bedford, aged 64, manager of an ice company and director of the New Bedford Safe Deposit and Trust company, pleaded guilty in the superior court here late yesterday afternoon to a secret indictment charging him with attempting to burn the ice house of Adelard White at Winchendon on May 31. He was also indicted on a charge of arson in connection with the same case, and this was not pros'd by District Atty. Jas. F. Stiles.

After several had testified relative to Russell's mental condition a physician reported after an examination that the defendant was bordering on senile dementia.

Judge Callahan said that he was moved to compassion to make a merciful disposition of the complaint. The one fact that led him to be lenient in the case, and the only one, the court said, was Russell's weak physical condition.

The court, after a conference with attorneys, ordered the complaint filed, instructing the district attorney that he could at any future time take the case from the files and ask for sentence should conditions warrant.

JUDGE FILES DECREE

FINAL DECREE IN SUIT AGAINST U. S. STEEL CORP. FILED IN DISTRICT COURT

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 10.—The final decree in the suit of the federal government against the United States Steel Corporation was filed in the district court of New Jersey today. Judge Buffington filed the decree personally.

The document was very brief. It merely stated that the suit had been filed, tried and decided and that the suit should be dismissed. It was signed by the four judges who tried the case—Buffington, McPherson, Woolley and Hunt.

The briefness of the decree was a surprise to those who have followed the case.

The decision in the case was handed down on June 3. The government has already announced that it would take an appeal to the United States supreme court.

SHOT AT A ZEPPELIN

MACHINE FLYING AT GREAT HEIGHT ATTACKED BY DUTCH FRONTIER GUARDS

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 10, via London, 10.10 a. m.—The Maasbode says it has been informed by its Roozendaal correspondent that a Zeppelin coming from Belgium and flying at a great height, was shot at by Dutch frontier guards last night, whereupon it turned in a southerly direction.

EX-GOV. FOSS IS BARRED

"OLD BOY" CAN'T ADDRESS CAMBRIDGE REPUBLICANS AT PEMBERTON TONIGHT

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—"Old Boy" Foss is going to give up campaigning in the western part of the state, writing letters to ex-Mayor Fitzgerald, Thomas W. Lawson, et al., tonight long enough to attend the dinner of the Cambridge ward and city republican committee at the Hotel Pemberton.

Now the "Old Boy" thinks he is going to be one of the speakers, together with McCall and Cushing, the two other gubernatorial candidates of the G. O. P. The dinner committee, through its publicity expert, last night informed the press that ex-Gov. Foss was coming to the little party, but that he was NOT going to speak.

It seems that a nicely engraved "invite" was sent to Foss a few weeks ago to attend this self same dinner. He looked it over and had sent his regrets when he learned that McCall and Cushing were going to be there and that they would speak.

Changes His Mind

Then the Cambridge republicans who are running the dinner received a nice little communication from him, saying that he would arrange his "clean-up" campaign so that he could take in the dinner."

Now the Cambridge followers of the G. O. P., when they received Foss' note of regret, were at a loss for a speaker to fill his place. They finally decided to call on Congressman Dallinger of Cambridge and Dallinger accepted the invitation.

When the dinner committee received Foss' second little note they were in a quandary. Cambridge has about 20 republicans running for every city and county office, and they all wanted to speak at this dinner. The two candidates for lieutenant governor, Guy A. Ham and Calvin Coolidge, were also listed as speakers.

Here is what they will do, according to their press agent. They are going to let Foss attend the dinner, probably sitting at the head table. They are going to let him hear McCall and Cushing speak, also Congressman Dallinger, and the two aspirants for the lieutenant governorship. But it is asserted that Chairman Harry F. R. Dolan will not call upon Foss for any views that he may have on the republican or prohibition parties.

May See Base Hit

Now down at Pemberton, where 600 are to gather tonight, lives one John F. Fitzgerald. Within a half-hour's ride in a motor lives Thomas A. Lawson at his spacious country home at Egypt.

Foss and Fitzgerald have been holding a nice little mud-throwing contest recently, with Lawson as the umpire. Tonight may see a few triple-base hits and a lot of good base stealing, if the word of the Cambridge city and ward republican committee can be taken.

There will be a special boat to take the republicans from Cambridge down to Pemberton, and also to bring them back. There are also several other good "bouts" staged for the outing. Sheriff Fairbairn and his opponent, Messer, will be the features in the semi-final, and the preliminaries will be fought out on the boat between the candidates of the party for municipal office in Cambridge, and also for county office.

STRANGE WOMAN, AGED 65, FOUND IN THE MAINE WOODS BY SHERIFF

Bath, Me., Sept. 10.—The strange woman discovered in the woods near the William Sewall farm on the Brunswick road here has caused much activity among the police and other city officials who are attempting to learn her identity. Her presence in the woods was reported to Sheriff Oliver by a farm hand.

The sheriff later found her barefooted and was shown a bed of fir boughs where the woman said she spent last night in the open air. She was brought to police headquarters for examination.

Chairman Hall of the overseers of the poor sent her to the city home and she was further examined. From her conversation some of the officials believed she recently worked in textile mills in Lowell or Lawrence, Mass. She now says she is seeking housework.

She is about 65 years old, weighs about 160 pounds and has an air of refinement.

FALL OPENING

$5.00 TROUSERS FREE

I always figure Labor Day week the opening of the real fall season, and to that date I have devoted my energies in the past seven years in Lowell. I want every yard of cloth in my store to be brand new. I show all the new fads and fancies for fall. NEW BATTLESHIP GREY WORSTEDS, that never show the dust, fine BLACK BELGIAN DRAPES for social or dress wear, the FAMOUS WANSKUK heavy serges, the new TOBACCO BROWN over plaids, Scotch tweed effects in heather, olives, and grey shades, pepper and salt silk mixtures, fine new FRENCH BACK WORSTEDS, the dressiest looking goods you ever laid your eyes on, TARTAN CHECKS AND PLAIDS.

On all orders taken in this range of goods, for this fall opening, I shall include an extra pair of trousers free.

Workmanship—since I began business, it has been my constant aim to devise every means of making my tailoring product more perfect. Today I honestly believe that I produce the finest tailored garments in the country for the money. One proof of this is shown on my weekly pay roll, which shows an increase of 70 per cent. for labor alone which goes to the journeyman tailor.

I have just renovated my back shop, which in the past has been small. When the carpenters get through I will have the finest custom coat shop in Lowell, situated so that a man ordering a suit of clothes or an overcoat in my store can see his garments in the process of making, see the sanitary conditions under which his garments are made. If you are in town Friday or Saturday, whether you have ever traded with me before or not, I welcome you to look my line over, take samples, you don't have to buy, visit my back shop where garments are being made, examine any detail you may desire, bring such persons with you who are familiar with the fine points of tailoring and let me show you such garments as I have hanging on my line waiting to be delivered to customers who have ordered them.

SPECIAL

On your left hand window entering my store I am displaying a purchase of Three Thousand Yards of Fine Worsteds, about one hundred and fifty styles. These goods were bought before war-time prices of Today. I want my old customers, and as many new ones as possible for me to prevail upon to come inside my store, look this line over, take samples for comparison. These goods are guaranteed pure worsteds, all wool, and are as fine a collection of fabrics and style as would be possible for a tailor who charged $35.00 for a suit to carry.

You will need your fall suit soon. You may place your order now with the understanding that you can get your garment in two weeks or two months—any time to suit your convenience. You don't spend any money now—Just your order.

Overcoatings

I invite the timid, the skeptical, and the doubting of all Lowell to call at my store today and Saturday. I want to show a purchase of 80 styles of plain and fancy overcoatings. I made preparations away in advance for this fall season and ordered goods six months ago so as to be able to get them at old prices. Today these same overcoatings, which are fresh from the looms of the best mills in this country, are from 20 to 30 per cent higher than they were when I purchased them. I will give my customers the benefit of this difference in price, and make your coat any way you desire. You can have it ready in a week, or you may leave it for two months.

ARABIC AND HESPERIAN

The German government has taken a very strange stand in its latest dealings with this country regarding the sinking of the Arabic and the loss of American lives. After the declaration of Ambassador Bernstorff that no liners would be sunk without warning for the future and that full reparation would be made for the outrage of the Arabic, the German government has reopened the controversy by coming out in justification of the act. It now looks as though Ambassador Bernstorff went farther than his government intended, or that German public opinion would not tolerate such a surrender of German advantage. Assurance is given, as before, that no liner will be attacked in future without warning, but the question of settlement is left to the Hague. There is nothing to indicate a straining of relations, but the change of front makes one doubtful of Germay's good faith in diplomatic exchanges.

The story now given of the sinking of the Arabic is a plausible one. Germany asserts that the commander of the German submarine, which was supposed to have been sunk, was engaged in sinking a merchant vessel when the approaching Arabic changed her course and came straight for the submersible. Thinking that the Arabic captain meant to sink his craft he sent a torpedo which in quick time removed the Arabic from the scene. This is in line with the story of Captain Finch, who declared that his vessel had put out of her course to aid the crew of the steamer Dunsley, attacked shortly before. There are points about the German side of the Arabic story which ought to be cleared up before it can be accepted as final. A pertinent question, for instance, is why the explanation was delayed so long, and where the submarine was in the meantime.

With regard to the Hesperian, Germany seems to be able to justify the attack if it is established that the liner was sunk by a submarine. The Hesperian carried a gun on the upper deck, painted gray for active service. No liner calling to an American port could carry such a gun under existing regulations, and if the Hesperian really did carry a gun, the fact gives Germany a chance to avoid responsibility for the act of the submarine commander. Still, it is significant that Berlin attributes the loss of the Hesperian to a mine. Germany is ready to explain but would like to escape explaining.

ASSESSED FOR LIGHTS

Although the assessing of twenty-five cents per foot extra on abutters along the great municipal white way may be all right in this instance, and though it may not arouse any great complaint, the policy would be a dangerous one for the city to adopt as permanent. It would, of course, make it possible for us to have the limit in improvements, but we would soon reach the limit in taxation. As a settled policy for our future guidance, better that we make improvements in accordance with the money available than to make the improvements irrespective of cost and then lay additional burdens on the citizens.

In the case of the white way, it is felt in all probability that the additional illumination means additional business and that therefore all who share in the lustre should share in the cost. Statistics are not available, but it is doubtful if the new lighting system has brought increased patronage to the stores in this city. It may be that more people walk about while the lights are on, but some of the storekeepers say that a large crowd does not always indicate large monetary returns. There is such a thing as making the lighting system so lovely that the public will stay out and enjoy it instead of patronizing the stores.

The assessment of a quarter a foot extra will also remind the public that if we have improvements we must be prepared to pay for them. In this case, we have a good return, but in many other cases the return is dubious. A great majority of the public clamor for this, that and the other thing without casting a thought to the individual responsibility which the reform will entail. If the Lowell public will stand for great improvements costing immense sums, the Lowell public must be ready to pay the bills and it is too late to grumble when the deed is done. There will be little complaint if for every dollar expended we get a dollar's worth in return. It is well to remember this when officials tell of the many great things they contemplate doing.

ALFONSO STAYS HOME

An Argentine journalist reports that King Alfonso told him a few days ago of his great regret at being compelled to abandon an intended trip to America because of the war. This revives a story that crops out from time to time, to the effect that the progressive young ruler admires America very much and wishes to study its people and institutions at first hand. King Alfonso is scarcely a free agent in such things, but it may be that sooner or later he will pay a visit to this part of the world. If so, he will be welcomed cordially for there is much in his personality to attract the admiration of Americans. King Alfonso is what the irreverant American calls a "good sport" and as such he would find congenial atmosphere in a country that is interested in cabbages and kings.

In connection with the present story, there is every reason why Alfonso should stay home until the war is over. He now sees the recompense of mediocrity in a prosperous neutrality which antagonizes no neighbor and leaves his country some good trade pickings. The Argentine journalist also spoke of the king's announcement of great Spanish prosperity when the war is over. It is probably true. When the conflict ends, England, France, Germany and Russia will have vast economic problems to face that may make Spain seem rosy in comparison, and Spain may be conserving her national resources at a time when all the rest of Europe is squandering money and men without bounds. The war that must leave all the belligerents weaker in an economic sense may automatically make Spain a power to be reckoned with in world trade. King Alfonso seems to be the ruler to guide his country's destinies safely, if fortune should once again shine on a land that has seen some of the greatest glories and sorrows in history.

WILSON'S POLITICS

President Wilson has shown unmistakably that he does not intend to play politics in his handling of the present situation, and any references to the influence which certain acts may have on coming elections do not emanate from the White House. In a few days there will be a great democratic rally in New Jersey where Woodrow Wilson was governor before going to Washington. The word has been passed around that those gathered would pass a resolution endorsing President Wilson for another term. On hearing of it he wrote, through his secretary, disapproving of the intention of the convention, and declaring that it would appear as though he were using the present international situation as a pretext for advancing his political fortunes. His wishes ought to be respected, as he himself will be for the idealism which he has maintained throughout his administration.

It is not necessary for any group of democrats anywhere to come out in approval of President Wilson; his personality dominates the country today, and it is felt by republicans as well as those of his own party. He cannot deal rightly with the most intimate diplomatic problems of state if he thinks of its bearing on his political future, and it is better that he should be regarded everywhere as the chief executive of the present instead of the candidate of the future. Meanwhile, all will have to admit that if the war problems keep up until 1916, the man is not in sight who can beat him for another term. Every attack on him only makes him stronger with the thinking and patriotic citizens of the entire country.

CZAR IN COMMAND

The removal of Grand Duke Nicholas from the chief command of the Russian armies and the assumption of supreme command by the czar is not regarded favorably anywhere outside of Russia—whatever may be thought of it there. If it is meant as a rebuke, it is certainly undeserved, for even the German and Austrian experts speak in the highest terms of the grand duke's military ability and of his wonderful feat in getting the Russian armies out of the German trap. In the early stages of the war he threw great forces into Austrian territory and when, forced by shortage of ammunition and the superiority of the German organization, he withdrew before the last German offensive, he removed booty, evacuated positions and moved his great armies so that the Germans gained only a minimum of advantage by their success. Furthermore, he gave some good blows in his retreat that made him anything but a passing enemy.

It is not improbable that the grand duke is sent to the Caucusus to forestall the march of the Germans through Bulgaria to the Black sea and the Sea of Marmora. Should the Germans adopt this course, they could easily rout the allies from the Gallipoli peninsula on which as yet they have not secured a solid footing.

HIGHER CAR FARES

It is plain that there will be a number of public hearings on the petition of the Bay State Street Railway for permission to increase its fares to six cents. The city of Lawrence through its municipal council has protested against the proposition as have Lynn and Melrose. The city of Lowell should at least be represented at the hearings by the city solicitor in order that the interests of our citizens shall be duly protected in the matter.

It is up to the municipal council to provide for the proper representation of our city at the hearings. The board of trade and other civic bodies can send delegations if they so desire.

SEEN AND HEARD

The star of "Young America" now playing in New York is a dog, Jasper. Jasper is the first real dog actor in a regular play. He acts. The bloodhounds in "Uncle Tom's Cabin" were a group of rough "supes" compared with Jasper. He wouldn't notice such dogs, much less say "How do you do?" to them.

In the play Jasper has the last part of the first act almost to himself. The big scene is his. They are going to drag the unkempt young desperado, Art, to jail. The boy is sullen until it occurs to him that his dog, Jasper, will have no one to look after him. He cries out for Jasper. The dog comes racing in, to be fed by the boy from a piece of cocoanut pie, which the kind-hearted Mrs. Doray has bestowed upon Art.

Jasper is fondled by the boy and then rises to his greatest dramatic height when he gives battle to the two policemen when they arrest Art. Jasper uses his emotional voice to its fullest, and in his struggles the little dog actually yanks around the policeman with whom he grapples. This policeman is none other than Jasper's business manager and trainer—and owner—Dixie Taylor, who wears armored gloves of reinforced buckskin.

The policeman conquers the dog, apparently, by shutting down his nostrils and checking his "wind." Jasper's snorts are tragic in his lines right here, but that is all acting. Mr. Taylor doesn't really cause him the slightest discomfort.

They drag the boy away. All leaving the stage and the policeman, with a last effort, shoves Jasper back and slams the door, leaving Jasper alone in the room, on the stage. As the curtain falls Jasper is leaping at the door, clear to the top of it, barking his head off after his captured master.

Great applause. Members of the company take curtain call, without Jasper. Audience smites its palms for Jasper. It must have Jasper. And what does Jasper do but come right out and "take a curtain" all by himself.

He's the greatest dog of his day. He has a two year contract with Messrs. Cohan & Harris at half the salary of the president of the United States. Cohan & Harris have taken out an accident insurance policy upon him for $100,000. Jasper lives in a hotel near Broadway where several other widely known actors live. He has his teeth brushed every morning. He sleeps in a crib like a baby's, white with blue trimming. His special bedclothes, sterilized, are changed every day. His bath comes every other day, because daily baths diminish the gloss of his hair.

Jasper's father was an Italian greyhound and his mother a bull terrier. He looks as if he might be all bull terrier, until upon inspection one sees that his jaws and nose are much longer and finer drawn, and that he has a length of leg and lightness of body from the small greyhound of the Italian breed. He is five years and three months old. He was earning $35 a week at the age of ten months. Dixie Taylor, who received the puppy as a gift from a showman friend, changed his name from Mulligan to Jasper when he took him on the Chatauqua circuit.

Jasper appeared on the same program as a trick dog, a mind reading dog, with William Jennings Bryan. When 18 months old Jasper was making $150 a week, and about two years ago he went on the Keith circuit in vaudeville at $500 a week. He always wanted, however, to get into "the legit." Now he's in. They say he wants to play "Hamlet."

The Wedding Dress

Ah, well, the wedding is over, and Sue
and the boy have gone,
And somehow, although I miss her, I don't feel a bit forlorn.
I know he will make her happy, and now that the thing is done,
I don't feel I've lost a daughter; I feel that I've gained a son.

Well, well! The day when Sue told me
her voice had a wondrous thrill.
My thoughts went back to my own
youth, for it all seems vivid still.
Jack says that we look like sisters,
though I'm forty-two today,
But I was just Sue's age—twenty—
when Jack and I ran away.

I met him down in the garden, by the tall pink hollyhock,
I was dressed in a blue sunbonnet, and a little gingham frock.
We just ran off and got married, and it grieved me, more or less—
I wanted a veil, and flowers, and a satin wedding dress!

Then Jack found out, and he teased me, though he said, "If you but knew,
No wedding gown could have added to the loveliness of you.
Your eyes were like deep blue gentians, and sunbeams brightened
your hair—
What mattered the gown you wore, love, when your rosy lips were there?"

Of course that is just Jack's folly, and it happened years ago;
I laugh, myself, at the memory—but
I do love "pretties" so!
It all came back when Sue told me,
and quite suddenly I saw
My chance for the "truly" wedding
that I couldn't have before!

Sue left it to me to manage—she seemed to be in a daze,
And all I could do this morning was
to feast my eyes and gaze.
My Susie looked like an angel, though
she seemed a trifle pale;
Her eyes shone bright with love's own light through her misty wedding veil.

She had the things I had longed for—
I tingled with pride to see
How sweet she looked and how pretty! (They say that she looks like me!)
My dead youth rose up to greet me—
and then (oh, how did he guess?)
Jack afterward came and caught me—
decked out in the wedding dress!

Said he, "Was the bride forgotten?
Well, here is another groom!
Suppose that we start tomorrow on another honeymoon?"
He touched my hair, oh, so gently, and tenderly smoothed it back,
And I—I reached up and kissed him.
Theres nobody like my Jack!

—Beatrice Barry.

DRAGGED FROM SURF

HUMAN LIFE LINE SAVED BATHER AND LIFE GUARDS AT SALISBURY BEACH

SALISBURY BEACH, Sept. 10.—In a desperate battle with the heavy surf yesterday afternoon people forming a human life line dragged from the ocean three men who were nearly drowned.

A man, whose name was not learned, living in Haverhill, entered the unusually heavy surf about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The strength of the undertow soon placed him in danger. This fact was noted by Life Guard Daniel Pierce and Albert True, who are both fine swimmers. They started to his rescue, but were overcome by the surf by the time they reached him.

Human Chain Formed

People on the beach saw at once that a triple drowning was imminent unless help could be given at once. A rush was made for ropes and then a human chain entered the water.

For a long time the men battled with the waves. Finally they succeeded in dragging the drowning men to shore, and not a moment too soon, for the services of a physician and men from the United States coast guard station near by were required to resuscitate them.

All the men were in a dangerous condition when taken from the water, the two life guards having been overcome by the water, as well as the unknown man.

After the latter had been treated by Dr. A. J. Peters of Newburyport, he went to his home in Haverhill.

BODIES ON WAY HOME

Heads Bared in Honolulu as Funeral Cortege of Victims of Submarine F-4 Passes Through Streets

HONOLULU, Sept. 10.—The dead of submarine F-4, in eight caskets draped with the American flag, were placed yesterday aboard the United States steamship Supply to be sent home. Shortly afterward the steamer weighed anchor and sailed for San Francisco.

Four of the bodies, which had been identified, occupied separate caskets and will be sent to relatives. The fragmentary remains of only nine others of the remainder of the crew of 22 were recovered from the debris filled wreck of the submarine, and these occupied the four other caskets, which will be sent to the National cemetery at Arlington, Va.

As the funeral cortege, escorted by three artillery companies and a military band, moved through the streets crowds stood with bared heads, and the flags of the city were at half-staff.

Gov. L. B. Pinkham, Mayor J. C. Lane and military and naval officials had places in the procession and attended the services held at the naval station.

The four identified bodies taken from the F-4 were those of George T. Ashcroft of Los Angeles, Ivan L. Mahan, Lima, O., Charles H. Wells, Norfolk, Va., and Frank H. Herzog.

SLEEPYTIME TALES

HOW LENA HELPED THE SOLDIERS.

Once upon a time Lena and her grandma lived in a small house near a church. Grandma liked to have Lena read to her each night when the newspaper came, and would insist on having all the news of the day told her before she would go to bed.

Lena was very glad to read and they were both very much interested in the war going on across the sea. One day Lena came home from school very much excited and told her grandmother that all the children were going to make things to send in barrels to the suffering soldiers. They were to bring the things to the school and they were to be packed and sent from there.

"What can I make? I want to make something grandma and perhaps it will go to some of the soldiers we are reading about."

"Why don't you crochet a worsted cap?" said grandma.

"I will and I will begin it right away so I will have plenty of time to make a nice one," answered Lena. She spent all her spare time working on the cap and at last it was finished and she took it to the school and from there it was sent, with many other things, across the sea.

A few weeks after the barrel was sent the teacher read aloud to the children a letter that had come the day before from the war hospital where they had sent the barrel. It was full of thanks to the children for their kindness and thoughtfulness. That made the children very glad that they had spent their time in helping the soldiers and Nina read the news of the war to her grandmother with a great deal more interest, for, as she said: "Grandma, I have helped some in the war, haven't I?" Of course grandma said she had, in more ways than one.

RUSSIANS WIN ANOTHER VICTORY — CAPTURE 15,000 PRISONERS

LONDON, Sept. 10, 12.52 p. m.—The Russian victory at Tarnopol, eastern Galicia, has been followed by another effective blow at the Austrians at Trembowla, 20 miles further south. In the combined actions more than 15,000 prisoners have been taken, according to Petrograd's report. As was the case at Tarnopol, the Russians were unable to follow the advantage gained at Trembowla owing to the inferiority in artillery, and the Austrians were not pushed beyond the line of the river Sereth.

Basing its judgment on reports that the Germans are fortifying themselves strongly in the vicinity of Vilna, together with the trend of events on the southern wing of the eastern front and the slow progress of the Teutonic centre the British feeling is that cessation of the Austro-German offensive in the east may be at hand.

Such a development would spell victory for that faction of the German general staff which has argued that the lengthening of communications was involving too much risk to warrant a further advance.

In the Argonne

French and German claims are so contradictory that it is impossible at this time to obtain a clear view of the situation in the Argonne, where the German crown prince is reported to have made considerable progress. The French are attempting to recover the lost ground which the Germans assert includes the fortified position at Marie Therese. It is likely that this region will witness some of the bitterest fighting in the west during the next ten days.

FEAURES OF LAST NIGHT'S WAR NEWS IN BRIEF FORM

Russians gain another victory in Galicia, capture 7000 more Teutons and drive them back toward Strypa river.

Germans fail to gain in stubborn fighting in Riga section and strongly fortify themselves on Vilna front.

Sir John French reports British have carried on an artillery duel with Germans east of Ypres.

Austrian cavalry has entered Dubno, Russian fortress in the south, according to Vienna.

Paris announces the German attempt in the Argonne has been checked.

Berlin claims a fortified area a mile and a quarter long and a quarter mile deep in the Argonne was captured, with 2000 prisoners.

United States informs Austria that Dumba is no longer acceptable as ambassador.

Germany refuses liability for Americans' deaths on Arabic, but will arbitrate legal issue.

Americans escape injury when Zeppelins attack London, causing great damage.

Mr. Moustakis will have as his chief opponent former Mayor John F. Hurley of silk hat fame and many say the former Lowellite will give the other candidate a good run for his money.

STORE BROKEN INTO

Anderson's Store at North Chelmsford Broken Into Last Night — Window Smashed

The North Chelmsford market conducted by E. F. Anderson of North Chelmsford was broken into late last night or early this morning and considerable merchandise and provisions was taken. Entrance was gained by breaking a large plate glass window in the front of the store. Whoever committed the break cut himself in getting through the window for blood was found spattered on the window sash and on the floor.

The break was discovered by the proprietor, Mr. Anderson, early this morning when he arrived to open his place of business for the day. He saw the broken window and upon investigation found meat, vegetables, fruit and various articles strewn topsy-turvy about the store. There was money in the cash drawer, but this was not touched. After a hasty inventory of his stock, Mr. Anderson notified the police authorities. This is the second time Mr. Anderson's store has been entered in two years.

A. G. SPALDING IS DEAD

Famous Old Time Ball Player, Died Suddenly at Point Loma —Funeral Tomorrow

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 10.—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Albert Goodwill Spalding, one of the pioneers of baseball, from the family home at Point Loma, where he died suddenly last night. The ceremony will be private and is to be followed by cremation.

For the last ten days Mr. Spalding apparently had been rallying from what was supposed to have been a slight paralytic stroke, and yesterday he seemed in good spirits. At 9.30 p. m., however, he complained of a severe pain in his head. Mrs. Spalding was summoned, but before her arrival he had lapsed into unconsciousness from which he did not emerge. Besides his widow, Mr. Spalding is survived by three sons, Albert Goodwill Spalding, Jr., Keith Spalding and Durand Churchill, a son by adoption. Keith Spalding resides in Chicago; Churchill and Albert Spalding are in Europe. His only brother, J. Walter Spalding of New York, is vice president of the sporting goods house of A. G. Spalding & Bros. His sister, Mrs. W. T. Brown and his mother reside in East Orange, N. J.

For many years Mr. Spalding was a prominent member of the Universal Brotherhood and Theosophical society. Since making his home in California, Mr. Spalding had been identified closely with the good roads movement.

In the first primary election in California for United States senator in 1910, Mr. Spalding entered the race against John D. Works of Los Angeles. Although he had only 30 days for his campaign, he carried 75 legislative districts as against 45 for all other candidates. Despite this the legislature declared that Works had been chosen and Spalding was defeated.

Mr. Spalding was born in 1850 in Byron, Ill.

WAS FAMOUS PITCHER

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—A. G. Spalding gave up a $5 a week job in a grocery to become identified with baseball and was perhaps better known to the sport than any other man. He became famous as a pitcher, one of the first to use the underhand delivery and later became the manager of clubs. Not only during his career on the diamond but as a follower of the game for years afterward, Mr. Spalding used his influence to place the game on a high plane. With his parents he moved from Byron, Ill., his birthplace, to Rockford, in 1853, where he entered a commercial college. But he soon learned that he could make money playing ball and joined the Forest City club of Rockford, which made a reputation when it defeated the national club of Washington in 1867. Four years later Mr. Spalding joined the famous Boston Red Stockings and pitched the club to pennant victory in 1872, '73, '74 and '75. His longest connection with active baseball playing was with the Chicago club, which he joined in 1876. He was successively its manager, secretary and president until 1891. For years he had cherished the idea that the sport might be popularized in England, and in the winter of 1874, after the tour of the famous Baltimore Orioles he went to Europe. Everywhere he was received enthusiastically. In 1885 and 1889 he managed the first world tour of the Chicago and All-American baseball teams.

In 1875 Mr. Spalding interested himself in the manufacture of sporting goods and started a small shop in New Haven, Conn., with a capital of only $800. A year later when the business grew it was moved to Chicago. It formed the nucleus around which the present house of A. G. Spalding & Bros. was built.

For the last 15 years Mr. Spalding has published a "guide" which is recognized as an authority on baseball and other athletic sports.

JESSE BURKETT'S LICKING

LYNN, Sept. 10.—A story emanating in Worcester, setting forth the explanation made by Jesse Burkett of the Worcester baseball team of the cause of a blackened eye, a swollen face and a cut cheek, which he is alleged to have attributed to an attack upon him by six Lynn thugs who were seeking the bank roll of the Worcester club, is denied here.

According to Lynn and Nahant men who know Jesse, participation in a fight at Bass Point Monday night with a young man who resides on Waterhill street, Lynn, was the cause. Burkett, witnesses of the scrap say, failed to make much of a showing as a pugilist, and it took the Lynn man, who has had some experience in the ring, only a very few seconds to get a decision.

Burkett and two companions, waiting for a car at Bass Point, are said to have been passed by a party of men. Burkett is alleged to have used words which did not meet with the approval of the party and argument resulted. It developed into a fight. Jesse is reported by witnesses to have been knocked down by the third punch his opponent delivered, and he stayed down.

Lynn police inspectors said yesterday that they heard nothing of an attack upon Burkett by six Lynn thugs, but that there was a story that the Nahant police might be able to supply some information about the scrap.

BIG BLOOD BALL GAME

FIVE LOWELL PLAYERS IN GRANITEVILLE LINE UP AGAINST WESTFORD TOMORROW

There'll be something doing in the baseball line at Graniteville, tomorrow afternoon, when the rival teams of Westford and Graniteville get together for their fourth game this season, in a series of three out of five.

One would have thought yesterday noon that there was to be a New England league game at Spalding park upon seeing Zeke Lohman, Walter Ahearn, Shorty Dee and Earl Stimpson with their baseball togs done up in bundle, taking a car for the park. Inquiry revealed the fact that they were going out to get a little practice, and the four of them together with Allie Moulton, who is at his home in Lynn, are to play for the Graniteville team in tomorrow's game.

The fact that Graniteville has drafted five New England leaguers isn't worrying the Westford people any and they announce that their battery will be Bailey & Hardey. Hardey is their regular catcher and a corker. He has been on a long trip this summer and immediately after his return went behind the bat for Westford in a game against Graniteville and lost the game by two passed balls, as he was not in shape after his long ride. Now he is in fine fettle and the Westford fans will tell you: "With Hardey going right, no team on earth can beat Westford." Considerable money will be wagered on the game as the Westford bunch don't fear the New England leaguers in the least. The game will be played in Graniteville and will be called at 3 o'clock.

BARROWS AND PARKER

TWO LOWELL PLAYERS LED NEW ENGLAND LEAGUE IN THE BATTING

The New England league closed the season of 1915 with only four .300 hitters, which is a very small number. Of the four two come from Lowell. Cuke Barrows leads the league with the average of .332 and Parker of the same team is second with .325. Farrell of the Portland team comes third with .315. The other .300 hitter is Warner of the Lawrence team. The first three batters of each club are as follows:

DIAMOND DAZZLES

Days like these emphasize the fact that the New England league opens its season too early and closes too early. This is the weather for baseball and yet the little old league is out of commission.

By a peculiar coincidence, Bill Luyster of the Lawrence team bats this season exactly what he did last year, .298. He had a good chance to join the .300 class Monday, but he failed to get enough hits to bring him over the mark. Warner is the only Lawrence player over the mark.

A Lowell boy who has been making good up country as a pitcher and who may be seen with the leaguers next season is Al. Sturtevant, son of Gus. Sturtevant of Simpson and Rowlands. Young Sturtevant played at Brattleboro, Vt., last season and has been twirling for Franklin, N. H., this year.

With Lowell and Portland the only two teams to pay their assessments in the N. E. league this season and perhaps the only two teams to pay their players on the 1st and 15th without fail unto the close of the season. It would appear that when new circuits, etc., for next season are being discussed Lowell and Portland should have "first say" in the matter.

Mike Lynch, captain of the Lynn team, is back in this city after his season with Lynn. In speaking of all star players yesterday he considers Wheat Orcutt of Lynn as the best outfielder in the league and would place him on a team even if he had to shift Cuke Barrows of Lowell to right field to make room for him.—Lawrence Tribune.

George Pennington is a lucky boy. He has two pays coming to him—one from the Lawrence club and the other from Fitchburg, with which club he played before he reported here last week. George will return to Brooklyn shortly where he expects to put in a busy fall and winter.—Lawrence Tribune.

Kitty Bransfield, who umpired in the New England league this past season, is expected to go to the National league next season and it would not be any surprise if he went any day now. Bransfield took the job in the New England league so that he would get the necessary experience so that he could take the big league berth, is said to await him. Bransfield stands ace high with Pres. John K. Tener.

The local players have received word that the pay train will be on the job today and then they will feel much happier than they have for the past few days. They hoped to get their money yesterday but unfortunately they were disappointed.—Lawrence Tribune.

WITH THE PADDED MITTS

Jim Coffey, the most promising of the white heavyweights, will give Al Kubiak a battle at Montreal on Sept. 15th. Kubiak recently boxed George "Kid" Cotton at Manchester. Cotton defeated him in the first encounter while Kubiak turned the tables in the second. Coffey should win with ease for Kubiak is not the man he was several years ago.

Johnny Dundee and Leach Cross are the principals in New York Sept. 16th. These boys met a few months ago and Dundee received the newspaper decision. The promotor wanted Dundee to meet Johnny Griffiths but Dundee refused to let Griffiths box him unless he reduced to 133 pounds ringside, which Griffiths was unable to do, and the Cross-Dundee fight was substituted.

The fans of Cedar Point, Ohio, paid $10,000 to see Johnny Kilbane outpoint their native son, Alvie Miller, Labor day. Miller must be some battler, if accounts of the bout are true. Miller lost the verdict but he carried the featherweight champion along at a merry clip.

Young Saylor and Phil Brock are scheduled to meet at Minneapolis, Sept. 29th, in a 10 round bout. Brock is well thought of throughout the west and he is the boxer who stove two of Matty Baldwin's ribs last year, which forced Matty to lay off for quite a spell.

Sapper O'Neil, the English lightweight who made such an excellent showing around New York last season, was badly wounded while at the front in France. The bullet entered O'Neil's left ear and came out at the right ear. Frankie Mack of Beachmont lost to this clever scrapper and several other well known fighters lowered their colors to him when in America.

Joe Chick who fought twice in this city has returned to his old manager, Eddie Mack of Boston. Chick is a pleasing performer and a boy who fights from bell to bell, never stopping to rest while battling. Chick fought K. O. Sweeney a few weeks ago at New Bedford and the affair was declared a draw.

Our old friend Sandy Ferguson and Battling Levinsky will hold the boards of the Atlas club next Tuesday evening. Levinsky has boxed in Boston before but under the name of Barney Williams. The Battler substituted one night against Leo Houck at the old armory and gave the Philadelphian a rugged fight only to lose the decision. Levinsky though only weighing 180 pounds is willing to box any of the white heavyweights and when he clashes with Ferguson he will be outweighed by over 20 pounds. But the Battler more than offsets the weight by his cleverness and he has a large string of victories over men that have outweighed him from 20 to 50 pounds. Levinsky has beaten Gunboat Smith on two occasions.

Charley White, the hard hitting Chicago lightweight, is to appear in a Boston ring Sept. 21. His opponent will be Gilbert Gallant of Chelsea who has shown his prowess in Lowell several times. Gallant is not a very good drawing card in Boston, for the fans think he gets the better of the decisions on account of his manager being one of the directors of the Atlas club.

Ted "Kid" Lewis wants to meet Jack Britton again and prove conclusively that he is master of the clever Chicago boxer whom he defeated two weeks ago at Boston. Lewis is willing to let Britton come in at catchweights. The boys were to weigh 135 pounds at three o'clock the last time they fought but Britton failed to appear for the weighing process. It is likely they will box again at Boston on Sept. 27th.

George Alger and Belgium Brown are to clash in the semi-windup next week at the Atlas A. A. Alger received a decision over Brown some time ago at Gloucester and Brown claimed it was he who should have gotten the verdict instead of Alger and this bout will decide who is the better warrior.

Johnny Ertle, the sensational St. Paul bantamweight, will get a severe ring test tonight when he meets Bantamweight Champion Kid Williams at Milwaukee. Ertle is lauded to the skies by western sport writers and a bright future is predicted for him. It looks like bad judgment to shoot him against Williams at this state of the game and if the champion beats him it will perhaps take the ambition out of him.

RECORD FOR CHARTER OAK

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 10.—Directum I., driven by Tommy Murphy, yesterday lowered the record of Charter Oak park track to one minute, 58 1-2 seconds. This was the feature of the grand circuit racing meet. The purse of $200, which is now deposited chestnut stallion was in fine form and with a fast track clipped one and a half seconds off the former record of two minutes, made by Star Pointer, in 1899. The first quarter was not very fast, but the second was stepped in less than a half minute and the third in 29 seconds. The last quarter was just a trifle slower than the third, as the stallion noticeably tired a few feet from the wire, though he did not stop. The mark ties the season's record of 1.58 1-2, made by William.

SOUTH ENDS VS. KIMBALLS

Tomorrow Spalding park will be the Mecca of all lovers of baseball when the Kimball System and P. & Q. South Ends commence their series for the city championship. Before the game the Middlesex County Training School band will start a band concert at 2.30 and at 3 out-of-town photographers will take a panoramic view of the crowd as well as the players. Then the game all Lowell is talking about will begin, the double umpire system being used. The first game is for a purse of $200, which is now deposited at Henry Carr's pool parlors, besides the entire gate receipts. The team winning the first two games out of three at Spalding park will be declared the winner and will then, weather permitting, play the D. F. Lanes of Lawrence, who have just won the city championship in the down-river city for the championship of the Merrimack valley. Be on hand early and get in on the picture that will be on exhibition in Mitchell the Tailor's window.

STATE POLICE LEAGUE

The Massachusetts Police Baseball league will close its season Tuesday, Sept. 14. Boston's team, leader of the league, will play Quincy at Quincy.

The New York Police league made up of three sections, has finished its season. A post-season, series is now being played for the championship.

The winner of the championship will play the Massachusetts Police champs a series in New York for the "world's police title." The series will be at the Polo grounds.

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

Twenty-five years ago the good citizens of Lowell were a trifle earlier with their state caucuses than at the present time, for the demmies held forth 25 years ago tonight while the republicans got together 25 years ago last evening.

It is interesting to look over the list of names of those who were prominent in local politics quarter of a century ago. Some are still interested in the game while others have passed away.

In those days there were but 6 wards instead of nine as today, and at the state caucuses, delegates were elected to the state, congressional, county and councillor convention for all nominations were made through the medium of conventions.

The territory known as ward two today was ward one quarter of a century ago and was a democratic stronghold, even as it is today. The democratic caucus of quarter of a century ago in the Acre ward was presided over by the late Dennis A. Sullivan, at that time editor of the Lowell Daily News. The secretary was Joseph H. Callahan, in those days a baseball umpire and well known in politics. Among those who took a prominent part in the caucus was Michael J. Garvey who still resides in the same old ward and who was a candidate for representative only a year ago. Patrick Keyes, Jr was just getting into politics in those days. Now he's too busy to bother with the game. Then there were the late John Courtney, Patrick J. Savage, Daniel Murphy, who afterward became representative, Daniel H. Courtney, then a member of the common council from that ward; D. H. Flynn, J. H. Callahan, Michael J. Johnson, the well known organist, P. O'Rourke, C. W. Johnson and J. W. Lahiff. At this caucus the delegates to the county convention were instructed to vote for a Lowell man for county commissioner. In those days a democrat had about as much chance for election as county commissioner as a snow ball had in Mexico, and it was customary for some of the conventions to endorse republican nominees. This stuck in the crop of some of the uncompromising Acre democrats and hence the action of the caucus.

Ward two took in Centralville in the old days and while the democrats were sadly in the minority in that ward there were some pretty lively ones across the bridge. The ward two caucus of quarter of a century ago was presided over by Henry K. Prince, the well known stationer and Peter A. Fay, Esq., was the secretary. Among the men elected delegates to the different conventions at that time were William F. Courtney shortly afterward mayor of Lowell for three terms, Gardner W. Pearson, afterward postmaster and more recently adjutant-general; John H. Harrington, of The Sun, who afterward was city treasurer; Jos. H. McGrath, who has held a federal position for a number of years, E. M. Tucke, subsequently a senator; Prentiss Webster, Thomas Boddy, Orin C. Carlton, James McManus, John Doherty, of "Ho, for the Beach" fame; James McGrath, Patrick Owens, Joseph F. Cook, Peter A. Golden, William H. Tweed and John McDonough.

Ward three included the "Flats" now ward four and the demmies held undisputed sway in that territory as they do at the present time. George F. Tilton held the gavel quarter of a century ago and George M. Harrigan, the well known banker was secretary. Among the delegates elected were Hon. Peter J. Brady, John W. McEvoy, Owen M. Donohoe, John J. Gilbride (not young John, the Federal officer), Edward Carroll, Frank S. Clark, P. H. Brosnahan, Charles L. Marren, Frank J. O'Hare, John F. Curtis, Robert C. Gallagher, John Donahue, John J. Gray, Thomas Knowles, Ed. F. Welch, Frank Davlin, John J. Mealey, Dennis Donahue, Benj. J. Williams, Lawrence J. Thyne, Peter Butterworth and Richard Bray.

Many of those mentioned afterward held public office and quite a few of them are much interested in the politics of ward 4 today.

The demmies weren't very strong in old ward 4, the Highlands, and hence didn't have a very lively caucus. Hon John H. Morrison presided and Edward D. McVey was secretary. Among those who took part were John C. Burke, George Bowers, Philip Ilsley, Hon. John J. Donovan, Julius A. Stiles and Thomas J. Sayers.

Ward 5, which comprises the ward 7 district today, while not particularly well filled with democrats, had a number of prominent workers in the ranks and they were strong on democratic clubs and rallies in this ward. You will recall the old "Blew F" club of this ward, about which I wrote something not long ago. Twenty-five years ago along with the regular caucus proceedings they had speeches by Edward B. Quinn, James H. Carmichael, now the colonel; John J. Hogan, John H. Ring, father of the well known lawyers of that name; John F. Murphy and Hon. John Welch. Edward B. Quinn presided over the caucus and Mathew F. Gilroy was secretary. Mr. Gilroy was also presiding over the Mathews in those days. Among those who took part were the gentlemen who made the speeches and Charles F. White, Clinton L. Bruce, Timothy O'Brien, Michael McNulty, Thomas L. Garvey, P. H. Hanniffin, Joseph H. Bergeron, Henry J. Draper, afterward senator, John Casey, Alexander Fecteau, Joseph Lacture, Jeremiah J. Hayes, George A. Hanscom and Richard Murphy.

Belvidere was known as ward 6 and the democratic caucus of quarter of a century ago was presided over by Charles H. Hobson, more recently a Bull Mooser. The late Richard B. Allen was secretary. It was voted at this time to form a democratic club and a committee consisting of R. B. Allen, J. H. Clark, James Gookin, Arthur McQuade and Daniel D. Driscoll was appointed to get the club underway—and they did. Among the delegates on that occasion were Paul T. Connell, C. H. Wilson, John E. Drury, Philip J. Farley, James C. Abbott, who was among Lowell's mayors, Patrick Kelly, the late Nathan D. Pratt, A. A. Haggett, who was postmaster under Cleveland; Frank King, Hugh McOsker, Thomas Boulger, Marcellus H. Fletcher, the "war horse" of the local democracy in those days; Patrick Conlon, Thomas Roche and Edwin Cook.

Among the Republicans

Although quarter of a century ago a republican didn't have a burglar's chance in ward 1, yet such famous republican warhorses as William H. I. Hayes, Sam Snow and Eben T. Stafford resided within its boundaries. Afterward all three of them moved into ward 7, where republicans amounted to something. Among the other prominent republicans in ward 1 at that time were Jeremiah Clark, William B. Brown, Capt. A. V. Partridge who conducted the Merrimack house in those days; George W. Reed, L. D. Hunt, H. B. Way, Hilaire Dozois, Fred Samuels and A. J. Bixby. Amid that galaxy of celebrities one rather misses the names of Daniel Webster and Claude Bugbee. They were there strong in later years, however.

Over in Centralville the republicans of quarter of a century ago who looked after the welfare of the party in ward 2 were Major E. T. Rowell, Daniel H. Varnum, C. W. Philbrick, Francis W. Qua, Thomas Collins, James Stuart Murphy, Fred N. Wier, Walter M. Sawyer, L. R. J. Varnum, George Palmer, S. B. Palmer, J. R. Fulton, F. T. Walsh, George H. Marston, George C. Evans, Frank C. Wasley, George H. Manning, Thomas E. Boucher, Newell Abare and J. S. Brown.

Ward 3—the ward 3 of quarter of a century ago was not the ward 3 whence sprang the celebrated Ward Three Republican club of patriotic memory, though the late Jerome F. Manning who presided over the ward 3 caucus of quarter of a century ago was in later years prominently identified with the Ward Three club. The old ward 3 was a democratic stronghold, but some of the republicans who found it a pretty good place in which to live were Cy Barton, Frank Dunlap, William Myers, William H. Penn, Henry Hatch, Joseph Green, Joseph H. Ashworth, Charles D. Rolfe, Charles Runels, Ambrose Hindle, John Munson, John Green (not the Bay State railway track expert), and George Emsley.

Old ward 4 had a choice assortment of republican big guns and they always turned out at the caucuses. Among those who participated quarter of a century ago were Arthur P. Knapp, H. A. Lord, Frank Haynes, J. P. Thompson, Frank Gray, George A. Miller, Albert L. Sawyer, Henry J. Williams, Ether S. Foss, Harlan P. Goodell, Francis Carll, Joel Knapp, Frank L. Weaver, Joseph Miller, James York, Fred N. Ela, Fred Howe, J. W. Turcotte, James W. Bennett, J. Y. Bradbury, J. C. Jackow, O. C. Prescott, Francis Jewett, Solon W. Stevens, William E. Hall, F. B. Peabody, R. G. Bartlett, R. A. Maxfield, Leonard Evans, A. G. Walsh, Charles E. Carter, Edwards Cheney and B. F. Hale.

Old ward five had one republican who held office continuously for a longer period of years than any other man in Lowell in either party, Mr. A. G. Swapp who rounded out a quarter of a century in the school board. Other prominent republicans in the affairs of ward five 25 years ago were Chas. H. Hanson, the present license commissioner, the late Jacob Rogers, George F. Morey, J. N. Wilson, who is still hale and hearty and after a new bridge for Pawtucketville, Arthur F. Salmon, the baseball historian who organized the Bartlett school baseball team almost beyond the memory of man; Fred Lawton, C. F. Kidder, Walter Coburn, then a member of the school board, Harry Brown, G. W. Bachelder, M. N. Peabody, H. W. Ladd, Clarence G. Coburn, Elwin W. Lovejoy, Amassa Pratt, C. C. Thompson, Dr. J. J. Colton, Charles C. Hartwell, E. W. Thomas, J. G. Hill, J. F. Kimball.

Belvidere's prominent republicans who turned out to the caucus quarter of a century ago were Hon. F. T. Greenhalge, then a congressman; A. M. Chadwick, Frank Brown, J. Tyler Stevens, J. A. Foster, Charles D. Palmer, A. G. Pollard, Prescott C. Gates, H. J. White, William F. Wilder, A. W. Harris, H. B. Woodman, John Stott, Benj. Rawcliff, J. H. Fuller, F. J. Flemings, C. I. Hood, Charles A. Stott, A. A. Blanchard, William E. Westall, C. H. Conant, Alfred Leblanc, George R. Richardson and A. W. Hill.

Even today you'll hear some persons refer to the D. L. Page company as "Page and Nunn's." When you hear one thus refer to Uncle Dudley's establishment you may bank on it he's an old timer for just quarter of a century ago the old time firm of Page and Nunn was absorbed by the D. L. Page company. The firm of Page and Nunn had done business for seven years prior to the forming of the corporation and was eminently successful. The old Sun referred to the company as a prosperous concern employing 25 hands regularly and double that number in the busy season. Dudley L. Page, "Uncle Dudley," is still the active head of the company and he works as hard today as he did in the early days of the firm. The D. L. Page company today numbers on its payroll 104 employes.

On next St. Patrick's day, March 17th, "Uncle" Dudley Page will observe the 50th anniversary of the first pot of sugar he ever boiled, for 50 years ago he started in the candy business at the corner of Merrimack street and City Hall avenue, in a modest little store, making old fashioned molasses candy and corn balls. He's been in the business ever since and he'll be there for years to come judging from his present activity, his fine store and dining room and better than all his rugged health. Mr. Page served with distinction through the war of '61 with the famous 33rd Mass. regiment and it was upon his return from the war that he entered the candy business. After a few years at his original place of business he went to Lynn and started up in that city, but returning again he established a place at the corner of Central and Middle street. For a number of years he had a store in the Hildreth building, and in the basement of the Hildreth building. At his Hildreth building store he introduced the first big soda fountain to Lowell. Many years ago with John Bailey as a partner he opened what afterward became one of Boston's best known confectionery stores at 45 West street, then known by the firm name of Page and Bailey. Subsequently Mr. Bailey sold out to Mr. Shaw and the firm name of Page and Shaw is known all over New England today. Mr. Page still retains a financial interest in that establishment. Thirty-two years ago with Mr. Nunn as a partner Mr. Page began the business of the firm of Page and Nunn, succeeding Nichols and Hutchins. When Mr. Nunn went out of the firm quarter of a century ago Mr. Page set a good example for other employers to follow by starting the D. L. Page company and taking his principal employes in, as members of the corporation.

SCHOOLS SHOULD TEACH ALL CHILDREN TO SWIM

Great Number of Drownings Makes This Necessary—Swimming Pool Also Public Necessity

The city of Lowell should teach all school children to swim and it should provide a swimming pool to prevent them taking chances in the canals and rivers.

The frequent drownings in the waterways in and around Lowell make it imperative upon the city government to take some steps to prevent the great loss of life.

There has been an agitation for fencing the danger spots of the local waterways, but that precaution, small as it is, has not been attended to. This shows culpable indifference on the part of our city government.

But the matter cannot be allowed to go by default. Something must be done, but what will that something be?

To those who have studied the situation, the remedy is clear. It lies chiefly in having the city provide a system of public baths or a swimming pool at some central location. That would prevent the children from risking their lives in the canals and rivers. In addition to this, the school board should arrange to have every boy and girl taught to swim before leaving the grammar school. Education is important, but not so important as health or life and as the ability to swim is usually a protection against drowning, the children should be afforded that protection which through life would be a safeguard against many dangers.

The question of cost will be the obstacle. How much is the city willing to do to save some 25 lives a year? Thus far it has not shown the willingness to do anything. But that policy must be changed. The lives of the little ones must be protected.

With the construction of a new high school it is an easy matter to provide a swimming tank. Then all that would be necessary would be a male instructor to teach the boys and a woman the girls. The expense for rendering this valuable service would be trifling. Almost daily we hear of fatal accidents in and around our city in which the ability to swim would have saved lives.

There is not another city in New England in which there are so many drowning fatalities, owing to the manner in which the canals intersect the city. The temptation to the children in hot weather is overpowering. It is a crime to so tantalize them with waterways everywhere, but not a single one in which they have a right to swim.

Let the policy in this respect be changed. Have every child taught to swim. This can't be done without a large swimming tank. That is the first step. Let it be provided in the new high school or somewhere else—any central location will do, but let it be provided.

STOCK BROKERAGE FIRM ASSIGNS

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Charles H Dickinson, surviving partner of the stock brokerage firm of Beers and Owens, assigned today. It was said the liabilities approximated the assets.

It was also said that, following the death on Tuesday of Mr. Beers, it was decided to discontinue the business of the firm. Mr. Beers was the senior member of the firm and had been a member of the New York Stock exchange since 1883. The firm, it was said, had not done much business recently.

HEALTH INSURANCE

Some people are naturally thin. There is also a natural pallor but most people who are both thin and pale are far from well and they need a tonic.

Many people neglect to take a tonic until they get so sick that a tonic is not sufficient just because the demand of the debilitated body is not insistent enough. The pale face, weak nerves, enfeebled digestion are neglected until the point where pain or actual breakdown requires medical treatment. A tonic taken in time is the best health insurance. It supports the overtaxed system, the worried nerves until nature can make repairs.

Build up the blood and you are sending renewed health and strength to every part of the body. The appetite is improved, the digestion is toned up, there is new color in the cheeks and lips, you worry less, become good natured where before you were irritable and you find new joys in living.

Tonic treatment is useful in dyspepsia, rheumatism, anemia and nervous disorders. In many cases it is all the medical treatment that is required.

Free booklets on the blood, nerves and diet will be sent on request by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

SUBJECT OF RECRUITING

TRADES UNION CONGRESS APPROVES ACTION OF PARLIAMENTARY LABOR PARTY

Bristol, England, Sept. 9.—The trades union congress at today's session adopted, virtually without opposition, a resolution presented by the railway clerks' union, on the subject of recruiting. The congress resolved:

"That this congress, being convinced that the issues involved in the present European war, are of transcendent importance to the democracies of this and other countries, hereby records its entire approval of the action of the parliamentary labor party in co-operating with the other political parties in the national recruitnig campaign."

The concensus of opinion as revealed in speeches in support of the resolution was that it was no part of the teaching of trades unionism that it is the duty of man to turn the other cheek to the man who smites him. One speaker said that if, when "dear brother Fritz" invaded Belgium, the British government had not decided to resist this move the men and women of Britain would have forced it to do so.

CONFLICT OF MECHANICS

LLOYD-GEORGE SPEAKS BEFORE TRADE UNIONISTS AT BRISTOL

BRISTOL, Eng., Sept. 9, 4.36 p. m.—Amid uproarious applause and some confusion caused by an insistent delegate demanding the right to question him, David Lloyd-George, the British minister of munitions, addressed a packed hall of trade unionists here this afternoon, striking the keynote of his speech with the declaration that the war had resolved itself into a conflict between the mechanics in the contending nations.

"With you," said the minister, "victory is assured. Without you our cause is lost.

"I come here as the greatest employer of labor in this country. You passed resolutions yesterday pledging yourself to assist the government in a successful prosecution of the war and I am here in behalf of the government to take you at your word."

As between British and German workmen, the minister said, he believed the British were the better.

MURDER OF DR. MOHR

PROVIDENCE POLICE BEGIN SERVING SUMMONSES ON WITNESSES TO APPEAR IN COURT

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 9.—The police began serving summonses on the witnesses who are to appear before the grand jury on Sept. 20, when the evidence against Mrs. Elizabeth Tiffany Blair Mohr and the three negroes accused of complicity in the murder of Dr. C. Franklin Mohr will be presented.

The service of the summonses followed a long conference at police headquarters here attended by Chief Inspector W. F. O'Neil of the local force; Chief of Police Thomas F. Robbins of Barrington, in immediate charge of the investigation of Dr. Mohr's death, and Assistant Attorney General Abbott Phillips.

William H. Lewis of Cambridge, Mass., a former assistant United States attorney general, visited C. Victor Brown, George W. Healis and Henry Spellman, the defendants, at the Bristol county jail at Bristol today. The attorney said he had been asked by Brown's wife in Boston, to talk with the men. Whether he would become their counsel depended on the interview.

PUBLIC HEALTH ASSOCIATION

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Another busy day engaged the delegates to the 43rd annual meeting of the American Public Health association. At the session of the laboratory section papers were read by several health experts. The sections on sanitary engineering and vital statistics heard addresses by Dr. W. H. Davis, statistician, health department, Boston; Dr. Charles V. Chapin, superintendent of health, Providence, R. I., and others.

A discussion was led by R. C. Lappin, chief statistician, division of vital statistics, bureau of census, Washington, D. C.

SENSATIONAL ADVANCE

WAR SPECIALTIES FEATURE AT OPENING—BETHLEHEM MAKES RECORD—CLOSING STRONG

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Further sensational advances in war specialties overshadowed all other operations in today's early market. Bethlehem Steel opened 3 points up, at 302, rising gradually to 310, to which it immediately added another 5 points, exceeding its previous high record by 4 points. The preferred opened at 150 a gain of 9 1-2. Crucible Steel showed an over night gain of 1 3-4 at 89, soon advancing to 90 1-4. Other issues in this group rose 1 to 3 points. United States Steel made an initial gain of a fraction, later rising to 76, a full point. Among railways, Reading, Canadian Pacific and Erie 1st pfd. rose a point each, while Morris and Essex, a Lackawanna subsidiary, declined from 176 3-4, its last previous quotation, to 163.

General Motors was added to the specialties, advancing 10 points, a new record of 265, while Air Brake at 150 and Studebaker at 117 1-2 rose 3 and 4 respectively. Inquiry for U. S. Steel pfd at a gain of 1 1-4 to 114 1-8, its highest quotation since 1912, was ascribed to investment demand. Profit taking caused some recessions in war shares, Bethlehem Steel losing 6 points but suddenly recovering just before noon and advancing to 320, an overnight gain of 21 points. Grangers and Pacific were bought on the crop outlook and New Haven's pronounced strength was attributed to favorable earnings. Bonds were firm.

Railroads were in further demand after mid-day, greatest strength being shown by the northwestern group. Rock Island was the heavy feature of that division. Continued improvement was made by specialties, Bethlehem Steel extending its gain to 325.

Inactive specialties, coppers and some of the eastern railways rose materially in the final trading. The closing was strong.

BOSTON MARKET

BOSTON, Sept. 9.—There was a marked increase in the volume of trading in local mining stocks during the first hours today. Values rose readily and at noon the market was broad and strong.

76 NORWEGIANS PERISHED

41 SHIPS FLYING NORWEGIAN FLAG LOST SINCE BEGINNING OF WAR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Forty-one ships flying the Norwegian flag have been lost since the beginning of war in Europe and 76 sailors have perished, according to a report received at the state department today from the American minister at Christiania. Thirteen ships were destroyed by mines, twenty-four were sunk by torpedoes, three disappeared in the war zone, and one was crushed by a German warship, the report stated. Another ship was taken as a prize to Hamburg.

The extensive losses have impelled the Norwegian War Risk Insurance bureau to increase premiums and adopt additional restrictions.

The bureau to date, the report stated, had sustained losses of $2,600,000, while premiums collected amounted to only $1,820,000.

Recent losses had been almost entirely due to torpedoes, the report stated, and suggested that shortage of explosives had resulted in more restricted use of expensive and unsatisfactory mines.

ADVANCE IN COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—There was a sharp advance in the cotton market today with active months selling 30 points or more above last night's closing figures on heavy general buying, which appeared to be based on reduced estimates of the crop and reports of improving spot demand.

January contracts, after opening at 10.65 early in the day sold up to 10.82 during the afternoon or $3.45 a bale above the low point of last week and fully $9 a bale above the low level of last summer.

HUMIDITY CAUSES PROSTRATIONS

BOSTON, Sept. 9.—The high mark reached by the humidity yesterday caused much discomfort generally and resulted in at least three heat prostrations. They occurred at times when the humidity was at its lowest, but at 8 a. m. and 8 p. m., the two hours of the day at which the weather bureau records the humidity, a mark of 89 was reached.

Sick Women Attention

Is it possible there is a woman in this country who continues to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, which proves beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other one medicine in the world?

We have published in the newspapers of the United States more genuine testimonial letters than have ever been published in the interest of any other medicine for women—and every year we publish many new testimonials, all genuine and true. Here are three never before published:

From Mrs. S. T. Richmond, Providence, R. I.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—"For the benefit of women who suffer as I have done I wish to state what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I did some heavy lifting and the doctor said it caused a displacement. I have always been weak and I overworked after my baby was born and inflammation set in, then nervous prostration, from which I did not recover until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The Compound is my best friend and when I hear of a woman with troubles like mine I try to induce her to take your medicine."—Mrs. S. T. RICHMOND, 84 Progress Avenue, Providence, R.I.

From Mrs. Maria Irwin, Peru, N.Y.

PERU, N.Y.—"Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was very irregular and had much pain. I had lost three children, and felt worn out all the time. This splendid medicine helped me as nothing else had done, and I am thankful every day that I took it."—Mrs. MARIA IRWIN, R.F.D. 1, Peru, N.Y.

From Mrs. Jane D. Duncan, W. Quincy, Mass.

SOUTH QUINCY, MASS.—"The doctor said that I had organic trouble and he doctored me for a long time and I did not get any relief. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and I tried it and found relief before I had finished the first bottle. I continued taking it all through middle life and am now a strong, healthy woman and earn my own living."—Mrs. JANE D. DUNCAN, Forest Avenue, West Quincy, Mass.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, which contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.

AGREE TO PAY RANSOM

UNITED FRUIT CO. TO MEET DEMANDS FOR RELEASE OF MAROWIJNE SURVIVORS

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 9.—The United Fruit company advertised today that it would pay the ransom demanded by an anonymous letter written for Captain McLaren, two members of the crew and two passengers of the lost liner Marowijne, who, the writer says, are held prisoners on an island in the Gulf of Mexico.

The advertisement was signed by C. H. Ellis, vice president of the company. It explained that it was called forth by the receipt of a second anonymous letter from the person who wrote the company on August 23 that five men from the Marowijne were held for ransom and that the ship's papers and the captain's watch had been sent to the company's New York office as proof.

"We have received none of the proofs you refer to at our New York office," the advertisement read. "If you have any proofs present them; we are willing to pay the ransom demanded."

Mr. Ellis said he placed no faith in the anonymous writer's claims, but that he wished if possible to clear up the mystery.

Recent search of the gulf islands by naval and United Fruit vessels revealed no trace of Marowijne survivors.

ALLEGED NON SUPPORT

The first case to be brought up in the local police court under an act passed last April compeling persons over 21 years of age to support their parents was called before Judge Enright today. The defendants were George W., Thomas W., and John J. Fraser and they were accused of unreasonably neglecting and refusing to provide for the support of their mother, Lavinia W. Fraser, an elderly and feeble woman of 80 odd years. The case went to trial under pleas of not guilty and before the evidence was all in Judge Enright decided there was a question whether or not Mrs. Fraser was in destitute circumstances and it was continued for one week for investigation.

Mrs. Fraser sat on a chair on the witness stand and told her story in a very low voice. She said that she had less than a hundred dollars in an out of town bank but had no income and depended upon her sons for support. She lived in Middlesex street, she said, and has been supported by another son for some time. The complaint alleged that George, Thomas and John had not contributed anything towards their mother's support since August 1.

The brothers cross examined their mother at length, asking her if they had not supported her up to a year or two ago. They also questioned her about bankbooks which they claim she has and for this reason the court ordered the continuance to ascertain just how much money the woman has. One of the defendants earns a salary of $22 a week, another $14 and the other $15.

The act under which the complaint was brought reads as follows: "Any person, above the age of twenty-one years, who, being possessed of sufficient means, unreasonably neglects or refuses to provide for the support and maintenance of his parent, whether father or mother, residing in this commonwealth, when such parent through misfortune and without fault of his own is destitute of means of sustenance and unable by reason of old age, infirmity or illness, to support and maintain himself or herself, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $200, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. No such neglect or refusal shall be deemed unreasonable as to a child who shall, not during his or her minority, have been reasonably supported by such parent, if the parent was charged with the duties so to do, nor as to any child, who, being one of two or more children, has made proper and reasonable contribution towards the support of such destitute parent.

Sec. 2—Before the trial, with the consent of the defendant, or at the trial on entery of a plea of guilty or after conviction the court may in its descretion, make such orders and require such conditions for the benefit of such desitute parent as are provided for in the case of a wife or minor child by chapter 456 of the acts of the year 1911 and acts in amendment thereof and in addition thereto, and the practice thereby established shall, so far as if applicable, apply to proceedings under this act.

Section 3 has to do with who may make complaint and with the court having jurisdiction.

NEW TRAIN PROMISED

Burtt, general passenger agent of the Boston & Maine railroad, that there will be inaugurated with the fall schedule a Saturday half-holiday train leaving Boston at 1.05 p. m., stopping at Winchester, Woburn, North Billerica, Silver Lake and Wilmington and terminating at Lowell, thus giving Lowell men working in Boston a chance to get a train to Lowell shortly after noon on Saturdays. It is further announced that the 9.45 p. m. train from Boston to Lowell will be continued this winter.

For some time Secretary Murphy has been endeavoring to secure from the railroad a change in the schedule so that the train leaving Boston at 12.30 p. m. could leave Boston at 1 p. m. as was the case for many years. The efforts to improve the 2 o'clock afternoon train will also be continued.

MET AFTER 23 YEARS

After having been parted for 23 years, Mrs. Peter Bennett of 285 Worcester avenue, Pasadena, Cal., and her brother, Percy Allen of Sydney, Australia, had a delightful reunion a few days ago, when Mr. Allen ran down from San Francisco, where his ship was in port, to pay his sister a flying visit.

Mrs. Bennett resided in this city for many years, her last residence being in Epping street. Some eight years ago she removed to Pasadena, Cal., with her family and has been making her home there since.

In spite of the long separation which had preceded the brother's visit, the latter's stay had to be a brief one, as the return trip to Sydney was booked for the next day after his arrival. Since the brother and sister parted in the old home in England, so long ago, so many things have happened that they scarcely had time to gather up the threads of the broken comradeship. Mr. Allen, at present one of the officers of the Royal Mail liner, H. M. S. Marana, has traveled all over the world in his capacity of ship's officer, but, nevertheless, was so charmed with Pasadena that he has promised to bring his wife and daughter there to make their home.

Under certain conditions, they said, the German government would release these goods and they asked Secretary Lansing to endeavor to meet those conditions.

Secretary Lansing promised to do everything possible.

Beautiful Pageant Presented at the Butler Grounds—Fine Entertainment

The evening celebration at the unique lawn fete held under the auspices of the Lowell Equal Suffrage association at the Butler residence, Andover street was even more successful than in the afternoon. The night air was cooling, and the great number of special lights gave a touch of fairyland which provided enchanting vistas and made a wonderful setting for the various events.

The attendance was most gratifying, being in excess of the highest expectations and all who attended seemed to enter heartily into the spirit of the occasion. The greater part of the lawn had been utilized in arranging the special features and there was a constant stream of people passing from booth to booth or strolling in informal gaiety under the great trees. The hundreds of tables were well patronized during the pop concert, and everything provided for enjoyment seemed to attract hearty patronage. Though it is rather early to ascertain the exact financial returns, there can be no doubt that the successful lawn fete will send a substantial sum into the local treasury of the suffrage workers.

In the early part of the evening the special feature was a repetition of the fancy dancing exhibition given in the afternoon under the direction of Miss L. Blanche Perrin. Though the dancing was beautiful in the afternoon, it was more so at night as the great tennis court was flooded with many-colored lights with a few special spotlights of unusual brilliancy playing on the dancers. The many evolutions were graceful and interesting, and the brilliant costumes showed up wonderfully in the gleam of the lights. Many hundred people were ranged around the open air stage, and the applause that followed each solo or ensemble dance was prompt and generous. Some of the dances were involved and pantomimic, being reminiscent of the open air pageants given at some of the leading society functions during the last season.

After the dancing, the Sixth Regiment band gave a concert of many numbers while hundreds patronized the open air tables. Others passed from booth to booth, enjoying the multiplicity of activities. One of the stellar attractions was the fortune telling tent under the direction of Dr. Emma E. Slaughter. The patrons were lined up at all times in eager anticipation and the comments heard as they came from the inner sanctum proved that they were well satisfied.

The grab system under the direction of Mrs. Lewis E. MacBrayne proved to be a popular attraction, and the candy table in charge of Miss Gertrude Harvey, assisted by a corps of charming young ladies was well patronized. The suffrage literature table, under the direction of Mrs. Charles D. Palmer proved a magnet throughout the evening, and it also turned out to be a prolific aviary of bluebirds which were bought in great number as souvenirs of the occasion. Mrs. Natt Peabody had charge of the refreshment table which to many was the loveliest thing on the grounds.

The general committee, of which Mrs. Paul Butler was the efficient chairman, is to be congratulated on the success of the whole, for to their skilful management a great deal is due. The suffrage association feels greatly indebted to Mrs. Paul Butler not only for the use of the spacious and lovely grounds but for the active and practical aid given so generously.

Mrs. Boyden Pillsbury was chairman of the pop concert committee, which was responsible for the musical entertainment. After the concert proper the Sixth regiment band played informally for dancing until after 11 p. m. and scores of young couples waltzed and one-stepped to their hearts' content on the canvas floor of the tennis court. Mrs. M. C. Hall did great work as chairman of the grounds committee and expressions of admiration were heard on all sides for the lovely lights and the many special decorative features.

Following are the committee heads: General committee: Mrs. Paul Butler, chairman, Mrs. C. Brooks Stevens, Mrs. M. C. Hall; grounds, Mrs. M. C. Hall; pop concert, Mrs. Boyden Pillsbury; refreshments, Mrs. Nath. Peabody; entertainment, Miss Katherine F. McCarthy; tickets, Miss Bertha M. Abbott; grabs, Mrs. Lewis E. MacBrayne; candy, Miss Gertrude Harvey; suffrage, Mrs. Charles D. Palmer; fortunes, Dr. Emma E. Slaughter.

OPERA HOUSE

All roads lead to the Opera House these days with the Emerson players offering "Within the Law," Bayard Veiller's remarkable and sensational drama,—the very same play that has thrilled the whole world. All Lowell is talking about the Emerson players and "Within the Law." Never before has such enthusiasm been shown in any theatrical venture and never before have such big crowds attended any stock production in Lowell. The high standard and the ability of the Emerson players, the wonderful reputation of "Within the Law" and the theatre beautiful of Lowell, form the magnet that is drawing the big crowds to the Gorham street playhouse and assures the theatre patrons of the most enjoyable dramatic season in years.

"Within the Law" is the play with the punch and it has scored a remarkable success. It is produced by the Emerson players in all the splendor of the original production and the acting by the entire aggregation of stars, is, without any doubt, the best seen in this city in many years. Miss Ann O'Day has become a great favorite by her clever portrayal of Mary Turner while Homer Barton as Joe Garson is displaying his great ability as an actor. Joe Crehan, Carson Davenport, Dora Booth, Darel Goodwin, Henry Crosson, Forrest Gordon Herbert Augustin, Gertrude Shirley, Hubert Pierce, Walter von Boekman, George Hunt, Walter Spencer, Frank Walsh and other members of the company play their parts finely. The scenic production is of unusual beauty and is clothed in the same lavish manner as the original production with not even the slightest detail missing.

Patrons are advised by the management to make reservations for seats early as the demand is large. "Within the Law" is a wonderful attraction and has been the talk of all Lowell since its first production here Monday afternoon by the Emerson players and the packed houses all the week is testimonial to the wonderful impression made upon Lowell audiences by both the players and the play. Phone 261 for seats. They will be held until 1.45 in the afternoon and 7.45 at night.

Another ripping success will be presented by the Emerson players at the Opera house all next week, starting Monday afternoon in "Seven Keys to Baldpate," George M. Cohan's own brilliant success which scored such a tremendous hit at the Tremont theatre in Boston last winter at $2 prices, turning thousands of patrons away each week. "Seven Keys to Baldpate" is being offered for the first time by the Sites-Emerson company at popular prices and this week, the play is turning away hundreds at every performance at the Academy of Music, Haverhill, another big time stock house controlled by the Sites-Emerson company.

"Seven Keys to Baldpate" is the highest royalty attraction ever released for stock and comes to Lowell with a wonderful reputation of having packed theatres throughout the country at topmost prices. The rights of the play have been secured by special arrangement with Mr. Cohan himself.

Seats are now selling for the entire week, which starts with a special Monday matinee. The play is positively limited to one week.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Try Keith's, these summery days, and get a breath of clean, cool air, the while you witness Mercedes and Mlle. Stantone in their astounding demonstration of mental telepathy. Keith has the latest arrangements for the continual presence of fresh air, and for the exclusion of that which is in the theatre. It's a great system. None other in town approaches it.

Mercedes and his companion, Mlle. Stantone, continue to astonish with their very remarkable demonstrations. Yesterday Mercedes transmitted through the ether to the pianist some unusual musical numbers, among them being the spinning song from "The Flying Dutchman," Liszt's Second Hungarian Rhapsody, the Meditation of "Thais," "Mighty Lak' a Rose," and others. Of course there were played numbers more common than these, and they ran the whole gamut, from ragtime to grand opera. Among them were: "Poet and Peasant" overture, "La Marseillaise, "International Rag," "Too Much Mustard," "The Shepherd's Dream," "Beautiful Lady," and several tango numbers.

Mercedes invites cooperation from his audiences. Unless they endeavor to put him to a test, the performance falls short of the brilliancy which is always attained when there are many requests for numbers. In several instances Mlle. Stantone has played numbers which Mercedes had never heard of. There has been no chance of collusion by this method, if one is skeptical enough to admit that the ordinary performance is one carried on by a code. If, by the mere thinking of music, you find Mlle. Stantone playing, then you must be convinced that the performance does not descend to the basis of mere clever trickery. But four more performances remain in which to see this telepathic wizard. Everybody is interested more or less in the occult, and the present is a splendid demonstration of it. There are seven other acts on the bill, including: Swan & Swan, El Rey Sisters, Wilton Sisters, Munroe & Mack, Brent Hayes and the Hearst-Selig News Pictorial.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Never before did Mary Pickford please her audience to a greater degree than she did yesterday at the Merrimack Square theatre in the leading role of "Esmeralda," the five-act Paramount picture which is appearing at this popular theatre. Little Mary was seen very advantageously in the role of the little country girl who must give up the country home so dear to her in order that her mother's social ambitions may be furthered. The play possesses intense realism and has many dainty touches of subdued humor. It will be continued today and tomorrow. "Temper" is the title of the gripping and thrilling three-act drama also on the program. The Paramount travel pictures and the humorous Charlie Chaplin comedy were also found to be very entertaining. The same program will be continued today and tomorrow.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Of course you've read Kipling's poem, "The Vampire," and of course you know that while descriptive of a certain type, it is not true as a generality. Were this so, life would possess little charm.

But Kipling's poem has suggested a play in which the type depicted in "The Vampire" is presented more

THEDA BARA
In "A Fool There Was" at the Academy of Music

forcefully even than the original. And the title is "A Fool There Was," as in the first line of the famous poem.

Theda Bara plays "The Vampire" very effectively, though it is not a part that appeals to the average stage woman. Edward Jose is "the fool" and there isn't the least doubt of it. It's a story fascinating from start to finish.

Other features are "The Man With the Iron Heart," "The Wardrobe Woman," "Teasing a Tornado."

REPLY TO ZEPPELIN RAIDS

LONDON ANSWERS ATTACKS BY RECRUITING LARGE ARMY FOR SERVICE AT FRONT

LONDON, Sept. 10, 11.55 a. m.—"The answer of the people of London and the London district to these exercises in frightfulness may be given in an episode mentioned in the Manchester Guardian, says the Spectator in commenting upon the Zeppelin raids of Tuesday and Wednesday nights. "A recruiting sergeant has been addressing crowds from a platform made of debris of ruined houses and the results have been excellent.

The Daily Mirror says the reply of London was a great army of recruits. A large number of volunteers presented themselves at Trafalgar square, this newspaper says and in every part of the country men flocked to the colors.

The Evening Standard expresses the hope that the British government will announce its determination to hold the head of the German aircraft service personally responsible for the deaths occasioned by the Zeppelin raids.

The Globe and other newspapers take the view that every air raid on London or other English cities should be followed immediately by attacks on such German cities as Cologne, Strassburg, Karlsruhe and Dusseldorf, which are within easy reach of Belfort, France. "It is time this supersqueamishness was gone," says the Globe.

Principal Trubey Conducts Part Time School—Mills are Busy—Other Notes of Village

The grammar and high schools of North Chelmsford opened this week with a large attendance. Principal Arthur W. Trubey and all the teachers of the grammar schools have been reappointed, the only change in the teaching staff being that occasioned by the departure of Misses Adella McMillan and Gertrude E. Sawyer for other schools. They will be replaced by Miss Helen Robinson of Bath, Me., who will have charge of the commercial classes and Miss Clara E. McComber of Nashua, N. H., as teacher of English. The first session was held on Tuesday morning, but little work was done as most of the time was spent arranging the new students in their classrooms. During the remainder of the week, however, the regular studies were started and the majority of the scholars are reported to have made good progress. Principal Trubey will continue his idea of half time study and half time industrial work which proved so successful last year and he will have the co-operation of a number of prominent manufacturers.

Delightful Party

A delightful party was held this week at the home of Miss Alice P. Freeze in Washington street, the event being in honor of Miss Marion Varney, who has left to take up a training course at the Peter Bent Brigham hospital in Boston. There were about a dozen intimate friends of the young lady present and all spent a very enjoyable time. Whist and other games of a social character were played during the evening, these being interspersed by the serving of refreshments by the hostess, who was assisted by Miss Mildred Foote. The party broke up at a seasonable hour all wishing Miss Varney all kinds of success in her chosen vocation.

Miss Quigley Appointed

Miss Gertrude Quigley, one of the most prominent young ladies in the village, has accepted a position as supervisor of music for the Medway and Sherburne schools, starting upon her duties this week. Miss Quigley, who is the able organist at St. John's church, is a former pupil of Albert Edmund Brown, and is well known in a number of cities of the state for her musical ability.

Cornell Family Reunion

The members of the Cornell family held their annual reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Cornell this week, a large number of relatives and friends being present for the occasion. Members of the family started to arrive as early as last Saturday afternoon and the remainder made their appearance Sunday morning. An appetizing luncheon was served on the green at the side of the Cornell home and an enjoyable musical and literary program was given. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. James Cornell, host and hostess; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Cornell, Hudson, N. H.; Miss Ida Cornell, Lowell; Mrs. Mary Dart, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sawyer and family, Dorchester; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cornell, Hudson, N. H.; Harry Cornell and family, Hudson, N. H., and many others. A letter was also received from George E. Cornell of Lecompton, Kan., who expressed his regret at being unable to be present.

The Mills

The mill situation remains unchanged and the industries of North Chelmsford are still running prosperously. Night work is being done in the Silesia Mills, G. C. Moore mills and North Chelmsford Machine & Supply Co., and the Lowell Textile Co., is very busy. If the Silesia mills can obtain sufficient wool they will be enabled to run steadily all winter, and in this event the G. C. Moore mills will also be busy, as the wool is scoured at the latter plant.

Hen Thieves Busy

Hen thieves are busy in the pretty little village and a number of breaks have been reported of late. The last to occur was last Saturday evening when William John Knox of Dunstable road lost three valuable Rhode Island pullets. Mr. Knox thinks he knows the chicken coop invaders and prosecution is contemplated. Many other complaints have been made, but so far very few of the robbers have been apprehended.

THE SITUATION TODAY

The Red Sox are: 1 1-2 games ahead of Detroit, 7 1-2 games ahead of Chicago.

The Braves are: 4 games behind Philadelphia, 1 game behind Brooklyn; 6 games ahead of St. Louis, 6 1-2 games ahead of Chicago, 7 1-2 games ahead of Pittsburgh; 8 1-2 games ahead of Pittsburgh; 8 1-2 games ahead of New York.

FOREIGN CREDIT LOAN

N. Y. FINANCIERS AND ANGLO-FRENCH COMMISSION MEET—LAPLAND REACHED NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The joint Anglo-French financial commission of six members deputed by Great Britain and France to adjust the foreign exchange situation here, reached New York today aboard the steamship Lapland from Liverpool.

They were met at quarantine by J. P. Morgan and H. P. Davison, one of Mr. Morgan's partners, who escorted them to their headquarters in the city. This afternoon the commission will meet a number of New York bankers in the library of Mr. Morgan's home and enter upon the first of a series of negotiations looking towards the establishment of a big foreign credit loan.

Convoyed By Destroyers

The Lapland was convoyed by two British torpedo boat destroyers through the war zone.

A formal statement, issued on the commission's behalf, was the only expression made by any member of the party for publication. This statement, issued at quarantine, reads as follows:

Visitors' Statement

"The joint Anglo-French mission under the chairmanship of Lord Reading which has been sent to the United States in connection with the question of the exchanges between New York, London and Paris, arrived this morning by the Red Star steamer Lapland.

"The British delegates are the Right Honorable the Lord Reading of Erleigh, G. C. B., K. C. V. O., (the lord chief justice of England); Sir Edward Holden, Bart; Sir Henry Babington Smith, K. C. B., C. S. I.; and Mr. Basil P. Blackett, C. B., of the British treasury. The French delegates are M. Octav Pomberg, representing the French treasury, and M. Ernest Mallet, director of the Banque de France.

"The object of the visit of the mission is to consult with the American bankers and others as to the best means to be adopted for regulating the exchanges between New York, London and Paris in order that the commerce and industry of the three countries may suffer as little as possible during the course of the war. Mr. Blackett will act as secretary to the mission."

Members of the commission declined to confirm or deny the report brought to New York two days ago by passengers on the steamer Rydam to the effect that the commission would act for Russia as well as for Great Britain and France. It was understood, however, that the report was well founded and that the result of negotiations to this end, already believed to be in progress in London among the finance ministers of France and Russia and the British chancellor of the exchequer, would be communicated by cable to the delegation here.

J. P. Morgan's Statement

J. P. Morgan, who greeted the deputation at quarantine, said the meeting in his library this afternoon was to be primarily a social affair.

"It would be unreasonable to assume," Mr. Morgan said, "that these gentlemen at the end of a long voyage would plunge immediately into their work here. They have first to meet the men with whom they will negotiate. That's what they expect to do this afternoon."

Mr. Morgan would not say if this meeting, at which only New York financiers will be presented to the commission, would be followed, as reported, by other meetings at which bankers from the chief cities of the United States would be present and discuss the situation as viewed by them.

Foreign exchange rates, whose adjustment is the prime purpose of the commission, continued their upward climb today.

Petit Gironde Explains the Activity of the German Craft In the Bay of Biscay

BORDEAUX, France, Sept. 10, 4.45 a. m.—In explanation of the activity of German submarines in the Bay of Biscay, the assertion is made by the Petit Gironde that a steamer registered at Bilbao, Spain, left that port recently with 300 barrels of benzine. Where the cargo was unloaded is unknown but soon after the steamer left port empty barrels were seen floating on the sea. The newspaper declares that the same steamer took 50 barrels of benzine to a submarine at Concha de Artedo last June.

Private advices received at Bilbao state that agents have been scouring the north of Spain for gasoline, which has been sent to Bay of Biscay ports.

TURNED TIDE OF BATTLE

ANNIVERSARY OF GEN. MAUNOURY'S VICTORY OVER GERMANS ON OURCQ RIVER

PARIS, Sept. 10, 4:50 a. m.—Members of the chamber of deputies representing Paris and the department of the Seine adopted yesterday an address to Gen. Michael Joseph Maunoury, former military governor of Paris, to be presented today, the anniversary of his victory over the Germans on the Ourcq river. After recalling the circumstances and what the achievement meant for Paris, the address says:

"On Sept. 10, contemplating the enemy's rout, you said: 'I had waited for that for 44 years.' Your wait had been long, but the gratitude of the inhabitants of Paris will be eternal."

Gen. Maunoury was sent by General Joffre to the extreme left wing of the French army to parry the rapid advance of the German right on Paris. The difficult task of assembling an army transported by rail in the face of an advancing enemy was successfully accomplished by General Maunoury and his army was ready at the appointed time to deliver the blow that marked the change in the tide of battle. He was wounded March 12 last while inspecting German positions from the first line of French trenches.

Merrimack Clothing Co.,
Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen:

Received in yesterday's mail, Lowell paper and notice you are advertising Lamson & Hubbard hats at a ridiculous cut price. This sort of advertising hurts us not only in Lowell, but in adjoining cities. Our customers claim this is nothing more than a cut-price proposition and refuse to handle our goods if we allow our customers to cut prices on our hats in this manner.

We would appreciate it very much if you would discontinue using our name in connection with this sort of advertising. We do not think it necessary to mention Lamson & Hubbard. It would have been just as effective had you mentioned $3.00 hats and omitted maker's name. We hope you will interpret this letter as we intended it, and if you do, we feel sure you will agree with us that such advertising injures us.

Hoping you will see fit to discontinue our name in this sort of advertising, we remain.

Yours truly,

Gentlemen:-

We have your favor of August 26th, and contents noted.

In reply we will not insert by name in our advertisements "Lamson & Hubbard" Hats for 5 cts. with $15.00 Suits.

But seeing that some dealers are a trifle finicky, in the future our "Ad" will read like this,- Hats as good as "Lamson & Hubbard's" or any other standard make for 5 cts. with our $15.00 Suits.

Trusting this will meet with your approval and allay the feeling of the trade, we are,

Respectfully yours,
Merrimack Clothing Co
By Humphrey Sullivan

The above offer will hold good for Friday and Saturday of This Week Only.

There are some 70 Suits in the lot, and comprise worsteds, cheviots and cassimeres, in all sizes up to 48.

O'Sullivan Says

I don't know how it is with you, but personally I find more trouble in selecting a becoming hat than in selecting a satisfactory fitting suit of clothes.

If you're a bit finicky about your hats, just visit the Hat Department of the Merrimack Clothing Co. It's the brightest and most magnetic spot in the store.

New lights have been installed there—you can't have any too much light on the hat question—and then there are different widths of brims and heights of crowns in Derbies and Soft Hats that should make it easy for you to be pleased.

As is usual at the first of the season, $3.00 Hats are more in demand. You will find all the standard makes here, with the self-conforming feature that appeals to so many men.

LISTEN—The Merrimack is not using that fake scheme of allowing you 50 cents for your old straw hat, but a 50 cent lucky tie goes with every $3.00 hat Friday and Saturday.

This isn't saying there aren't $2.00 Hats here in plenty—but this week we're busy on the $3.00 article—and want you to have one of our lucky ties.

HOW THIN PEOPLE CAN PUT ON FLESH

Thin men and women—that big, hearty, filling dinner you ate last night. What became of all the fat-producing nourishment it contained? You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there, but your food doesn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of thin folks the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation, are probably sadly out of gear and need reconstruction.

Cut out the foolish foods and funny sawdust diets. Cut out everything but the meals you are eating and eat with every one of those a single Sargol tablet. In two weeks note the difference. Let the scales be the judge. Five to eight good solid pounds of healthy, "stay-there" fat may be the net result. Sargol aims to charge weak, stagnant blood with millions of fresh new red blood corpuscles—to give the blood the carrying power to deliver every ounce of fat-making material in your food to every part of your body. Sargol, too, mixes with your food, to prepare it for the blood in an easily assimilated form. Thin people tell how they have gained all the way from 10 to 25 pounds a month while taking Sargol and say that the new flesh stays put. Sargol tablets are a careful combination of six of the best assimilative elements known to chemistry. They come 40 tablets to a package, are pleasant, harmless and inexpensive, and all good druggists in this vicinity sell them subject to an absolute guarantee of weight increase or money back as found in every large package.

Prompt Answer to German Note

PRES. WILSON TAKES UP GERMAN NOTE ON ARABIC

Refuses to Pay Indemnity—Defends U-Boat Chief—Must Refer Case to The Hague

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—President Wilson and his advisers began consideration today of Germany's note explaining the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic.

Prompt Answer

It is understood that the United States government would be willing to submit to The Hague the question of how much indemnity should be paid, but it is improbable that it will consent to arbitrate the principle involved. An answer to Germany is expected to go forward promptly.

While the text of the memorandum, as received from Berlin in press despatches, was published today, officials refused to make any comment pending a complete study of the official note forwarded by Ambassador Gerard. The newspaper text, which stated that Germany refused to admit obligation to pay indemnity for American lives lost, even if it should develop that the submarine commander was in error in thinking the Arabic meant to ram him, was widely commented upon. Previous despatches had stated that Germany would offer to submit the matter of reparation to The Hague. Intimations then followed from high officials here that such a proposal would be

Charge Witnesses in Masher Trial With Luring Men to Accost Them—Defendants Fined $20

That the young lady used by the police in the execution of the plot to catch so-called "mashers" on Kirk street last Saturday night stood on the corner and tempted men to at first flirt with her and subsequently make advancements toward her, was the defence offered when some of the six cases on the list were tried before Judge Enright in the local court this noon. The cases were lengthy and occupied considerable time, Attorneys Donahue and O'Connor severely grilling the government's witnesses in an effort to prove there was no violation of the statute by any of the six defendants. Supt. Welch and Deputy Downey prosecuted the cases.

The star witness for the government was Miss Margaret V. Schock, 28, business secretary of the Y. W. C. A. During her testimony Miss Schock admitted that she was on Kirk street Saturday night to "get" any men who might attempt to speak to her. At one time, she said, when a man did not go quite far enough in his flirtations, she asked him a question about going to a room in order to get some definite evidence. The other witnesses included Sergt. Petrie, and Miss Emily Skilton,

By order of the court, Williams was taken to the home of Chief James, where he was identified by the officer as one of the men who assaulted him in the police station. Williams, who is also known as Walter Welsh, said that he lived in Syracuse, N. Y., but the police assert he belongs in Boston.

PRESENTED TRAVELING BAG

Miss Florence Hunter, who is about to leave for Framingham, where she has accepted a government position, was agreeably surprised last evening, when her friends gathered at her home on Princeton street and presented her a handsome traveling bag. Although taken by surprise, Miss Hunter, thanked her friends gracefully, and assured them that she would never forget their kindness.

A splendid musical program was rendered and refreshments were served. The party broke up at a late hour, everyone wishing Miss Hunter success in her new position.

DR. DUMBA on STEPS of STATE DEPARTMENT BUILDING

Pres. Wilson's Request to Austria to Recall Ambassador Dumba Has Brought Situation Which May Extend to Other Diplomats of the Germanic Allies—Others May be Asked to Leave Country

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—President Wilson's request to Austria to recall her ambassador, Dr. Constantin Theodor Dumba, has brought about a situation which contains possibilities of extension to other diplomats of the Germanic allies.

Dr. Dumba used James F. J. Archibald, an American bearing an American passport as a messenger to carry a communication to the Vienna foreign office. Although it has not been called officially to the attention of this government, the state department understands officially that Archibald also carried a communication for Capt. von Papen, military attache of the German embassy.

GERMANS TAKE FRENCH TRENCHES BY STORM

Heavy fighting has been in progress in the Vosges region and the Germans announce that they have captured by storm French trenches at Schratzmannele and Hartmanns-Weilerkopf.

Paris admits the gain of ground by the Germans but declares that nearly all the territory lost at Schratzmannele was regained and that the Germans were driven out of the trenches they had won at Hartmanns-Weilerkopf.

The Teutonic armies engaged with the Russians on the eastern front are making slower progress. The forces of the Russian emperor are occasionally taking up a successful offensive on the southern end of the line. In the north there is little change and the Germans are reported to be digging themselves in near Vilna.

Olivier Renaud, a sparrow man in Middlesex street, was struck and knocked down by an automobile driven by Amedee Bibeault of 33 Fifth avenue, while at his work at 1.20 o'clock this afternoon. He was removed to his home in Grand street, complaining of injuries to his back, though the attending physician could not find any abrasion. Bibeault called at the police station shortly after the accident and left his name and address. He states the accident was unavoidable.

PASS SCENE OF MURDER

MEN HELD IN CONNECTION WITH DEATH OF DR. MOHR REMOVED TO CRANSTON JAIL

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 10.—George Healis, C. Victor Brown and Henry Spellman, the negroes charged with the murder of Dr. C. Franklin Mohr, were removed today from the Bristol county jail at Bristol to the Providence county jail at Cranston.

The negroes were handcuffed together and placed in the rear seat of a touring car. They appeared cheerful and were laughing and talking when they passed the scene of the murder at Nayatt. They will be brought back to Warren next Thursday for a hearing, at which time it is expected that the state will ask for a postponement pending the action of the grand jury a week later.

The transfer was made on account of the limited facilities for caring for the men in the Bristol institution.

LAFAYETTE CLUB OUTING

ENJOYABLE AFTERNOON SPENT AT THE MARTIN LUTHER GROUNDS—A FEW CANDIDATES PRESENT

The Martin Luther grounds in Tyngsboro were yesterday the scene of a highly enjoyable outing it being the second annual "fete champetre" of the Lafayette club. The outing was one of those family affairs, only the members and close friends being present, and the three principal officers of the club, Dr. Joseph E. Lamoureaux, president, Ernest J. Dupont, secretary and Frederick Lamoureux, treasurer, who had charge of the arrangements, were warmly congratulated for the success of the event.

The weather was ideal for such an occasion, providing one kept in the shade, and the outing grounds were well laid out for this purpose, the beautiful pine knoll in the rear of the building providing shelter from the hot rays of the sun. Despite the intense heat, however, all present spent a most enjoyable afternoon and the 1915 outing will be long remembered by all who were in attendance.

Shortly after 12.30 o'clock some 90 members of the club and several friends left the club quarters in Merrimack street in automobiles, over 30 machines being pressed into service, and the merry crowd journeyed to Tyngsboro. Upon reaching the grounds all partook of a dainty buffet luncheon and the first number on the amusement program was the traditional baseball game between the married and the unmarried men, the former aggregation being headed by School Committeeman W. P. Cusse and the latter by Arthur Lambert. The game was halted at the sixth inning after the umpire got wise to the fact that the fielders were using parasols to protect themselves from the sun. The score was then 3 to 2 in favor of the benedicts, but the sons refused to admit their defeat and it is possible the game will be played over again before the snow flies. It was said that Dr. G. O. Lavallee and Omer Allard were responsible for the abrupt ending of the game as they constituted the fielding battery that used parasols.

At the close of the contest all repaired to the pavillion, where seats had been provided in the shade, while a pillow fight exhibition, which proved most interesting was given by many of the best battlers of the organization. The horse had been erected opposite the pavillion and when the first two men mounted it, the real fun started. The palm for pillow fighting went to John Ronsseli, who held his position on the wooden horse for over half an hour, defeating all comers. Even Ovila Morin, who tips the scale at about 240 pounds, and Z. A. Normandin, the heavyweight champion of the club could not resist the forceful blows given by Expert Ronsseli.

Adelard Berard and Rep. Henry Achin, both candidates for representative in the 17th district were present. Of course the result of the match was not to determine who would win out on election day, but be that as it may the first gentle tap given by Rep. Achin sent his opponent rolling to the mat below. A feature of the pillow fight was the match between Dr. L. E. Schiller and L. P. Turcotte. Each man felt he could down his opponent and the odds seemed to be on L. P. But as luck had it, the doctor after swinging his pillow over his head, landed a knockout blow upon his opponent and two seconds later, Mr. Turcotte found himself in a heap on the mat. Several other warm contests took place until the bell was sounded for dinner.

Tables had been laid under the pine trees and this was where the most pleasant half hour was spent. The menu consisted of fish chowder, sweet corn, baked fish, steamed clams and lobster, with fixings. At the close of the dinner sporting events consisting of 100-yard dash, 50-yard dash and other running and jumping races were carried out.

Assessor Albert J. Blazon wore the most unique costume of the day, and inasmuch as he was snapped in his regalia, and the picture will be on exhibition in a Merrimack street store within a few days, the description of the costume will not be given. The homeward trip was started shortly before 6 o'clock and all repaired to the club rooms where a social hour was enjoyed. Among the guests present were Commissioners Morse and Putnam, Rep. Henry Achin, Mr. Mosser, candidate for sheriff and others.

manner in which Dr. Dumba used an abuse of American passport.

While officials refused to discuss the situation further it is known that the activities of Consul General von Nuber of Austria as well as those of Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, are again being reviewed by the state department.

Captain von Papen's letter, which was a private communication to his wife, is now on its way to the state department from London. Officials said the fact that it was a private and not an official communication did not alter the case any. It is understood that the writer made slighting reference to American officials.

To Bring About Strikes

Another document for which officials are waiting is an enclosure in Dr. Dumba's letter which referred to negotiations between Consul General von Nuber and the editor of a foreign language newspaper concerning bringing about strikes in the Bethlehem Steel works and other munitions factories.

It was made plain, however, that, while the state department for some time has been fully advised of the activities of Count von Bernstorff, he was not involved to the extent of being in the same position as Dr. Dumba, but that there was serious consideration of whether Capt. von Papen or Consul General von Nuber should be allowed to remain longer in this country.

Conspiracy Charged

Archibald also carried a communication for Count von Bernstorff, but it was a copy of a statement which had been forwarded to the German ambassador by Secretary Lansing. In the note to the Vienna foreign office asking Dr. Dumba's recall, Secretary Lansing referred to the purpose of the ambassador to conspire to cripple legitimate industries in the United States. Officials were engaged today in a study of whether Capt. von Papen and Consul General von Nuber were not concerned in what the American government has characterized as a conspiracy.

One official who has been studying the details of the situation said today that while the German ambassador, in sending a communication by a person carrying an American passport may have technically contributed to an abuse of that document, the nature of the communication he sent was so far removed from the others and of such legitimate character that his act probably would not be regarded as offensive.

Decidedly Offensive

Capt. von Papen's letter, however, is said to be decidedly offensive, as is the nature of Consul General von Nuber's connection with the affair as disclosed by the papers which the British secret service men took from Archibald at Falmouth.

It was believed in the best informed sources today that further steps would not be taken until the additional documentary evidence comes from London and until Vienna has been heard from on President Wilson's request for the recall of Dr. Dumba. It is expected that Austria will recall her ambassador without delay, but if she resents the action of the United States and stands behind the action of her envoy she may not send another. The withdrawal of a consul general can be brought about in two ways. Either his exequator can be cancelled and his government notified that such action has been taken, or his government can be notified that he is no longer persona grata. The latter method is considered less drastic.

RECALL DEMANDED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Ambassador Penfield at Vienna has been instructed by cable to inform the Austro-Hungarian government that Dr. Constantin Dumba no longer is acceptable as an envoy to the United States and to ask for his recall.

Secretary Lansing formally announced the action last night. It was the answer of the American government to Dr. Dumba's explanation of his intercepted letter to Vienna outlining plans for handicapping plants in this country making war supplies for the allies, thus interfering in the internal affairs of the United States.

To Continue Cordial Relations

Ambassador Penfield was instructed by cable to deliver the following note to the foreign office:

"Mr. Constantin Dumba, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador at Washington, has admitted that he proposed to his government plans to instigate strikes in American manufacturing plants engaged in the production of munitions of war.

"The information reached this government through a copy of a letter of the ambassador to his government. The bearer was an American citizen named Archibald, who was traveling under an American passport. The ambassador has admitted that he employed Archibald to bear official dispatches from him to his government.

"By reason of the admitted purpose and intent of Mr. Dumba to conspire to cripple legitimate industries of the people of the United States and to interrupt their legitimate trade, and by reason of the flagrant violation of diplomatic propriety in employing an American citizen protected by an American passport as a secret bearer of official despatches through the lines of the enemy of Austria-Hungary, the president directs me to inform your excellency that Mr. Dumba is no longer acceptable to the government of the United States as the ambassador of His Imperial Majesty at Washington.

"Believing that the imperial and royal government will realize that the government of the United States has no alternative but to request the recall of Mr. Dumba on account of his improper conduct, the government of the United States expresses its deep regret that this course has become necessary and assures the imperial and royal government that it sincerely desires to continue the cordial and friendly relations which exist between the United States and Austria-Hungary."

DUMBA VISITS VON BERNSTORFF

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Dr. Constantin T. Dumba, ambassador to the United States from Austro-Hungary, whose recall has been asked by Washington, spent a good part of last night in conference with the German ambassador, Count von Bernstorff at the latter's hotel. The two envoys were still there early this morning when Count von Hohenlohe, an attache of the Austrian embassy in answer to many requests for an expression regarding the action of the United States government, made the following statement:

"The action of Mr. Lansing and the state department had been anticipated and is no surprise to Dr. Dumba."

The two ambassadors went for a drive yesterday evening and dined together upon their return. Count von Bernstorff said that he intended to go to his summer place at Cedarhurst, L. I. Dr. Dumba had nothing to say regarding his future movements.

AWAIT ANSWER AT CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—News of Austria-Hungary's reception of the American note requesting the recall of Ambassador Dumba eagerly was awaited here today in government and diplomatic circles. Officials of the administration appeared optimistic in the belief that the summary action would not result in any international issue, while diplomats close to the Austro-Hungarian embassy were understood to believe that the Vienna government immediately would comply with the request.

The recall of the envoy was asked for in a communication from Secretary Lansing which Ambassador Penfield at Vienna was to deliver immediately to the Austrian foreign minister.

The note expressed regret for the necessity of requesting Mr. Dumba's recall and gave assurances of a desire for the continuation of cordial and friendly relations between the United States and Austro-Hungary.

Ambassador Penfield, it was believed here, could have effected delivery of the note by today. When a response would be received and the form it would take, was a matter of speculation.

Despite belief expresed in some circles that Vienna would not hesitate to comply with Secretary Lansing's request, it was admitted that if the Vienna foreign office should determine to uphold the ambassador severance of diplomatic relations probably would result. Such a development even if war did not follow, would seriously affect America's role of diplomatic representative for Austria-Hungary and other European belligerents.

Dr. Dumba probably will not be compelled to accept his passports, but will be permitted to remain in the United States at will and await word from Vienna. If he wants to return home the United States must secure assurances of safe conduct for him from Great Britain and her allies.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Dr. Constantin Dumba, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador, whose recall has been asked by the United States government, left for his summer home at Lenox, Mass., early today, according to information given out at the St. Regis, where the ambassador spent the night after a protracted talk with the German ambassador, Count von Bernstorff.

There were insistent reports, however, that Dr. Dumba had secluded himself at his suite at the hotel to avoid being pressed by newspaper men for an opinion on the diplomatic situation.

SINKING OF ARABIC

acceptable. However, there had been no suggestion at that time of any proposition to arbitrate the question of the submersible's right to torpedo a liner under circumstances described in the Arabic's case.

In their study of the new note President Wilson and Secretary Lansing will give consideration to assurances recently expressed that German submarine commanders had been ordered to destroy no more liners without warning.

TEXT OF GERMAN NOTE

BERLIN, via London, Sept. 10.—In its note to the United States on the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic the German government says that "it must deeply regrets that lives were lost through the action of the commander; it particularly expresses this regret of the government of the United States on account of the death of American citizens," and adds:

"The German government is unable, however, to acknowledge any obligation to grant indemnity in the matter, even if the commander should have been mistaken as to the aggressive intentions of the Arabic."

Full Text of the Notes

The note which was communicated to the American ambassador, James W. Gerard, for transmission to Washington, is in the form of a memorandum under the date of Sept. 1, the text of which follows:

"On Aug. 19 a German submarine stopped the English steamer Lunsley about 15 nautical miles south of Kinsale and was on the point of sinking the prize by gun fire after the crew had left the vessel. At this moment the commander saw a large steamer making directly towards him. This steamer, as developed later was the Arabic. She was recognized as an enemy vessel, as she did not fly the flag and bore no neutral markings.

"When she approached she altered her original course but then again pointed directly towards the submarine. From this the commander became convinced that the steamer had the intention of attacking and ramming him. In order to anticipate this attack he gave orders for the submarine he dived and fired a torpedo at the steamer. After firing he convinced himself that the people on board were being rescued in 15 boats.

Believed Arabic Meant to Attack

"According to his instructions the commander was not allowed to attack the Arabic without warning and without saving the lives unless the ship attempted to escape or offered resistance. He was forced, however, to conclude from the attendant circumstances that the Arabic planned a violent attack on the submarine.

"This conclusion is all the more obvious, as he had been fired upon at a great distance in the Irish sea on Aug. 14—that is, a few days before—by a large passenger steamer apparently belonging to the British Royal Mail Steam Packet company.

"The German government most deeply regrets that lives were lost through the action of the commander. It particularly expresses this regret to the government of the United States on account of the death of American citizens.

The German government is unable, however, to acknowledge an obligation to grant indemnity in the matter, even if the commander should have been mistaken as to the aggressive intentions of the Arabic.

Would Refer Case to Hague

"If it should prove to be the case that it is impossible for the German and American governments to reach a harmonious opinion on this point, the German government would be prepared to submit the difference of opinion as being a question of international law to The Hague tribunal for arbitration, pursuant of international disputes.

"In so doing it assumes that, as a matter of course, the arbitral decision shall not be admitted to have the importance of a general decision on the permissibility or the converse under international law of German submarine warfare."

BULGARIA'S POSITION

"NOW GOOD AND OUTLOOK FOR FUTURE FAVORABLE," SAYS PREMIER

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Sept. 8, via Berlin and London, Sept. 10, 12.10 p. m.—"Bulgaria's position is now good and the outlook for the future is favorable," said Premier Vaseil Radoslavoff in an interview today with The Associated Press correspondent. He added:

"It is improbable that Greece and Serbia will adopt a joint policy regarding Bulgaria."

The premier expressed the hope that all political parties in Bulgaria, especially the Agrarians, would support the government in its efforts to achieve the national ideals. He also declared the Bulgarian people were ready to meet the situation created by the international crisis and that economic conditions in the country were excellent.

"Our government is engaged in negotiations with the entente powers regarding concessions on the part of Serbia" he continued. "While these negotiations are in progress it is utterly absurd to talk of an attack by Bulgaria on Serbia as is predicted in some quarters. To do so might result in a catastrophe for Bulgaria.

"Our government is negotiating also with the central powers with the aim of obtaining the best results for the national cause. The fact that Bulgaria is treating with both groups of belligerents is quite in accordance with the desire of our government and of the opposition."

Concerning the future, M. Radoslavoff said that the government intended to adhere to its policy of neutrality so long as Bulgaria's interests are not endangered.

SERBIAN REPLY

SOFIA, Sept. 9, via London, Sept. 10.—It has become known here that Serbia's reply to the entente powers regarding Bulgaria's claims on Serbia is unsatisfactory to the entente powers.

Although it is alleged that Serbia granted the demands of Bulgaria, the Serbian note proposes a modus vivendi for carrying out a settlement which it is felt by the entente governments Bulgaria would not accept. The entente powers, therefore, it is reported, have referred back Serbia's reply.

Meanwhile the Bulgarian government is said not to have been informed officially of the situation.

COTTON FIBRE DISCUSSED

SUBJECT AT SESSION OF NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF COTTON MANUFACTURERS AT GROTON, CT.

GROTON, Conn., Sept. 10—The subject of cotton fibre was taken up for discussion today by members of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers which is holding its 99th semi-annual session at Hotel Griswold. Dr. N. A. Cobb, of the department of agriculture, at the morning session gave an illustrated talk upon the fibre which is the staple of the textile industry.

This evening comes the banquet at which, among other speakers, will be United States Senator John W. Weeks of Massachusetts.

To members who are attending the convention it has been pointed out that this immediate section of New England is peculiarly of interest to them. Sea Island cotton was first spun and woven here. The cotton was brought from Barbadoes by John Winthrop, Jr., first governor of Connecticut, who encouraged the settlers to turn to manufacturing. A mill built in 1681 in New London is owned by the city and still is used.

FRENCH AIRMEN KILLED

MACHINE STRUCK BARBED WIRE IN LANDING—BURIED BY GERMANS WITH MILITARY HONORS

GENEVA, Switzerland, Sept. 10, via London, 10.50 a. m.—Two French aviators were killed at Doying, Alsace, when their machine struck barbed wire entanglements as they were making a landing, causing the explosion of bombs aboard the aeroplane. They had been forced to descend because of motor trouble. The airmen were buried by the Germans with military honors.

EXPORTS OF MUNITION

MEMBER OF REICHSTAG SAYS REPORTS EXAGGERATED FOR PURPOSE OF PROVOKING WAR

BERLIN, Sept. 10, via London, 11.05 a. m.—Dr. Karl Bachem of Cologne, clerical member of the reichstag, has contributed an article to the Cologne Volks Zeitung suggesting the possibility that the nature and extent of American exports of munitions of war has been exaggerated in certain quarters for the specific purpose of provoking war between Germany and the United States.

Herr Bachem declares he recently was assured by a prominent American that American munitions exports never even had aproached the quantity reported by German newspapers. Hitherto the unnamed American is said to have asserted, moderate quantities of small arms ammunition had been delivered, but not a single shell. Herr Bachem asserts that it is hard to escape the belief, therefore, that there is a "system" behind reports concerning immense American war exports, "and that we are systematically to be incited through exaggerated reports of American war supplies in order to impel us to war against America. Caution and reserve in this matter in criticising the commercial methods of the American government at this moment are the duties of every enlightened citizen."

THE RUSSIAN RETREAT

UNDER GRAND DUKE WAS ONE OF GREATEST MILITARY SUCCESSES IN HISTORY

ROME, Sept. 9, 7.45 p. m., via Paris, Sept. 10, 10.45 a. m.—"Grand Duke Nicholas lacked sufficient energy to profit from his triumphs when the Russian armies were victorious," writes Gen. Corsi, in the Tribuna. "He also lacked the influence to impress upon the emperor the fact that the bureaucracy was responsible for the insufficiency of military preparations. During the retreat, however, Grand Duke Nicholas showed a clear mind, capable of formulating precise views and reaching prompt decisions.

"Thus it was the retreat which might have been turned into a rout, became through the leadership of Grand Duke Nicholas one of the greatest military successes of history from a strategical standpoint. It is without comparison except for the famous retreat narrated by Xenophon."

INSURANCE COMPANY LOSES

Maine Law Court Awards Alfred Leblanc of Lewiston $2533.11 With Interest

AUBURN, Me., Sept. 10.—A rescript received from the Maine law court yesterday on the suit of Alfred Leblanc of Lewiston against the Standard Insurance company, gives judgment against the company for $2533.11, with interest from Oct. 5, 1914.

Mr. Leblanc had a policy insuring him against any loss from the liability imposed by law on account of bodily injuries sustained by any person through the maintenance or use of an automobile owned by the plaintiff. Mr. Leblanc had to pay a verict for the amount recovered in this suit to the estate of Elmer Littlefield who was killed by his car.

The company refused payment on the ground that he had not notified the company in writing of the accident or sent to them summons in the suit against him as required by the policy. Instead he reported to the local agent who wrote the particulars, and by direction of the local agent turned over the summons to the local attorneys of the company.

The court holds that the report to the agent, and the acting by the plaintiff in accordance with the agent's directions was notice to the company and that the actions of the agent bound the company.

WOMAN HAS TWO HUSBANDS

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—Mrs. Rose A. O'Reilly of 21 Tickner street, South Boston, and Oscar Long were in the South Boston court yesterday morning to answer to a statutory charge, it being alleged that she has two husbands living, Michael J. O'Reilley and Oscar Long.

The story is that she married O'Reilley in Scotland 14 years ago, but he left her about nine years ago. She came to this country eight years ago and met Long. They desired to marry and upon consulting an attorney learned that, as her husband had not supported her or been heard from, it was reasonable to presume that he was dead, so they were married on Feb. 15 last. O'Reilly, who was in the Northwest, heard of his wife's second marriage, came to Boston and applied for warrants against his wife and her second husband. They were both bound over yesterday for the grand jury in $500.

BURGLARS BORROW TOOLS

HAVERHILL, Sept. 10.—While carpenters worked all night on an adjoining theatre building, burglars selected a kit from among the carpenters' tools and then broke their way into the Arlington hotel cafe and robbed the cash register. A cash haul of $47 was made from the register.

MANCHESTER, Sept. 10.—John J. McGrail, aged 35, employed on a new dam being constructed at Kelly's falls on the Piscataquog river, fell 75 feet yesterday afternoon, from the top of a derrick boom.

CASE PLACED ON FILE

RUSSELL, BANK DIRECTOR, PLEADED GUILTY OF ATTEMPT TO BURN ICE HOUSE

FITCHBURG, Sept. 10.—Pardon Russell of New Bedford, aged 64, manager of an ice company and director of the New Bedford Safe Deposit and Trust company, pleaded guilty in the superior court here late yesterday afternoon to a secret indictment charging him with attempting to burn the ice house of Adelard White at Winchendon on May 31. He was also indicted on a charge of arson in connection with the same case, and this was not prog'd by District Atty. Jas. F. Stiles.

After several had testified relative to Russell's mental condition a physician reported after an examination that the defendant was bordering on senile dementia.

Judge Callahan said that he was moved to compassion to make a merciful disposition of the complaint. The one fact that led him to be lenient in the case, and the only one, the court said, was Russell's weak physical condition.

The court, after a conference with attorneys, ordered the complaint filed, instructing the district attorney that he could at any future time take the case from the files and ask for sentence should conditions warrant.

JUDGE FILES DECREE

FINAL DECREE IN SUIT AGAINST U. S. STEEL CORP. FILED IN DISTRICT COURT

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 10.—The final decree in the suit of the federal government against the United States Steel Corporation was filed in the district court of New Jersey today. Judge Buffington filed the decree personally.

The document was very brief. It merely stated that the suit had been filed, tried and decided and that the suit should be dismissed. It was signed by the four judges who tried the case—Buffington, McPherson, Woolley and Hunt.

The briefness of the decree was a surprise to those who have followed the case.

The decision in the case was handed down on June 3. The government has already announced that it would take an appeal to the United States supreme court.

MACHINE FLYING AT GREAT HEIGHT ATTACKED BY DUTCH FRONTIER GUARDS

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 10, via London, 10.10 a. m.—The Maasbode says it has been informed by its Roozendaal correspondent that a Zeppelin coming from Belgium and flying at a great height, was shot at by Dutch frontier guards last night, whereupon it turned in a southerly direction.

EX-GOV. FOSS IS BARRED

"OLD BOY" CAN'T ADDRESS CAMBRIDGE REPUBLICANS AT PEMBERTON TONIGHT

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—"Old Boy" Foss is going to give up campaigning in the western part of the state, writing letters to ex-Mayor Fitzgerald, Thomas W. Lawson, et al., tonight long enough to attend the dinner of the Cambridge ward and city republican committee at the Hotel Pemberton.

Now the "Old Boy" thinks he is going to be one of the speakers, together with McCall and Cushing, the two other gubernatorial candidates of the G. O. P. The dinner committee, through its publicity expert, last night informed the press that ex-Gov. Foss was coming to the little party, but that he was NOT going to speak.

It seems that a nicely engraved "invite" was sent to Foss a few weeks ago to attend this self same dinner. He looked it over and had sent his regrets when he learned that McCall and Cushing were going to be there and that they would speak.

Changes His Mind

Then the Cambridge republicans who are running the dinner received a nice little communication from him, saying that he would arrange his "clean-up" campaign so that he could take in the dinner."

Now the Cambridge followers of the G. O. P., when they received Foss' note of regret, were at a loss for a speaker to fill his place. They finally decided to call on Congressman Dallinger of Cambridge and Dallinger accepted the invitation.

When the dinner committee received Foss' second little note they were in a quandary. Cambridge has about 20 republicans running for every city and county office, and they all wanted to speak at this dinner. The two candidates for lieutenant governor, Guy A. Ham and Calvin Coolidge, were also listed as speakers.

Here is what they will do, according to their press agent. They are going to let Foss attend the dinner, probably sitting at the head table. They are going to let him hear McCall and Cushing speak, also Congressman Dallinger, and the two aspirants for the lieutenant governorship. But it is asserted that Chairman Harry F. R. Dolan will not call upon Foss for any views that he may have on the republican or prohibition parties.

May See Base Hit

Now down at Pemberton, where 600 are to gather tonight, lives one John F. Fitzgerald. Within a half-hour's ride in a motor lives Thomas A. Lawson at his spacious country home at Egypt.

Foss and Fitzgerald have been holding a nice little mud-throwing contest recently, with Lawson as the umpire. Tonight may see a few triple-base hits and a lot of good base stealing, if the word of the Cambridge city and ward republican committee can be taken.

There will be a special boat to take the republicans from Cambridge down to Pemberton, and also to bring them back. There are also several other good "bouts" staged for the outing. Sheriff Fairbairn and his opponent, Messer, will be the features in the semi-final, and the preliminaries will be fought out on the boat between the candidates of the party for municipal office in Cambridge, and also for county office.

STRANGE WOMAN, AGED 65, FOUND IN THE MAINE WOODS BY SHERIFF

Bath, Me., Sept. 10.—The strange woman discovered in the woods near the William Sewall farm on the Brunswick road here has caused much activity among the police and other city officials who are attempting to learn her identity. Her presence in the woods was reported to Sheriff Oliver by a farm hand.

The sheriff later found her barefooted and was shown a bed of fir boughs where the woman said she spent last night in the open air. She was brought to police headquarters for examination.

Chairman Hall of the overseers of the poor sent her to the city home and she was further examined. From her conversation some of the officials believed she recently worked in textile mills in Lowell or Lawrence, Mass. She now says she is seeking housework.

She is about 65 years old, weighs about 180 pounds and has an air of refinement.

FALL OPENING

$5.00 TROUSERS FREE

I always figure Labor Day week the opening of the real fall season, and to that date I have devoted my energies in the past seven years in Lowell. I want every yard of cloth in my store to be brand new. I show all the new fads and fancies for fall. NEW BATTLESHIP GREY WORSTEDS, that never show the dust, fine BLACK BELGIAN DRAPES for social or dress wear, the FAMOUS WANSKUK heavy serges, the new TOBACCO BROWN over plaids, Scotch tweed effects in heather, olives, and grey shades, pepper and salt silk mixtures, fine new FRENCH BACK WORSTEDS, the dressiest looking goods you ever laid your eyes on, TARTAN CHECKS AND PLAIDS.

On all orders taken in this range of goods, for this fall opening, I shall include an extra pair of trousers free.

Workmanship—since I began business, it has been my constant aim to devise every means of making my tailoring product more perfect. Today I honestly believe that I produce the finest tailored garments in the country for the money. One proof of this is shown on my weekly pay roll, which shows an increase of 70 per cent. for labor alone which goes to the journeyman tailor.

I have just renovated my back shop, which in the past has been small. When the carpenters get through I will have the finest custom coat shop in Lowell, situated so that a man ordering a suit of clothes or an overcoat in my store can see his garments in the process of making, see the sanitary conditions under which his garments are made. If you are in town Friday or Saturday, whether you have ever traded with me before or not, I welcome you to look my line over, take samples, you don't have to buy, visit my back shop where garments are being made, examine any detail you may desire, bring such persons with you who are familiar with the fine points of tailoring and let me show you such garments as I have hanging on my line waiting to be delivered to customers who have ordered them.

SPECIAL

On your left hand window entering my store I am displaying a purchase of Three Thousand Yards of Fine Worsteds, about one hundred and fifty styles. These goods were bought before war-time prices of Today. I want my old customers, and as many new ones as possible for me to prevail upon to come inside my store, look this line over, take samples for comparison. These goods are guaranteed pure worsteds, all wool and are as fine a collection of fabrics and style as would be possible for a tailor who charged $35.00 for a suit to carry.

You will need your fall suit soon. You may place your order now with the understanding that you can get your garment in two weeks or two months—any time to suit your convenience. You don't spend any money now—Just your order.

Overcoatings

I invite the timid, the skeptical, and the doubting of all Lowell to call at my store today and Saturday. I want to show a purchase of 50 styles of plain and fancy overcoatings. I made preparations away in advance for this fall season and ordered goods six months ago so as to be able to get them at old prices. Today these same overcoatings, which are fresh from the looms of the best mills in this country, are from 20 to 30 per cent higher than they were when I purchased them. I will give my customers the benefit of this difference in price, and make your coat any way you desire. You can have it ready in a week, or you may leave it for two months.

ARABIC AND HESPERIAN

The German government has taken a very strange stand in its latest dealings with this country regarding the sinking of the Arabic and the loss of American lives. After the declaration of Ambassador Bernstorff that no liners would be sunk without warning for the future and that full reparation would be made for the outrage of the Arabic, the German government has reopened the controversy by coming out in justification of the act. It now looks as though Ambassador Bernstorff went farther than his government intended, or that German public opinion would not tolerate such a surrender of German advantage. Assurance is given, as before, that no liner will be attacked in future without warning, but the question of settlement is left to the Hague. There is nothing to indicate a straining of relations, but the change of front makes one doubtful of Germay's good faith in diplomatic exchanges.

The story now given of the sinking of the Arabic is a plausible one. Germany asserts that the commander of the German submarine, which was supposed to have been sunk, was engaged in sinking a merchant vessel when the approaching Arabic changed her course and came straight for the submersible. Thinking that the Arabic captain meant to sink his craft he sent a torpedo which in quick time removed the Arabic from the scene. This is in line with the story of Captain Finch, who declared that his vessel had put out of her course to aid the crew of the steamer Dunsley, attacked shortly before. There are points about the German side of the Arabic story which ought to be cleared up before it can be accepted as final. A pertinent question, for instance, is why the explanation was delayed so long, and where the submarine was in the meantime.

With regard to the Hesperian, Germany seems to be able to justify the attack if it is established that the liner was sunk by a submarine. The Hesperian carried a gun on the upper deck, painted gray for active service. No liner calling to an American port could carry such a gun under existing regulations, and if the Hesperian really did carry a gun, the fact gives Germany a chance to avoid responsibility for the act of the submarine commander. Still, it is significant that Berlin attributes the loss of the Hesperian to a mine. Germany is ready to explain but would like to escape explaining.

ASSESSED FOR LIGHTS

Although the assessing of twenty-five cents per foot extra on abutters along the great municipal white way may be all right in this instance, and though it may not arouse any great complaint, the policy would be a dangerous one for the city to adopt as permanent. It would, of course, make it possible for us to have the limit in improvements, but we would soon reach the limit in taxation. As a settled policy for our future guidance, better that we make improvements in accordance with the money available than to make the improvements irrespective of cost and then lay additional burdens on the citizens.

In the case of the white way, it is felt in all probability that the additional illumination means additional business and that therefore all who share in the lustre should share in the cost. Statistics are not available, but it is doubtful if the new lighting system has brought increased patronage to the stores in this city. It may be that more people walk about while the lights are on, but some of the storekeepers say that a large crowd does not always indicate large monetary returns. There is such a thing as making the lighting system so lovely that the public will stay out and enjoy it instead of patronizing the stores.

The assessment of a quarter a foot extra will also remind the public that if we have improvements we must be prepared to pay for them. In this case, we have a good return, but in many other cases the return is dubious. A great majority of the public clamor for this, that and the other thing without casting a thought to the individual responsibility which the reform will entail. If the Lowell public will stand for great improvements costing immense sums, the Lowell public must be ready to pay the bills and it is too late to grumble when the deed is done. There will be little complaint if for every dollar expended we get a dollar's worth in return. It is well to remember this when officials tell of the many great things they contemplate doing.

ALFONSO STAYS HOME

An Argentine journalist reports that King Alfonso told him a few days ago of his great regret at being compelled to abandon an intended trip to America because of the war. This revives a story that crops out from time to time, to the effect that the progressive young ruler admires America very much and wishes to study its people and institutions at first hand. King Alfonso is scarcely a free agent in such things, but it may be that sooner or later he will pay a visit to this part of the world. If so, he will be welcomed cordially for there is much in his personality to attract the admiration of Americans. King Alfonso is what the irreverant American calls a "good sport" and as such he would find congenial atmosphere in a country that is interested in cabbages and kings.

In connection with the present story, there is every reason why Alfonso should stay home until the war is over. He now sees the recompense of mediocrity in a prosperous neutrality which antagonizes no neighbor and leaves his country some good trade pickings. The Argentine journalist also spoke of the king's announcement of great Spanish prosperity when the war is over. It is probably true. When the conflict ends, England, France, Germany and Russia will have vast economic problems to face that may make Spain seem rosy in comparison, and Spain may be conserving her national resources at a time when all the rest of Europe is squandering money and men without bounds. The war that must leave all the belligerents weaker in an economic sense may automatically make Spain a power to be reckoned with in world trade. King Alfonso seems to be the ruler to guide his country's destinies safely, if fortune should once again shine on a land that has seen some of the greatest glories and sorrows in history.

WILSON'S POLITICS

President Wilson has shown unmistakably that he does not intend to play politics in his handling of the present situation, and any references to the influence which certain acts may have on coming elections do not emanate from the White House. In a few days there will be a great democratic rally in New Jersey where Woodrow Wilson was governor before going to Washington. The word has been passed around that those gathered would pass a resolution endorsing President Wilson for another term. On hearing of it he wrote, through his secretary, disapproving of the intention of the convention, and declaring that it would appear as though he were using the present international situation as a pretext for advancing his political fortunes. His wishes ought to be respected, as he himself will be for the idealism which he has maintained throughout his administration.

It is not necessary for any group of democrats anywhere to come out in approval of President Wilson; his personality dominates the country today, and it is felt by republicans as well as those of his own party. He cannot deal rightly with the most intimate diplomatic problems of state if he thinks of its bearing on his political future, and it is better that he should be regarded everywhere as the chief executive of the present instead of the candidate of the future. Meanwhile, all will have to admit that if the war problems keep up until 1916, the man is not in sight who can beat him for another term. Every attack on him only makes him stronger with the thinking and patriotic citizens of the entire country.

CZAR IN COMMAND

The removal of Grand Duke Nicholas from the chief command of the Russian armies and the assumption of supreme command by the czar is not regarded favorably anywhere outside of Russia—whatever may be thought of it there. If it is meant as a rebuke, it is certainly undeserved, for even the German and Austrian experts speak in the highest terms of the grand duke's military ability and of his wonderful feat in getting the Russian armies out of the German trap. In the early stages of the war he threw great forces into Austrian territory and when, forced by shortage of ammunition and the superiority of the German organization, he withdrew before the last German offensive, he removed booty, evacuated positions and moved his great armies so that the Germans gained only a minimum of advantage by their success. Furthermore, he gave some good blows in his retreat that made him anything but a passing enemy.

It is not improbable that the grand duke is sent to the Caucusus to forestall the march of the Germans through Bulgaria to the Black sea and the Sea of Marmora. Should the Germans adopt this course, they could easily rout the allies from the Gallipoli peninsula on which as yet they have not secured a solid footing.

HIGHER CAR FARES

It is plain that there will be a number of public hearings on the petition of the Bay State Street Railway for permission to increase its fares to six cents. The city of Lawrence through its municipal council has protested against the proposition as have Lynn and Melrose. The city of Lowell should at least be represented at the hearings by the city solicitor in order that the interests of our citizens shall be duly protected in the matter.

It is up to the municipal council to provide for the proper representation of our city at the hearings. The board of trade and other civic bodies can send delegations if they so desire.

SEEN AND HEARD

The star of "Young America" now playing in New York is a dog, Jasper. Jasper is the first real dog actor in a regular play. He acts. The bloodhounds in "Uncle Tom's Cabin" were a group of rough "supes" compared with Jasper. He wouldn't notice such dogs, much less say "How do you do?" to them.

In the play Jasper has the last part of the first act almost to himself. The big scene is his. They are going to drag the nakempt young desperado, Art, to jail. The boy is sullen until it occurs to him that his dog, Jasper, will have no one to look after him. He cries out for Jasper. The dog comes racing in, to be fed by the boy from a piece of cocoanut pie, which the kind-hearted Mrs. Doray has bestowed upon Art.

Jasper is fondled by the boy and then rises to his greatest dramatic height when he gives battle to the two policemen when they arrest Art. Jasper uses his emotional voice to its fullest, and in his struggles the little dog actually yanks around the policeman with whom he grapples. This policeman is none other than Jasper's business manager and trainer—and owner—Dixie Taylor, who wears armored gloves of reinforced buckskin.

The policeman conquers the dog, apparently, by shutting down his nostrils and checking his "wind." Jasper's snorts are tragic in his lines right here, but that is all acting. Mr. Taylor doesn't really cause him the slightest discomfort.

They drag the boy away. All leaving the stage and the policeman, with a last effort, shoves Jasper back and slams the door, leaving Jasper alone in the room, on the stage. As the curtain falls Jasper is leaping at the door, clear to the top of it, barking his head off after his captured master.

Great applause. Members of the company take curtain call, without Jasper. Audience smites its palms for Jasper. It must have Jasper. And what does Jasper do but come right out and "take a curtain" all by himself.

He's the greatest dog of his day. He has a two year contract with Messrs. Cohan & Harris at half the salary of the president of the United States. Cohan & Harris have taken out an accident insurance policy upon him for $100,000. Jasper lives in a hotel near Broadway where several other widely known actors live. He has his teeth brushed every morning. He sleeps in a crib like a baby's, white with blue trimming. His special bedclothes, sterilized, are changed every day. His bath comes every other day, because daily baths diminish the gloss of his hair.

Jasper's father was an Italian greyhound and his mother a bull terrier. He looks as if he might be all bull terrier, until upon inspection one sees that his jaws and nose are much longer and finer drawn, and that he has a length of leg and lightness of body from the small greyhound of the Italian breed. He is five years and three months old. He was earning $45 a week at the age of ten months. Dixie Taylor, who received the puppy as a gift from a showman friend, changed his name from Mulligan to Jasper when he took him on the Chautauqua circuit.

Jasper appeared on the same program as a trick dog, a mind reading dog, with William Jennings Bryan. When 18 months old Jasper was making $150 a week, and about two years ago he went on the Keith circuit in vaudeville at $500 a week. He always wanted, however, to get into "the legit." Now he's in. They say he wants to play "Hamlet."

The Wedding Dress

Ah, well, the wedding is over, and Sue
and the boy have gone,
And somehow, although I miss her, I
don't feel a bit forlorn.
I know he will make her happy, and now that the thing is done,
I don't feel I've lost a daughter; I feel
that I've gained a son.

Well, well! The day when Sue told me
her voice had a wondrous thrill.
My thoughts went back to my own
youth, for it all seems vivid still.
Jack says that we look like sisters,
though I'm forty-two today,
But I was just Sue's age—twenty—
when Jack and I ran away.

I met him down in the garden, by the
tall pink hollyhock,
I was dressed in a blue sunbonnet, and
a little gingham frock.
We just ran off and got married, and it grieved me, more or less—
I wanted a veil, and flowers, and a
satin wedding dress!

Then Jack found out, and he teased me, though he said, "If you but knew,
No wedding gown could have added to the loveliness of you.
Your eyes were like deep blue gentians, and sunbeams brightened
your hair—
What mattered the gown you wore, love, when your rosy lips were
there?"

Of course that is just Jack's folly, and
it happened years ago;
I laugh, myself, at the memory—but
I do love "pretties" so!
It all came back when Sue told me,
and quite suddenly I saw
My chance for the "truly" wedding
that I couldn't have before!

Sue left it to me to manage—she seemed to be in a daze,
And all I could do this morning was
to feast my eyes and gaze.
My Susie looked like an angel, though
she seemed a trifle pale;
Her eyes shone bright with love's own
light through her misty wedding
veil.

She had the things I had longed for—
I tingled with pride to see
How sweet she looked and how pretty! (They say that she looks like me!)
My dead youth rose up to greet me—
and then (oh, how did he guess?)
Jack afterward came and caught me—
decked out in the wedding dress!

Said he, "Was the bride forgotten?
Well, here is another groom!
Suppose that we start tomorrow on another honeymoon?"
He touched my hair, oh, so gently, and
tenderly smoothed it back,
And I—I reached up and kissed him.
Theres nobody like my Jack!

—Beatrice Barry.

DRAGGED FROM SURF

HUMAN LIFE LINE SAVED BATHER AND LIFE GUARDS AT SALISBURY BEACH

SALISBURY BEACH, Sept. 10.—In a desperate battle with the heavy surf yesterday afternoon people forming a human life line dragged from the ocean three men who were nearly drowned.

A man, whose name was not learned, living in Haverhill, entered the unusually heavy surf about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The strength of the undertow soon placed him in danger. This fact was noted by Life Guard Daniel Pierce and Albert True, who are both fine swimmers. They started to his rescue, but were overcome by the surf by the time they reached him.

Human Chain Formed

People on the beach saw at once that a triple drowning was imminent unless help could be given at once. A rush was made for ropes and then a human chain entered the water.

For a long time the men battled with the waves. Finally they succeeded in dragging the drowning men to shore, and not a moment too soon, for the services of a physician and men from the United States coast guard station near by were required to resuscitate them.

All the men were in a dangerous condition when taken from the water, the two life guards having been overcome by the water, as well as the unknown man.

After the latter had been treated by Dr. A. J. Peters of Newburyport, he went to his home in Haverhill.

BODIES ON WAY HOME

Heads Bared in Honolulu as Funeral Cortege of Victims of Submarine F-4 Passes Through Streets

HONOLULU, Sept. 10.—The dead of submarine F-4, in eight caskets draped with the American flag, were placed yesterday aboard the United States steamship Supply to be sent home. Shortly afterward the steamer weighed anchor and sailed for San Francisco.

Four of the bodies, which had been identified, occupied separate caskets and will be sent to relatives. The fragmentary remains of only nine others of the remainder of the crew of 22 were recovered from the debris filled wreck of the submarine, and these occupied the four other caskets, which will be sent to the National cemetery at Arlington, Va.

As the funeral cortege, escorted by three artillery companies and a military band, moved through the streets crowds stood with bared heads, and the flags of the city were at half-staff.

Gov. L. B. Pinkham, Mayor J. C. Lane and military and naval officials had places in the procession and attended the services held at the naval station.

The four identified bodies taken from the F-4 were those of George T. Ashcroft of Los Angeles, Ivan L. Mahan, Lima, O.; Charles H. Wells, Norfolk, Va., and Frank H. Herzog.

SLEEPYTIME TALES

HOW LENA HELPED THE SOLDIERS.

Once upon a time Lena and her grandma lived in a small house near a church. Grandma liked to have Lena read to her each night when the newspaper came, and would insist on having all the news of the day told her before she would go to bed.

Lena was very glad to read and they were both very much interested in the war going on across the sea. One day Lena came home from school very much excited and told her grandmother that all the children were going to make things to send in barrels to the suffering soldiers. They were to bring the things to the school and they were to be packed and sent from there.

"What can I make? I want to make something grandma and perhaps it will go to some of the soldiers we are reading about."

"Why don't you crochet a worsted cap?" said grandma.

"I will and I will begin it right away so I will have plenty of time to make a nice one," answered Lena. She spent all her spare time working on the cap and at last it was finished and she took it to the school and from there it was sent, with many other things, across the sea.

A few weeks after the barrel was sent the teacher read aloud to the children a letter that had come the day before from the war hospital where they had sent the barrel. It was full of thanks to the children for their kindness and thoughtfulness. That made the children very glad that they had spent their time in helping the soldiers and Nina read the news of the war to her grandmother with a great deal more interest, for, as she said: "Grandma, I have helped some in the war, haven't I?" Of course grandma said she had, in more ways than one.

At East Cambridge no bills were returned in the following Lowell cases: Sen Shore, larceny; Nicholas Arristoulos, statutory offence, and Patrick Devaney, breaking and entering.

In the Balkans

Although Bulgaria's relations with Turkey are excellent, she has assumed no political obligations for the future in connection with the Dedeaghatch railroad concessions from Turkey, the Bulgarian premier declares.

Bulgaria is treating with both the entente powers and the central powers, but the Bulgarian government intends to adhere to its policy of neutrality as long as Bulgaria's interests are not endangered, the premier states.

RUSSIANS WIN ANOTHER VICTORY — CAPTURE 15,000 PRISONERS

LONDON, Sept. 10, 12.52 p. m.—The Russian victory at Tarnopol, eastern Galicia, has been followed by another effective blow at the Austrians at Trembowla, 20 miles further south. In the combined actions more than 15,000 prisoners have been taken, according to Petrograd's report. As was the case at Tarnopol, the Russians were unable to follow the advantage gained at Trembowla owing to the inferiority in artillery, and the Austrians were not pushed beyond the line of the river Sereth.

Basing its judgment on reports that the Germans are fortifying themselves strongly in the vicinity of Vilna, together with the trend of events on the southern wing of the eastern front and the slow progress of the Teutonic centre the British feeling is that cessation of the Austro-German offensive in the east may be at hand.

Such a development would spell victory for that faction of the German general staff which has argued that the lengthening of communications was involving too much risk to warrant a further advance.

In the Argonne

French and German claims are so contradictory that it is impossible at this time to obtain a clear view of the situation in the Argonne, where the German crown prince is reported to have made considerable progress. The French are attempting to recover the lost ground which the Germans assert includes the fortified position at Marie Therese. It is likely that this region will witness some of the bitterest fighting in the west during the next ten days.

FEATURES OF LAST NIGHT'S WAR NEWS IN BRIEF FORM

Russians gain another victory in Galicia, capture 7000 more Teutons and drive them back toward Strypa river.

Germans fail to gain in stubborn fighting in Riga section and strongly fortify themselves on Vilna front.

Sir John French reports British have carried on an artillery duel with Germans east of Ypres.

Austrian cavalry has entered Dubno, Russian fortress in the south, according to Vienna.

Paris announces the German attempt in the Argonne has been checked.

Berlin claims a fortified area a mile and a quarter long and a quarter mile deep in the Argonne was captured, with 2000 prisoners.

United States informs Austria that Dumba is no longer acceptable as ambassador.

Germany refuses liability for Americans' deaths on Arabic, but will arbitrate legal issue.

Americans escape injury when Zeppelins attack London, causing great damage.

STORE BROKEN INTO

Anderson's Store at North Chelmsford Broken Into Last Night — Window Smashed

The North Chelmsford market conducted by E. F. Anderson of North Chelmsford was broken into late last night or early this morning and considerable merchandise and provisions was taken. Entrance was gained by breaking a large plate glass window in the front of the store. Whoever committed the break cut himself in getting through the window for blood was found spattered on the window sash and on the floor.

The break was discovered by the proprietor, Mr. Anderson, early this morning when he arrived to open his place of business for the day. He saw the broken window and upon investigation found meat, vegetables, fruit and various articles strewn topsy-turvy about the store. There was money in the cash drawer, but this was not touched. After a hasty inventory of his stock, Mr. Anderson notified the police authorities. This is the second time Mr. Anderson's store has been entered in two years.

A. G. SPALDING IS DEAD

Famous Old Time Ball Player, Died Suddenly at Point Loma —Funeral Tomorrow

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 10.—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Albert Goodwill Spalding, one of the pioneers of baseball, from the family home at Point Loma, where he died suddenly last night. The ceremony will be private and is to be followed by cremation.

For the last ten days Mr. Spalding apparently had been rallying from what was supposed to have been a slight paralytic stroke, and yesterday he seemed in good spirits. At 9.30 p. m., however, he complained of a severe pain in his head. Mrs. Spalding was summoned, but before her arrival, he had lapsed into unconsciousness from which he did not emerge. Besides his widow, Mr. Spalding is survived by three sons, Albert Goodwill Spalding, Jr., Keith Spalding and Durand Churchill, a son by adoption. Keith Spalding resides in Chicago; Churchill and Albert Spalding are in Europe. His only brother, J. Walter Spalding of New York, is vice president of the sporting goods house of A. G. Spalding & Bros. His sister, Mrs. W. T. Brown and his mother reside in East Orange, N. J.

For many years Mr. Spalding was a prominent member of the Universal Brotherhood and Theosophical society. Since making his home in California, Mr. Spalding had been identified closely with the good roads movement.

In the first primary election in California for United States senator in 1910, Mr. Spalding entered the race against John D. Works of Los Angeles. Although he had only 30 days for his campaign, he carried 75 legislative districts as against 45 for all other candidates. Despite this the legislature declared that Works had been chosen and Spalding was defeated.

Mr. Spalding was born in 1850 in Byron, Ill.

WAS FAMOUS PITCHER

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—A. G. Spalding gave up a $5 a week job in a grocery to become identified with baseball and was perhaps better known to the sport than any other man. He became famous as a pitcher, one of the first to use the underhand delivery and later became the manager of clubs. Not only during his career on the diamond but as a follower of the game for years afterward, Mr. Spalding used his influence to place the game on a high plane. With his parents he moved from Byron, Ill., his birthplace, to Rockford, in 1863, where he entered a commercial college. But he soon learned that he could make money playing ball and joined the Forest City club of Rockford, which made a reputation when it defeated the national club of Washington in 1867. Four years later Mr. Spalding joined the famous Boston Red Stockings and pitched the club to pennant victory in 1872, '73, '74 and '75. His longest connection with active baseball playing was with the Chicago club, which he joined in 1876. He was successively its manager, secretary and president until 1891. For years he had cherished the idea that the sport might be popularized in England, and in the winter of 1874, after the tour of the famous Baltimore Orioles he went to Europe. Everywhere he was received enthusiastically. In 1888 and 1889 he managed the first world tour of the Chicago and All-American baseball teams.

In 1876 Mr. Spalding interested himself in the manufacture of sporting goods and started a small shop in New Haven, Conn., with a capital of only $800. A year later when the business grew it was moved to Chicago. It formed the nucleus around which the present house of A. G. Spalding & Bros. was built.

For the last 15 years Mr. Spalding has published a "guide" which is recognized as an authority on baseball and other athletic sports.

JESSE BURKETT'S LICKING

LYNN, Sept. 10.—A story emanating in Worcester, setting forth the explanation made by Jesse Burkett of the Worcester baseball team of the cause of a blackened eye, a swollen face and a cut cheek, which he is alleged to have attributed to an attack upon him by six Lynn thugs who were seeking the bank roll of the Worcester club, is denied here.

According to Lynn and Nahant men who know Jesse, participation in a fight at Bass Point Monday night with a young man who resides on Waterhill street, Lynn, was the cause. Burkett, witnesses of the scrap say, failed to make much of a showing as a pugilist, and it took the Lynn man, who has had some experience in the ring, only a very few seconds to get a decision.

Burkett and two companions, waiting for a car at Bass Point, are said to have been passed by a party of men. Burkett is alleged to have used words which did not meet with the approval of the party and argument resulted. It developed into a fight. Jesse is reported by witnesses to have been knocked down by the third punch his opponent delivered, and he stayed down.

Lynn police inspectors said yesterday that they heard nothing of an attack upon Burkett by six Lynn thugs, but that there was a story that the Nahant police might be able to supply some information about the scrap.

BIG BLOOD BALL GAME

There'll be something doing in the baseball line at Graniteville, tomorrow afternoon, when the rival teams of Westford and Graniteville get together for their fourth game this season, in a series of three out of five.

One would have thought yesterday noon that there was to be a New England league game at Spalding park upon seeing Zeke Lohman, Walter Ahearn, Shorty Dee and Earl Stimpson with their baseball togs done up in bundle, taking a car for the park. Inquiry revealed the fact that they were going out to get a little practice, and the four of them together with Allie Moulton, who is at his home in Lynn, are to play for the Graniteville team in tomorrow's game.

The fact that Graniteville has drafted five New England leaguers isn't worrying the Westford people any and they announce that their battery will be Bailey & Hardey. Hardey is their regular catcher and a corker. He has been on a long trip this summer and immediately after his return went behind the bat for Westford in a game against Graniteville and lost the game by two passed balls, as he was not in shape after his long ride. Now he is in fine fettle and the Westford fans will tell you: "With Hardey going right, no team on earth can beat Westford." Considerable money will be wagered on the game as the Westford bunch don't fear the New England leaguers in the least. The game will be played in Graniteville and will be called at 3 o'clock.

BARROWS AND PARKER

TWO LOWELL PLAYERS LED NEW ENGLAND LEAGUE IN THE BATTING

The New England league closed the season of 1915 with only four .300 hitters, which is a very small number. Of the four two come from Lowell. Cuke Barrows leads the league with the average of .332 and Parker of the same team is second with .325. Farrell of the Portland team comes third with .315. The other .300 hitter is Warner of the Lawrence team. The first three batters of each club are as follows:

DIAMOND DAZZLES

Days like these emphasize the fact that the New England league opens its season too early and closes too early. This is the weather for baseball and yet the little old league is out of commission.

By a peculiar coincidence, Bill Luyster of the Lawrence team bats this season exactly what he did last year, .298. He had a good chance to join the .300 class Monday, but he failed to get enough hits to bring him over the mark. Warner is the only Lawrence player over the mark.

A Lowell boy who has been making good up country as a pitcher and who may be seen with the leaguers next season is Al. Sturtevant, son of Gus. Sturtevant of Simpson and Rowlands. Young Sturtevant played at Brattleboro, Vt., last season and has been twirling for Franklin, N. H., this year.

With Lowell and Portland the only two teams to pay their assessments in the N. E. league this season and perhaps the only two teams to pay their players on the 1st and 15th without fail unto the close of the season, it would appear that when new circuits, etc., for next season are being discussed Lowell and Portland should have "first say" in the matter.

Mike Lynch, captain of the Lynn team, is back in this city after his season with Lynn. In speaking of all star players yesterday he considers Wheat Orcutt of Lynn as the best outfielder in the league and would place him on a team even if he had to shift Cuke Barrows of Lowell to right field to make room for him.—Lawrence Tribune.

George Pennington is a lucky boy. He has two pays coming to him—one from the Lawrence club and the other from Fitchburg, with which club he played before he reported here last week. George will return to Brooklyn shortly where he expects to put in a busy fall and winter.—Lawrence Tribune.

Kitty Bransfield, who umpired in the New England league this past season, is expected to go to the National league next season and it would not be any surprise if he went any day now. Bransfield took the job in the New England league so that he would get the necessary experience so that he could take the big league berth, is said to await him. Bransfield stands ace high with Pres. John K. Tener.

The local players have received word that the pay train will be on the job today and then they will feel much happier than they have for the past few days. They hoped to get their money yesterday but unfortunately they were disappointed.—Lawrence Tribune.

WITH THE PADDED MITTS

Jim Coffey, the most promising of the white heavyweights, will give Al Kubiak a battle at Montreal on Sept. 15th. Kubiak recently boxed George "Kid" Cotton at Manchester. Cotton defeated him in the first encounter while Kubiak turned the tables in the second. Coffey should win with ease for Kubiak is not the man he was several years ago.

Johnny Dundee and Leach Cross are the principals in New York Sept. 16th. These boys met a few months ago and Dundee received the newspaper decision. The promotor wanted Dundee to meet Johnny Griffiths but Dundee refused to let Griffiths box him unless he reduced to 133 pounds ringside, which Griffiths was unable to do, and the Cross-Dundee fight was substituted.

The fans of Cedar Point, Ohio, paid $10,000 to see Johnny Kilbane outpoint their native son, Alvie Miller, Labor day. Miller must be some battler, if accounts of the bout are true. Miller lost the verdict but he carried the featherweight champion along at a merry clip.

Young Saylor and Phil Brock are scheduled to meet at Minneapolis, Sept. 20th, in a 10 round bout. Brock is well thought of throughout the west and he is the boxer who stove two of Matty Baldwin's ribs last year, which forced Matty to lay off for quite a spell.

Sapper O'Neil, the English lightweight who made such an excellent showing around New York last season, was badly wounded while at the front in France. The bullet entered O'Neil's left ear and came out at the right ear. Frankie Mack of Beachmont lost to this clever scrapper and several other well known fighters lowered their colors to him when in America.

Joe Chick who fought twice in this city has returned to his old manager, Eddie Mack of Boston. Chick is a pleasing performer and a boy who fights from bell to bell, never stopping to rest while battling. Chick fought K. O. Sweeney a few weeks ago at New Bedford and the affair was declared a draw.

Our old friend Sandy Ferguson and Battling Levinsky will hold the boards of the Atlas club next Tuesday evening. Levinsky has boxed in Boston before but under the name of Barney Williams. The Battler substituted one night against Leo Houck at the old armory and gave the Philadelphian a rugged fight only to lose the decision. Levinsky though only weighing 180 pounds is willing to box any of the white heavyweights and when he clashes with Ferguson he will be outweighed by over 20 pounds. But the Battler more than offsets the weight by his cleverness and he has a large string of victories over men that have outweighed him from 20 to 50 pounds. Levinsky has beaten Gunboat Smith on two occasions.

Charley White, the hard hitting Chicago lightweight, is to appear in a Boston ring Sept. 21. His opponent will be Gilbert Gallant of Chelsea who has shown his prowess in Lowell several times. Gallant is not a very good drawing card in Boston, for the fans think he gets the better of the decisions on account of his manager being one of the directors of the Atlas club.

Ted "Kid" Lewis wants to meet Jack Britton again and prove conclusively that he is master of the clever Chicago boxer whom he defeated two weeks ago at Boston. Lewis is willing to let Britton come in at catchweights. The boys were to weigh 135 pounds at three o'clock the last time they fought but Britton failed to appear for the weighing process. It is likely they will box again at Boston on Sept. 27th.

George Alger and Belgium Brown are to clash in the semi-windup next week at the Atlas A. A. Alger received a decision over Brown some time ago at Gloucester and Brown claimed it was he who should have gotten the verdict instead of Alger and this bout will decide who is the better warrior.

Johnny Ertle, the sensational St. Paul bantamweight, will get a severe ring test tonight when he meets Bantamweight Champion Kid Williams at Milwaukee. Ertle is lauded to the skies by western sport writers and a bright future is predicted for him. It looks like bad judgment to shoot him against Williams at this state of the game and if the champion beats him it will, perhaps, take the ambition out of him.

RECORD FOR CHARTER OAK

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 10.—Directum I., driven by Tommy Murphy, yesterday lowered the record of Charter Oak park track to one minute, 58 1-2 seconds. This was the feature of the grand circuit racing meet. The purse of $200, which is now deposited chestnut stallion was in fine form and with a fast track clipped one and a half seconds off the former record of two minutes, made by Star Pointer, in 1899. The first quarter was not very fast, but the second was stepped in less than a half minute and the third in 29 seconds. The last quarter was just a tride slower than the third, as the stallion noticeably tired a few feet from the wire, though he did not stop. The mark lies the season's record of 1.58 1-2, made by William.

SOUTH ENDS VS. KIMBALLS

Tomorrow Spalding park will be the Mecca of all lovers of baseball when the Kimball System and P. & Q. South Ends commence their series for the city championship. Before the game the Middlesex County Training School band will start a band concert at 2.30 and at 3 out-of-town photographers will take a panoramic view of the crowd as well as the players. Then the game all Lowell is talking about will begin, the double umpire system being used. The first game is for a purse of $200, which is now deposited at Henry Carr's pool parlors, besides the entire gate receipts. The team winning the first two games out of three at Spalding park will be declared the winner and will then, weather permitting, play the D. F. Lanes of Lawrence, who have just won the city championship in the down-river city for the championship of the Merrimack valley. Be on hand early and get in on the picture that will be on exhibition in Mitchell the Tailor's window.

STATE POLICE LEAGUE

The Massachusetts Police Baseball league will close its season Tuesday, Sept. 14. Boston's team, leader of the league, will play Quincy at Quincy.

The New York Police league made up of three sections, has finished its season. A post-season, series is now being played for the championship.

The winner of the championship will play the Massachusetts Police champs a series in New York for the world's police title. The series will be at the Polo grounds.

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

Twenty-five years ago the good citizens of Lowell were a trifle earlier with their state caucuses than at the present time, for the demmies held forth 25 years ago tonight while the republicans got together 25 years ago last evening.

It is interesting to look over the list of names of those who were prominent in local politics quarter of a century ago. Some are still interested in the game while others have passed away.

In those days there were but 6 wards instead of nine as today, and at the state caucuses, delegates were elected to the state, congressional, county and councillor convention for all nominations were made through the medium of conventions.

The territory known as ward two today was ward one quarter of a century ago and was a democratic stronghold, even as it is today. The democratic caucus of quarter of a century ago in the Acre ward was presided over by the late Dennis A. Sullivan, at that time editor of the Lowell Daily News. The secretary was Joseph H. Callahan, in those days a baseball umpire and well known in politics. Among those who took a prominent part in the caucus was Michael J. Garvey who still resides in the same old ward and who was a candidate for representative only a year ago. Patrick Keyes, Jr. was just getting into politics in those days. Now he's too busy to bother with the game. Then there were the late John Courtney, Patrick J. Savage, Daniel Murphy, who afterward became representative, Daniel H. Courtney, then a member of the common council from that ward; D. H. Flynn, J. H. Callahan, Michael J. Johnson, the well known organist, P. O'Rourke, C. W. Johnson and J. W. Lahiff. At this caucus the delegates to the county convention were instructed to vote for a Lowell man for county commissioner. In those days a democrat had about as much chance for election as county commissioner as a snow ball had in Mexico, and it was customary for some of the conventions to endorse republican nominees. This stuck in the crop of some of the uncompromising Acre democrats and hence the action of the caucus.

Ward two took in Centralville in the old days and while the democrats were sadly in the minority in that ward there were some pretty lively ones across the bridge. The ward two caucus of quarter of a century ago was presided over by Henry K. Prince, the well known stationer and Peter A. Fay, Esq., was the secretary. Among the men elected delegates to the different conventions at that time were William F. Courtney shortly afterward mayor of Lowell for three terms. Gardner W. Pearson, afterward postmaster and more recently adjutant-general; John H. Harrington, of The Sun, who afterward was city treasurer; Jos. H. McGrath, who has held a federal position for a number of years, E. M. Tucke, subsequently a senator; Prentiss Webster, Thomas Boddy, Orin C. Carlton, James McManus, John Doherty, of "Ho, for the Beach" fame; James McGrath, Patrick Owens, Joseph P. Cook, Peter A. Golden, William H. Tweed and John McDonough.

Ward three included the "Flats" now ward four and the demmies held undisputed sway in that territory as they do at the present time. George F. Tilton held the gavel quarter of a century ago and George M. Harrigan, the well known banker was secretary. Among the delegates elected were Hon. Peter J. Brady, John W. McEvoy, Owen M. Donohoe, John J. Gilbride (not young John, the Federal officer), Edward Carroll, Frank S. Clark, P. H. Brosnahan, Charles L. Marren, Frank J. O'Hare, John F. Curtis, Robert C. Gallagher, John Donahue, John J. Gray, Thomas Knowles, Ed. F. Welch, Frank Daylin, John J. Mealey, Dennis Donahue, Benj. J. Williams, Lawrence J. Thyne, Peter Butterworth and Richard Bray.

Many of those mentioned afterward held public office and quite a few of them are much interested in the politics of ward 4 today.

The demmies weren't very strong in old ward 4, the Highlands, and hence didn't have a very lively caucus. Hon. John H. Morrison presided and Edward D. McVey was secretary. Among those who took part were John C. Burke, George Bowers, Philip Tilsley, Hon. John J. Donovan, Julius A. Stiles and Thomas J. Sayers.

Ward 5, which comprises the ward 7 district today, while not particularly well filled with democrats, had a number of prominent workers in the ranks and they were strong on democratic clubs and rallies in this ward. You will recall the old "Blow F" club of this ward, about which I wrote something not long ago. Twenty-five years ago along with the regular caucus proceedings they had speeches by Edward B. Quinn, James H. Carmichael, now the colonel; John J. Hogan, John H. Ring, father of the well known lawyers of that name; John F. Murphy and Hon. John Welch. Edward B. Quinn presided over the caucus and Mathew F. Gilroy was secretary. Mr. Gilroy was also presiding over the Mathews in those days. Among those who took part were the gentlemen who made the speeches and Charles F. White, Clinton L. Bruce, Timothy O'Brien, Michael McNulty, Thomas L. Garvey, P. H. Hannifin, Joseph H. Bergeron, Henry J. Draper, afterward senator, John Casey, Alexander Fecteau, Joseph Lacture, Jeremiah J. Hayes, George A. Hanscom and Richard Murphy.

Belvidere was known as ward 6 and the democratic caucus of quarter of a century ago was presided over by Charles H. Hobson, more recently a Bull Mooser. The late Richard B. Allen was secretary. It was voted at this time to form a democratic club and a committee consisting of R. B. Allen, J. H. Clark, James Gookin, Arthur McQuade and Daniel D. Driscoll was appointed to get the club underway—and they did. Among the delegates on that occasion were Paul T. Connell, C. H. Wilson, John E. Drury, Philip J. Farley, James C. Abbott, who was among Lowell's mayors, Patrick Kelly, the late Nathan D. Pratt, A. A. Haggett, who was postmaster under Cleveland; Frank King, Hugh McOsker, Thomas Boulger, Marcellus H. Fletcher, the "war horse" of the local democracy in those days; Patrick Conlon, Thomas Roche and Edwin Cook.

Among the Republicans

Although quarter of a century ago a republican didn't have a burglar's chance in ward 1, yet such famous republican warhorses as William H. I. Hayes, Sam Snow and Eben T. Stafford resided within its boundaries. Afterward all three of them moved into ward 7, where republicans amounted to something. Among the other prominent republicans in ward 1 at that time were Jeremiah Clark, William B. Brown, Capt. A. V. Partridge who conducted the Merrimack house in those days; George W. Reed, L. D. Hunt, H. B. Way, Hilaire Dozois, Fred Samuels and A. J. Bixby. Amid that galaxy of celebrities one rather misses the names of Daniel Webster and Claude Bugbee. They were there strong in later years, however.

Over in Centralville the republicans of quarter of a century ago who looked after the welfare of the party in ward 2 were Major E. T. Rowell, Daniel H. Varnum, C. W. Philbrick, Francis W. Qua, Thomas Collins, James Stuart Murphy, Fred N. Wier, Walter M. Sawyer, L. R. J. Varnum, George Palmer, S. B. Palmer, J. R. Fulton, F. T. Walsh, George H. Marston, George C. Evans, Frank C. Wasley, George H. Manning, Thomas E. Boucher, Newell Abare and J. S. Brown.

Ward 3—the ward 3 of quarter of a century ago was not the ward 3 whence sprang the celebrated Ward Three Republican club of patriotic memory, though the late Jerome F. Manning who presided over the ward 3 caucus of quarter of a century ago was in later years prominently identified with the Ward Three club. The old ward 3 was a democratic stronghold, but some of the republicans who found it a pretty good place in which to live were Cy Barton, Frank Dunlap, William Myers, William H. Penn, Henry Hatch, Joseph Green, Joseph H. Ashworth, Charles D. Rolfe, Charles Runels, Ambrose Hindle, John Munson, John Green (not the Bay State railway track expert), and George Emsley.

Old ward 4 had a choice assortment of republican big guns and they always turned out at the caucuses. Among those who participated quarter of a century ago were Arthur P. Knapp, H. A. Lord, Frank Haynes, J. P. Thompson, Frank Gray, George A. Miller, Albert L. Sawyer, Henry J. Williams, Ether S. Foss, Harlan P. Goodell, Francis Carll, Joel Knapp, Frank L. Weaver, Joseph Miller, James York, Fred N. Ela, Fred Howe, J. W. Turcotte, James W. Bennett, J. Y. Bradbury, J. C. Jackow, O. C. Prescott, Francis Jewett, Solon W. Stevens, William E. Hall, F. B. Peabody, R. G. Bartlett, B. A. Maxfield, Leonard Evans, A. G. Walsh, Charles E. Carter, Edwards Cheney and B. F. Hale.

Old ward five had one republican who held office continuously for a longer period of years than any other man in Lowell in either party, Mr. A. G. Swapp who rounded out a quarter of a century in the school board. Other prominent republicans in the affairs of ward five 25 years ago were Chas. H. Hapson, the present license commissioner, the late Jacob Rogers, George F. Morey, J. N. Wilson, who is still hale and hearty and after a new bridge for Pawtucketville, Arthur F. Salmon, the baseball historian who organized the Bartlett school baseball team almost beyond the memory of man; Fred Lawton, C. F. D. L. Page Co.

Even today you'll hear some persons refer to the D. L. Page company as "Page and Nunn's." When you hear one thus refer to Uncle Dudley's establishment you may bank on it he's an old timer for just quarter of a century ago the old time firm of Page and Nunn was absorbed by the D. L. Page company. The firm of Page and Nunn had done business for seven years prior to the forming of the corporation and was eminently successful. The old Sun referred to the company as a prosperous concern employing 25 hands regularly and double that number in the busy season. Dudley L. Page, "Uncle Dudley," is still the active head of the company and he works as hard today as he did in the early days of the firm. The D. L. Page company today numbers on its payroll 104 employes.

On next St. Patrick's day, March 17th, "Uncle" Dudley Page will observe the 50th anniversary of the first pot of sugar he ever boiled, for 50 years ago he started in the candy business at the corner of Merrimack street and City Hall avenue, in a modest little store, making old fashioned molasses candy and corn balls. He's been in the business ever since and he'll be there for years to come judging from his present activity, his fine store and dining room and better than all his rugged health. Mr. Page served with distinction through the war of '61 with the famous 33rd Mass. regiment and it was upon his return from the war that he entered the candy business. After a few years at his original place of business he went to Lynn and started up in that city, but returning again he established a place at the corner of Central and Middle street. For a number of years he had a store in the Hildreth building, and in the basement of the Hildreth building. At his Hildreth building store he introduced the first big soda fountain to Lowell. Many years ago with John Bailey as a partner he opened what afterward became one of Boston's best known confectionery stores at 45 West street, then known by the firm name of Page and Bailey. Subsequently Mr. Bailey sold out to Mr. Shaw and the firm name of Page and Shaw is known all over New England today. Mr. Page still retains a financial interest in that establishment. Thirty-two years ago with Mr. Nunn as a partner Mr. Page began the business of the firm of Page and Nunn, succeeding Nichols and Hutchins. When Mr. Nunn went out of the firm quarter of a century ago Mr. Page set a good example for other employers to follow by starting the D. L. Page company and taking his principal employes in, as members of the corporation.

IN POLICE COURT

probation officer for women, and Officer O'Sullivan, who were present to corroborate part of the testimony. All were charged with disorderly conduct in that they annoyed a woman in a public place.

Only two of the six defendants were tried this forenoon but the other cases were continued until 2 o'clock. Instead of being convinced that the young lady influenced the men Judge Enright commended her for coming into court and subjecting herself to the severe cross examination. All defendants tried were found guilty and ordered to pay fines of $20 each, the same as were imposed on the two men in court Tuesday. There was considerable interest in the case and the spectators' benches were well filled with eager onlookers who occasionally were called to order by Court Officer Dowd.

The case of James Baldas was first tried. When Miss Schock was first called to the witness stand she was asked to identify Baldas. Four men were placed on the bench in front of the dock and the witness was asked to pick out the defendant. She stated that the whole four approached her Saturday night, and as she did not know them by name she could not point to Baldas. Sergt. Petrie, who made the arrest, was called and picked out Baldas. He then testified that he saw Baldas approach Miss Schock under a light near the corner of Kirk and Lee streets and talke to her. The pair talked for a few minutes and all the sergeant heard was this question and answer:

"Have you a room?"

"Yes, on John street."

Under cross examination, Sergt. Petrie said that Miss Schock was on Kirk street to have men accost her. For one week, the officer said he had sat in a building on Kirk street and watched men "pick up" women, but never went out to try to make any arrest. The witness said Miss Schock did not seem to be annoyed by the questions asked her as she was there for the purpose of getting such remarks.

Miss Schock was recalled and said that as the result of a conference with Supt. Welch and others at the high school she walked out to the corner of Kirk and Lee streets and stood there. She identified Baldas as a man who approached her Saturday night and talked with her.

The first question she remembered of Baldas asking her was:

"Have you a room?"

She replied: "Yes."

"Where?" he queried.

"John street."

Miss Schock said she had lived at the Y. W. C. A. for about a year. She went out Saturday night at the request of Miss Skilton, not knowing what her mission was to be.

"What did you mean, as a Christian woman to go out on the street and lead these men into temptation?" asked Mr. Donahue.

The court refused to admit this question, however.

After a conference with Lawyer O'Connor, Mr. Donahue asked:

"What was your purpose in going out on Kirk street?"

"To see if men who frequent Kirk street would speak to me."

She was questioned then if other women passed while she was standing there and replied that others might have walked along the street unmolested by the defendant. She said that she didn't move on when the men accosted her because that wasn't the purpose of having her out.

After answering several short questions, Miss Schock claims the defendant asked her if she could take a friend up to her room on John street and she replied: "Why, do you want to come?" She said she asked this question because she didn't think Baldas had gone far enough to lead to a conviction and she wanted him to go further. She claims she was not shocked by any of the questions as she was out to assist the police.

Baldas Testifies

Testifying in his own behalf, Baldas said that he lives in Cummiskey's alley. Saturday night he and four men were walking through Kirk street, on their way to Bridge street. He said when the men got near the corner some stopped to light cigarets and he separated from his companions. He said Miss Schock turned around and looked at him, smiling. He walked past her, he testified, and she smiled again. Thinking that he knew her, he walked up and said "Hello." She answered and then several questions about where she worked, lived and spent her time were asked when the signal for the officer was given and Sergt. Petrie appeared on the scene.

Attorney Donahue argued at length, claiming that the girl was on the street as a "tempter" and led the men into conversations by hanging around continually. The court was satisfied with the evidence and after making a finding of guilty, imposed a fine of $20.

The next case tried was that of Geo. Fachedas, charged with the same offence. The testimony was practically similar to that in the other case, the same method being used to trap the men. The girl told of being accosted. The defendant contended that she influenced him and caused him to speak to her.

Miss Schock said that Fachedas said to her: "I have a room on Bridge street. Will you come to it?" She answered: "I don't know."

"Why didn't you say 'go on about your business?'" asked Mr. Donahue.

"Because I didn't," returned Miss Schock.

A finding of guilty was also made in this case and a $20 fine imposed.

The trial of the case of Patrick Lindski, the third defendant, was opened but not completed before the noon adjournment. The testimony was about the same, Miss Schock, Miss Skilton and Officer O'Sullivan being the government witnesses. A recess until 2 o'clock was then taken.

Afternoon's Session

At this afternoon's session of the police court Lindski was adjudged guilty and a fine of $20 was imposed.

Archilias Cheojias was the next defendant called to the spotlight. According to Sergt. Petrie, Archilias appeared on the scene about 9.45 o'clock Saturday night and walked up to Miss Schock. When the latter was called she at first said that she did not remember the conversation with Archilias but later changed her testimony and said she remembered part of it. She testified he invited her to go up Lee street and talked about other things before the signal was given to the officer. Attorney Donahue made another long argument claiming that under the law Miss Schock's testimony was not reliable after she had stated that she did not remember the conversation. Judge Enright was satisfied with her later explanation, however, and made a finding of guilty, imposing a fine of $20.

When the case of John Pabaletos was called Supt. Welch said he saw Pabaletos approach Miss Schock and talk to her. As a result he placed the defendant under arrest. Supt. Welch was asked when the matter of arresting these alleged mashers was started. The chief said after he saw a half dozen men follow a woman on Lee st. one night last week. Asked why he didn't make an arrest then, he said he did not think there was any cause for it. Miss Schock's testimony was practically the same as in the other cases. A fine of $20 was also imposed.

The last case, but not least, according to Mr. O'Connor, was that of John Haggett. In order to save time, the hearing was waived and after Judge Enright found him guilty and imposed the fine, Haggett appealed and was held in $20 surety for the superior court. Haggett was the only one to appeal, Mr. Donahue stating that it would be difficult for the others to get bail.

Other Cases

The rest of the police court list was brief. Christopher Cahill was found guilty of drunkenness and assault and battery upon an unknown person at the Kasino last night and fined $5. Patrolman McElroy made the arrest.

John F. Buckley, a member of Mr. Slattery's probationary staff, was adjudged guilty of the larceny of carpenter's tools belonging to Joseph Jalbert. Defendant worked on a job with Jalbert and, it is claimed took the tools. He was sentenced to three months in the house of correction.

Six drunks were in court today after a few had been released by the probation officer. Two were sent to jail while the others were given either suspended sentences or opportunities to pay small fines.

GENERAL RECOVERIES

AFTER INITIAL DECLINES MOVEMENT UNDERWENT SPEEDY REVERSAL—CLOSING HEAVY

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Contrary to general expectations and despite the weakness of Americans in London, latest complications in the international situation failed to exert much influence at today's opening. There were initial declines of a point or more in railways and specialties but the movement underwent speedy reversal, with general recoveries in the first 15 minutes. Reading advanced a substantial fraction over yesterday's close to 151 1-4 and Eries were in special demand with material gains. Bethlehem Steel, which opened down a point at 324, rose immediately to 329, passing its previous best by 4 points. U. S. Steel also responded to the improving tendency.

Quotations became more uneven on the recovery, some specialties going higher while representative shares lost some of their gains. Bethlehem Steel was again prominent for its further advance to 335, and later General Motors, by its rise of five points to 268, also established a new record. Crucible Steel, which led the list as the most active stock of the first hour, repeated its high price of yesterday, gaining 5-8 at 91 1-4. Trading became dull and of a mixed character towards noon, such industrials as tobacco issues, express shares and American Woolen coming forward at variable advances. Bonds were irregular.

Dullness and a more pronounced reactionary tendency developed in the early afternoon, following the publication of the steel tonnage figures, showing a small decrease for August. Steel declined to 75 3-8, and specialties reacted 2 to 7 points.

Gains were replaced by losses in the final hour, Steel falling to 74⅞. The closing was heavy.

BOSTON MARKET

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—A falling off in the demand brought a recession in local mining share values up to noon today. The declines were fractional with copper Range leading. At noon the market was quiet with a slight recovery.

REVISED CONSTITUTION

ADOPTED BY CONVENTION AT ALBANY, 118 TO 33—FIVE REPUBLICANS AGAINST ADOPTION

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 10.—A revised constitution was adopted by the convention today 118 to 33. Five republicans voted against the adoption.

The address to the people, explaining the new constitution was also adopted.

The address enumerates ten of the 33 amendments adopted as the most important in the new basic law of the state. These ten are:

The reorganization of the state government into 17 civil departments, reducing the number of elected officers and providing for the appointment of all others.

Provisions designed to free the legislature from consideration of local matters and private claims.

Regulation of appropriations by means of an annual executive budget.

Improved methods of contracting indebtedness for state purposes and substitution of serial for sinking fund bonds.

Grant to cities of "as large a control of their own municipal government and affairs as is consistent with state sovereignty."

LARCENY FROM AUTOS

Charged with the larceny of a coat and camera belonging to Mary Kay of Manchester, N. H., from an automobile stationed near the corner of John and Merrimack streets, Matthew M. Lacey, was arrested this afternoon by Traffic Officer Sheridan, and Patrolmen Moore and Considine. Someone claimed he saw the man take the articles from the automobile and the officers were called.

Autoists who leave machines near this corner have complained recently of missing articles left in their machines. This afternoon Patrolman Swanwick caught a 10-year-old boy taking a knife from a machine in Merrimack square. Last evening while an autoist was sitting in a window on John street he saw two boys step into his machine and take a parcel from the seat. The boys were chased and the bundle recovered.

TODAY'S HEAT

The weather man proffered a little relief today, the temperature being practically the same as yesterday while people obliged to be on the street or at work suffered greatly from the intense heat. This afternoon the thermometers around Merrimack square registered around 90 in the shade. The official temperature at noon was 86 and at 3 o'clock this afternoon 88.

SUFFRAGE SPEAKER COMING

At the suffrage street meeting here tomorrow evening Nils T. Kjellstrom of Boston will tell how the laws of the commonwealth of Massachusetts affect the working men and women of the state respectively, and how some of our "moral laws" work out in their application.

As a speaker Mr. Kjellstrom is direct, forceful and interesting. He has made a careful study of Massachusetts laws which affect the people and it was the results of his observations that led him to become interested in the idea of women voting and finally an ardent advocate of equal suffrage.

HEALTH INSURANCE

Some people are naturally thin. There is also a natural pallor but most people who are both thin and pale are far from well and they need a tonic.

Many people neglect to take a tonic until they get so sick that a tonic is not sufficient just because the demand of the debilitated body is not insistent enough. The pale face, weak nerves, enfeebled digestion are neglected until the point where pain or actual breakdown requires medical treatment. A tonic taken in time is the best health insurance. It supports the overtaxed system, the worried nerves until nature can make repairs.

Build up the blood and you are sending renewed health and strength to every part of the body. The appetite is improved, the digestion is toned up, there is new color in the cheeks and lips, you worry less, become good natured where before you were irritable and you find new joys in living.

Tonic treatment is useful in dyspepsia, rheumatism, anemia and nervous disorders. In many cases it is all the medical treatment that is required.

Free booklets on the blood, nerves and diet will be sent on request by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

INTEREST ON $20,000,000

PETITION ASKING THAT INTEREST ON C., R. I. & P. Ry. DEBENTURES BE PAID IMMEDIATELY

CHICAGO, Sept. 10—A petition asking that the interest which falls due July 15, 1915, on $20,000,000 worth of Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railway debentures be paid immediately, was taken before Judge Carpenter in the United States district court here today by R. D. Stevens, attorney for the Bankers' Trust Co. of New York.

Judge Carpenter, who appointed receivers for the road some time ago, stated that if the trust company would agree not to make an effort to have the debentures defaulted he would promise that the receivers would have tangible assets, thus far unpledged, to offer in payment of the interests within 30 days.

Mr. Stevens said that so many of the debenture bonds were held in Holland that a meeting of the bondholders' committee was impossible, and he could not agree to the proposition. He then submitted figures purporting to show that the railroad is in position to pay the interest.

OPENING OF SCHOOLS

school will be utilized in the forenoon. The pupils of the primary school will attend class in the afternoon until other arrangements are made for the high school pupils. It is expected that the forenoon sessions will close at 12.30 or 1.15 o'clock. By using the two rooms at the primary school it will not be necessary to use the assembly hall in the main building for class rooms.

Vocational School

Registration at the Vocational school will close tomorrow noon and the boys and girls who are desirous of following a course at this school should give their names at once. Those who are tardy in giving their names may be admitted next week, but Mr. Fisher, the superintendent of the school, would like to have his list completed by tomorrow noon.

In the boys' department, 72 have registered this week, and it is expected about 40 of the former pupils will return this year. This department can accommodate about 120. Those who have registered are from Lowell, Littleton, Acton, Chelmsford, Westford, Woburn, Wilmington, Dracut, Billerica, Tewksbury and Dunstable.

The registration in the girls' department numbers 54 and 140 can be accommodated. It is expected that about 25 or 30 of last year's pupils will return this year. It was stated this morning that several girls who have graduated from the high school, or who have attended class at this school for one or two years, have registered and if the number of these pupils warrants it a special session will be held for them. The school will reopen next Monday and it is hoped the membership roll will be full by that time.

The vocational schools offers a great opportunity, especially for the girls, for when they graduate from this school there is practically nothing in the line of housework they cannot do. The course includes housekeeping, millinery and dressmaking and there is room for many other young women who are desirous of becoming proficient in domestic science.

Passing Cigars

Warren P. Riordan, sealer of weights and measures was passing cigars at city hall this morning on the occasion of the arrival of a handsome daughter at his home, 71 Woodward avenue.

Supt. Gordon of the moth exterminating department has sent out notices to property owners of this city, informing them to destroy the gypsy and brown tail moths on or before Dec. 1. On the other side of the notice is printed a copy of the act to provide for suppressing the gypsy and brown tail moths. Over 5000 copies of the notice have been sent out. The notice says:

If a property owner fails to destroy such eggs, caterpillars, pupae and nests, then the city or town is required to destroy the same, and the cost of the work, in whole or in part, according to the value of the land, is assessed upon and becomes a lien on the land.

The commissioner of public property asks owners and tenants to co-operate with the city in its work on highways and other public grounds by doing effective work on their premises. Citizens who have cleaned their premises of the moths, but find their trees endangered by the neglect of owners of adjoining estates should make complaint to the superintendent. The infestation of a residential neighborhood by the neglect of a few will not be tolerated.

The eggs of the gypsy moth should be destroyed at once with creosote. They should never be scraped off the object on which they are laid.

The nest of the brown tail moth should be cut from the trees, carefully collected and burned in a stove or furnace.

Work done by contractors should be inspected and approved by the local superintendent before payment for the same is made.

PROF. HAYWOOD MARRIED

FORMER LOWELL ORGANIST WEDS WIDOW OF FORMER LOWELL PASTOR IN BOSTON

A pretty wedding took place yesterday at the women's chapel of the Church of the Advent, in Boston, when Prof. Frederick H. Haywood, a former Lowell boy, but now prominent in New York musical circles, was united in marriage with Mrs. Jessie Wiley Ward, of Newburg, N. Y., widow of the late Rev. Warner E. L. Ward, a former pastor of the House of Prayer in this city, the ceremony being performed by Rev. J. H. Cabot. The bride was given in marriage by Mr. George H. Mansfield of this city, while the groom's attendant was Mr. Wilbur J. Haywood of the New York Herald, and a former Lowell boy, a brother of the groom. Mr. Wilbur Haywood was married at the Church of the Advent six years ago to a Boston girl and induced his brother to have his wedding at the same church.

Following the ceremony a wedding luncheon was served at the Hotel Lenox. Prof. and Mrs. Haywood left on a honeymoon and on their return will reside at 331 West End avenue, New York.

The groom is well known in this city where he started on his musical career while only in his teens. In his early youth he was a boy soprano in St. Anne's choir and at the age of 17 years was organist of St. Anne's. His success as an organist was phenomenal and going to New York he soon attracted widespread attention as organist at St. Paul's church. Along with his work as organist he took up the teaching of voice culture at which he has attained a high place in his profession, especially among operatic singers and he has trained some of the famous professional singers at present before the public. Prof. Haywood has a summer studio at Elsmere in Dracut, where he has spent the past month, having with him as pupils several famous stage celebrities who are about to open their seasons in New York. Prof. Haywood intends to conduct his winter studio in New York and have a summer school at Elsmere.

LAST REGISTRATION SESSION

Sick Women Attention

Is it possible there is a woman in this country who continues to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, which proves beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other one medicine in the world?

We have published in the newspapers of the United States more genuine testimonial letters than have ever been published in the interest of any other medicine for women—and every year we publish many new testimonials, all genuine and true. Here are three never before published:

From Mrs. S. T. Richmond, Providence, R. I.

PROVIDENCE, R.I.—"For the benefit of women who suffer as I have done I wish to state what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I did some heavy lifting and the doctor said it caused a displacement. I have always been weak and I overworked after my baby was born and inflammation set in, then nervous prostration, from which I did not recover until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The Compound is my best friend and when I hear of a woman with troubles like mine I try to induce her to take your medicine."—MRS. S. T. RICHMOND, 84 Progress Avenue, Providence, R.I.

From Mrs. Maria Irwin, Peru, N.Y.

PERU, N.Y.—"Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was very irregular and had much pain. I had lost three children, and felt worn out all the time. This splendid medicine helped me as nothing else had done, and I am thankful every day that I took it."—MRS. MARIA IRWIN, R.F.D. 1, Peru, N.Y.

From Mrs. Jane D. Duncan, W. Quincy, Mass.

SOUTH QUINCY, MASS.—"The doctor said that I had organic trouble and he doctored me for a long time and I did not get any relief. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and I tried it and found relief before I had finished the first bottle. I continued taking it all through middle life and am now a strong, healthy woman and earn my own living."—MRS. JANE D. DUNCAN, Forest Avenue, West Quincy, Mass.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, which contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.

SUFFRAGIST LAWN FETE

Beautiful Pageant Presented at the Butler Grounds—Fine Entertainment

The evening celebration at the unique lawn fete held under the auspices of the Lowell Equal Suffrage association at the Butler residence, Andover street was even more successful than in the afternoon. The night air was cooling, and the great number of special lights gave a touch of fairyland which provided enchanting vistas and made a wonderful setting for the various events.

The attendance was most gratifying, being in excess of the highest expectations and all who attended seemed to enter heartily into the spirit of the occasion. The greater part of the lawn had been utilized in arranging the special features and there was a constant stream of people passing from booth to booth or strolling in informal gaiety under the great trees. The hundreds of tables were well patronized during the pop concert, and everything provided for enjoyment seemed to attract hearty patronage. Though it is rather early to ascertain the exact financial returns, there can be no doubt that the successful lawn fete will send a substantial sum into the local treasury of the suffrage workers.

In the early part of the evening the special feature was a repetition of the fancy dancing exhibition given in the afternoon under the direction of Miss L. Blanche Perrin. Though the dancing was beautiful in the afternoon, it was more so at night as the great tennis court was flooded with many-colored lights with a few special spotlights of unusual brilliancy playing on the dancers. The many evolutions were graceful and interesting, and the brilliant costumes showed up wonderfully in the gleam of the lights. Many hundred people were ranged around the open air stage, and the applause that followed each solo or ensemble dance was prompt and generous. Some of the dances were involved and pantomimic, being reminiscent of the open air pageants given at some of the leading society functions during the last season.

After the dancing, the Sixth Regiment band gave a concert of many numbers while hundreds patronized the open air tables. Others passed from booth to booth, enjoying the multiplicity of activities. One of the stellar attractions was the fortune telling tent under the direction of Dr. Emma E. Slaughter. The patrons were lined up at all times in eager anticipation and the comments heard as they came from the inner sanctum proved that they were well satisfied.

The grab system under the direction of Mrs. Lewis E. MacBrayne proved to be a popular attraction, and the candy table in charge of Miss Gertrude Harvey, assisted by a corps of charming young ladies was well patronized. The suffrage literature table, under the direction of Mrs. Charles D. Palmer proved a magnet throughout the evening, and it also turned out to be a prolific aviary of bluebirds which were bought in great number as souvenirs of the occasion. Mrs. Natt Peabody had charge of the refreshment table which to many was the loveliest thing on the grounds.

The general committee, of which Mrs. Paul Butler was the efficient chairman, is to be congratulated on the success of the whole, for to their skilful management a great deal is due. The suffrage association feels greatly indebted to Mrs. Paul Butler not only for the use of the spacious and lovely grounds but for the active and practical aid given so generously.

Mrs. Boyden Pillsbury was chairman of the pop concert committee, which was responsible for the musical entertainment. After the concert proper the Sixth regiment band played informally for dancing until after 11 p. m. and scores of young couples waltzed and one-stepped to their hearts' content on the canvas floor of the tennis court. Mrs. M. C. Hall did great work as chairman of the grounds committee and expressions of admiration were heard on all sides for the lovely lights and the many special decorative features.

Following are the committee heads:

General committee: Mrs. Paul Butler, chairman, Mrs. C. Brooks Stevens, Mrs. M. C. Hall; grounds, Mrs. M. C. Hall; pop concert, Mrs. Boyden Pillsbury; refreshments, Mrs. Nath. Peabody; entertainment, Miss Katherine F. McCarthy; tickets, Miss Bertha M. Abbott; grabs, Mrs. Lewis E. MacBrayne; candy, Miss Gertrude Harvey; suffrage, Mrs. Charles D. AMUSEMENT NOTES

OPERA HOUSE

All roads lead to the Opera House these days with the Emerson players offering "Within the Law." Bayard Veiller's remarkable and sensational drama,—the very same play that has thrilled the whole world. All Lowell is talking about the Emerson players and "Within the Law." Never before has such enthusiasm been shown in any theatrical venture and never before have such big crowds attended any stock production in Lowell. The high standard and the ability of the Emerson players, the wonderful reputation of "Within the Law" and the theatre beautiful of Lowell, form the magnet that is drawing the big crowds to the Gorham street playhouse and assures the theatre patrons of the most enjoyable dramatic season in years.

"Within the Law" is the play with the punch and it has scored a remarkable success. It is produced by the Emerson players in all the splendor of the original production and the acting by the entire aggregation of stars, is, without any doubt, the best seen in this city in many years. Miss Ann O'Day has become a great favorite by her clever portrayal of Mary Turner while Homer Barton as Joe Garson is displaying his great ability as an actor. Joe Crehan, Carson Davenport, Dora Booth, Darel Goodwin, Henry Crosson, Forrest Gordon Herbert Augustin, Gertrude Shirley, Hubert Pierce, Walter von Boekman, George Hunt, Walter Spencer, Frank Walsh and other members of the company play their parts finely. The scenic production is of unusual beauty and is clothed in the same lavish manner as the original production with not even the slightest detail missing.

Patrons are advised by the management to make reservations for seats early as the demand is large. "Within the Law" is a wonderful attraction and has been the talk of all Lowell since its first production here Monday afternoon by the Emerson players and the packed houses all the week is testimonial to the wonderful impression made upon Lowell audiences by both the players and the play. Phone 261 for seats. They will be held until 1.45 in the afternoon and 7.45 at night.

Another ripping success will be presented by the Emerson players at the Opera house all next week, starting Monday afternoon in "Seven Keys to Baldpate." George M. Cohan's own brilliant success which scored such a tremendous hit at the Tremont theatre in Boston last winter at $2 prices, turning thousands of patrons away each week. "Seven Keys to Baldpate" is being offered for the first time by the Sites-Emerson company at popular prices and this week, the play is turning away hundreds at every performance at the Academy of Music, Haverhill, another big time stock house controlled by the Sites-Emerson company.

"Seven Keys to Baldpate" is the highest royalty attraction ever released for stock and comes to Lowell with a wonderful reputation of having packed theatres throughout the country at topmost prices. The rights of the play have been secured by special arrangement with Mr. Cohan himself.

Seats are now selling for the entire week, which starts with a special Monday matinee. The play is positively limited to one week.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Try Keith's, these summery days, and get a breath of clean, cool air, the while you witness Mercedes and Mlle. Stantone in their astounding demonstration of mental telepathy. Keith has the latest arrangements for the continual presence of fresh air, and for the exclusion of that which is in the theatre. It's a great system. None other in town approaches it.

Mercedes and his companion, Mlle. Stantone, continue to astonish with their very remarkable demonstrations. Yesterday Mercedes transmitted through the ether to the pianist some unusual musical numbers, among them being the spinning song from "The Flying Dutchman," Liszt's Second Hungarian Rhapsody, the Meditation of "Thais," "Mighty Lak' a Rose," and others. Of course there were played numbers more common than these, and they ran the whole gamut, from ragtime to grand opera. Among them were: "Poet and Peasant" overture, "La Marseillaise," "International Rag," "Too Much Mustard," "The Shepherd's Dream," "Beautiful Lady," and several tango numbers.

Mercedes invites cooperation from his audiences. Unless they endeavor to put him to a test, the performance falls short of the brilliancy which is always attained when there are many requests for numbers. In several instances Mlle. Stantone has played numbers which Mercedes had never heard of. There has been no chance of collusion by this method, if one is skeptical enough to admit that the ordinary performance is one carried on by a code. If, by the mere thinking of music, you find Mlle. Stantone playing, then you must be convinced that the performance does not descend to the basis of mere clever trickery. But four more performances remain in which to see this telepathic wizard. Everybody is interested more or less in the occult, and the present is a splendid demonstration of it. There are seven other acts on the bill, including: Swan & Swan, El Rey Sisters, Wilton Sisters, Munroe & Mack, Brent Hayes and the Hearst-Selig News Pictorial.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Never before did Mary Pickford please her audience to a greater degree than she did yesterday at the Merrimack Square theatre in the leading role of "Esmeralda," the five-act Paramount picture which is appearing at this popular theatre. Little Mary was seen very advantageously in the role of the little country girl who must give up the country home so dear to her in order that her mother's social ambitions may be furthered. The play possesses intense realism and has many dainty touches of subdued humor. It will be continued today and tomorrow. "Temper" is the title of the gripping and thrilling three-act drama also on the program. The Paramount travel pictures and the humorous Charlie Chaplin comedy were also found to be very entertaining. The same program will be continued today and tomorrow.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Of course you've read Kipling's poem, "The Vampire," and of course you know that while descriptive of a certain type, it is not true as a generality. Were this so, life would possess little charm.

But Kipling's poem has suggested a play in which the type depicted in "The Vampire" is presented more

THEDA BARA
In "A Fool There Was" at the Academy of Music

forcefully even than the original. And the title is "A Fool There Was," as in the first line of the famous poem.

Theda Bara plays "The Vampire" very effectively, though it is not a part that appeals to the average stage woman. Edward Jose is "the fool" and there isn't the least doubt of it. It's a story fascinating from start to finish.

Other features are "The Man With the Iron Heart," "The Wardrobe Woman," "Teasing a Tornado."

LONDON ANSWERS ATTACKS BY RECRUITING LARGE ARMY FOR SERVICE AT FRONT

LONDON, Sept. 10, 11.55 a. m.—"The answer of the people of London and the London district to these exercises in frightfulness may be given in an episode mentioned in the Manchester Guardian, says the Spectator in commenting upon the Zeppelin raids of Tuesday and Wednesday nights. "A recruiting sergeant has been addressing crowds from a platform made of debris of ruined houses and the results have been excellent.

The Daily Mirror says the reply of London was a great army of recruits. A large number of volunteers presented themselves at Trafalgar square, this newspaper says and in every part of the country men flocked to the colors.

The Evening Standard expresses the hope that the British government will announce its determination to hold the head of the German aircraft service personally responsible for the deaths occasioned by the Zeppelin raids.

The Globe and other newspapers take the view that every air raid on London or other English cities should be followed immediately by attacks on such German cities as Colorne, Strassburg, Karlsruhe and Dusseldorf, which are within easy reach of Belfort, France. "It is time this super-squeamishness was gone," says the Globe.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 10.—Frank T. Rogers yesterday was reelected president of the United association of Postoffice Clerks. The delegates to the convention voted to amend the constitution and hold conventions biennially hereafter.

Congressman J. W. Ransdale of So. Carolina, who spoke yesterday, denounced the present pension system as "iniquitous," and said he intended to work for the passage of a law which would give pensions to civil employes of the federal government as well as to soldiers.

Principal Trubey Conducts Part Time School—Mills are Busy—Other Notes of Village

The grammar and high schools of North Chelmsford opened this week with a large attendance. Principal Arthur W. Trubey and all the teachers of the grammar schools have been reappointed, the only change in the teaching staff being that occasioned by the departure of Misses Adelia McMillan and Gertrude E. Sawyer for other schools. They will be replaced by Miss Helen Robinson of Bath, Me., who will have charge of the commercial classes and Miss Clara E. McComber of Nashua, N. H., as teacher of English. The first session was held on Tuesday morning, but little work was done as most of the time was spent arranging the new students in their classrooms. During the remainder of the week, however, the regular studies were started and the majority of the scholars are reported to have made good progress. Principal Trubey will continue his idea of half time study and half time industrial work which proved so successful last year and he will have the co-operation of a number of prominent manufacturers.

Delightful Party

A delightful party was held this week at the home of Miss Alice P. Freeze in Washington street, the event being in honor of Miss Marion Varney, who has left to take up a training course at the Peter Bent Brigham hospital in Boston. There were about a dozen intimate friends of the young lady present and all spent a very enjoyable time. Whist and other games of a social character were played during the evening, these being interspersed by the serving of refreshments by the hostess, who was assisted by Miss Mildred Foote. The party broke up at a seasonable hour all wishing Miss Varney all kinds of success in her chosen vocation.

Miss Quigley Appointed

Miss Gertrude Quigley, one of the most prominent young ladies in the village, has accepted a position as supervisor of music for the Medway and Sherburne schools, starting upon her duties this week. Miss Quigley, who is the able organist at St. John's church, is a former pupil of Albert Edmund Brown, and is well known in a number of cities of the state for her musical ability.

Cornell Family Reunion

The members of the Cornell family held their annual reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Cornell this week, a large number of relatives and friends being present for the occasion. Members of the family started to arrive as early as last Saturday afternoon and the remainder made their appearance Sunday morning. An appetizing luncheon was served on the green at the side of the Cornell home and an enjoyable musical and literary program was given. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. James Cornell, host and hostess; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Cornell, Hudson, N. H.; Miss Ida Cornell, Lowell; Mrs. Mary Dart, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sawyer and family, Dorchester; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cornell, Hudson, N. H.; Harry Cornell and family, Hudson, N. H., and many others. A letter was also received from George E. Cornell of Lecompton, Kan., who expressed his regret at being unable to be present.

The Mills

The mill situation remains unchanged and the industries of North Chelmsford are still running prosperously. Night work is being done in the Silesia Mills, G. C. Moore mills and North Chelmsford Machine & Supply Co., and the Lowell Textile Co., is very busy. If the Silesia mills can obtain sufficient wool they will be enabled to run steadily all winter, and in this event the G. C. Moore mills will also be busy, as the wool is scoured at the latter plant.

Hen Thieves Busy

Hen thieves are busy in the pretty little village and a number of breaks have been reported of late. The last to occur was last Saturday evening when William John Knox of Dunstable road lost three valuable Rhode Island pullets. Mr. Knox thinks he knows the chicken coop invaders and prosecution is contemplated. Many other complaints have been made, but so far very few of the robbers have been apprehended.

THE SITUATION TODAY

The Red Sox are: 1 1-2 games ahead of Detroit, 7 1-2 games ahead of Chicago.

The Braves are: 4½ games behind Philadelphia, 1 game behind Brooklyn; 6 games ahead of St. Louis, 6 1-2 games ahead of Chicago, 7 1-2 games ahead of Pittsburgh; 8 1-2 games ahead of Pittsburgh; 8 1-2 games ahead of New York.

FOREIGN CREDIT LOAN

N. Y. FINANCIERS AND ANGLO-FRENCH COMMISSION MEET—LAPLAND REACHED NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The joint Anglo-French financial commission of six members deputed by Great Britain and France to adjust the foreign exchange situation here, reached New York today aboard the steamship Lapland from Liverpool.

They were met at quarantine by J. P. Morgan and H. P. Davison, one of Mr. Morgan's partners, who escorted them to their headquarters in the city. This afternoon the commission will meet a number of New York bankers in the library of Mr. Morgan's home and enter upon the first of a series of negotiations looking towards the establishment of a big foreign credit loan.

Convoyed By Destroyers

The Lapland was convoyed by two British torpedo boat destroyers through the war zone.

A formal statement, issued on the commission's behalf, was the only expression made by any member of the party for publication. This statement, issued at quarantine, reads as follows:

Visitors' Statement

"The joint Anglo-French mission under the chairmanship of Lord Reading which has been sent to the United States in connection with the question of the exchanges between New York, London and Paris, arrived this morning by the Red Star steamer Lapland.

"The British delegates are the Right Honorable the Lord Reading of Erleigh, G. C. B., K. C. V. O., (the lord chief justice of England); Sir Edward Holden, Bart; Sir Henry Babington Smith, K. C. B., C. S. I.; and Mr. Basil P. Blackett, C. B., of the British treasury. The French delegates are M. Octav Pomberg, representing the French treasury, and M. Ernest Mallet, director of the Banque de France.

"The object of the visit of the mission is to consult with the American bankers and others as to the best means to be adopted for regulating the exchanges between New York, London and Paris in order that the commerce and industry of the three countries may suffer as little as possible during the course of the war. Mr. Blackett will act as secretary to the mission."

Members of the commission declined to confirm or deny the report brought to New York two days ago by passengers on the steamer Ryndam to the effect that the commission would act for Russia as well as for Great Britain and France. It was understood, however, that the report was well founded and that the result of negotiations to this end, already believed to be in progress in London among the finance ministers of France and Russia and the British chancellor of the exchequer, would be communicated by cable to the delegation here.

J. P. Morgan's Statement

J. P. Morgan, who greeted the deputation at quarantine, said the meeting in his library this afternoon was to be primarily a social affair.

"It would be unreasonable to assume," Mr. Morgan said, "that these gentlemen at the end of a long voyage would plunge immediately into their work here. They have first to meet the men with whom they will negotiate. That's what they expect to do this afternoon."

Mr. Morgan would not say if this meeting, at which only New York financiers will be presented to the commission, would be followed, as reported, by other meetings at which bankers from the chief cities of the United States would be present and discuss the situation as viewed by them.

Foreign exchange rates, whose adjustment is the prime purpose of the commission, continued their upward climb today.

Petit Gironde Explains the Activity of the German Craft In the Bay of Biscay

BORDEAUX, France, Sept. 10, 4.45 a. m.—In explanation of the activity of German submarines in the Bay of Biscay, the assertion is made by the Petit Gironde that a steamer registered at Bilbao, Spain, left that port recently with 300 barrels of benzine. Where the cargo was unloaded is unknown but soon after the steamer left port empty barrels were seen floating on the sea. The newspaper declares that the same steamer took 50 barrels of benzine to a submarine at Concha de Artedo last June.

Private advices received at Bilbao state that agents have been scouring the north of Spain for gasoline, which has been sent to Bay of Biscay ports.

HOW THIN PEOPLE CAN PUT ON FLESH

Thin men and women—that big, hearty, filling dinner you ate last night. What became of all the fat-producing nourishment it contained? You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there, but your food doesn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of thin folks the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation, are probably sadly out of gear and need reconstruction.

Cut out the foolish foods and funny sawdust diets. Cut out everything but the meals you are eating and eat with every one of those a single Sargol tablet. In two weeks note the difference. Let the scales be the judge. Five to eight good solid pounds of healthy, "stay-there" fat may be the net result. Sargol aims to charge weak, stagnant blood with millions of fresh new red blood corpuscles—to give the blood the carrying power to deliver every ounce of fat-making material in your food to every part of your body. Sargol, too, mixes with your food, to prepare it for the blood in an easily assimilated form. Thin people tell how they have gained all the way from 10 to 25 pounds a month while taking Sargol and say that the new flesh stays put. Sargol tablets are a careful combination of six of the best assimilative elements known to chemistry. They come 40 tablets to a package, are pleasant, harmless and inexpensive, and all good druggists in this vicinity sell them subject to an absolute guarantee of weight increase or money back as found in every large package.

TURNED TIDE OF BATTLE

ANNIVERSARY OF GEN. MAUNOURY'S VICTORY OVER GERMANS ON OURCQ RIVER

PARIS, Sept. 10, 4.50 a. m.—Members of the chamber of deputies representing Paris and the department of the Seine adopted yesterday an address to Gen. Michael Joseph Maunoury, former military governor of Paris, to be presented today, the anniversary of his victory over the Germans on the Ourcq river. After recalling the circumstances and what the achievement meant for Paris, the address says:

"On Sept. 10, contemplating the enemy's rout, you said: 'I had waited for that for 44 years.' Your wait had been long, but the gratitude of the inhabitants of Paris will be eternal."

Gen. Maunoury was sent by General Joffre to the extreme left wing of the French army to parry the rapid advance of the German right on Paris. The difficult task of assembling an army transported by rail in the face of an advancing enemy was successfully accomplished by General Maunoury and his army was ready at the appointed time to deliver the blow that marked the change in the tide of battle. He was wounded March 12 last while inspecting German positions from the first line of French trenches.

Merrimack Clothing Co.,
Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen:

Received in yesterday's mail, Lowell paper and notice you are advertising Lamson & Hubbard hats at a ridiculous cut price. This sort of advertising hurts us not only in Lowell, but in adjoining cities. Our customers claim this is nothing more than a cut-price proposition and refuse to handle our goods if we allow our customers to cut prices on our hats in this manner.

We would appreciate it very much if you would discontinue using our name in connection with this sort of advertising. We do not think it necessary to mention Lamson & Hubbard. It would have been just as effective had you mentioned $3.00 hats and omitted maker's name. We hope you will interpret this letter as we intended it, and if you do, we feel sure you will agree with us that such advertising injures us.

Hoping you will see fit to discontinue our name in this sort of advertising, we remain.

Yours truly,
LAMSON & HUBBARD CO.

Messrs Lamson & Hubbard,
Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen:

We have your favor of August 26th, and contents noted. In reply we will not repeat by name in our advertisements "Lamson & Hubbard" Hats for 5 cts. with $15.00 Suits.

But seeing that some dealers are a trifle finicky, in the future our "AD" will read like this,- Hats as good as "Lamson & Hubbard's" or any other standard sale for 5 cts. with our $15.00 Suits.

Trusting this will meet with your approval and allay the feeling of the trade, we are,

Respectfully yours,
Merrimack Clothing Co
By Humphrey Sullivan

The above offer will hold good for Friday and Saturday of This Week Only.

There are some 70 Suits in the lot, and comprise worsteds, cheviots and cassimeres, in all sizes up to 48.

O'Sullivan Says

I don't know how it is with you, but personally I find more trouble in selecting a becoming hat than in selecting a satisfactory fitting suit of clothes.

If you're a bit finicky about your hats, just visit the Hat Department of the Merrimack Clothing Co. It's the brightest and most magnetic spot in the store.

New lights have been installed there—you can't have any too much light on the hat question—and then there are different widths of brims and heights of crowns in Derbies and Soft Hats that should make it easy for you to be pleased.

As is usual at the first of the season, $3.00 Hats are more in demand. You will find all the standard makes here, with the self-conforming feature that appeals to so many men.

LISTEN—The Merrimack is not using that fake scheme of allowing you 50 cents for your old straw hat, but a 50 cent lucky tie goes with every $3.00 hat Friday and Saturday.

This isn't saying there aren't $2.00 Hats here in plenty—but this week we're busy on the $3.00 article—and want you to have one of our lucky ties.
